Good and evil...Light and dark...

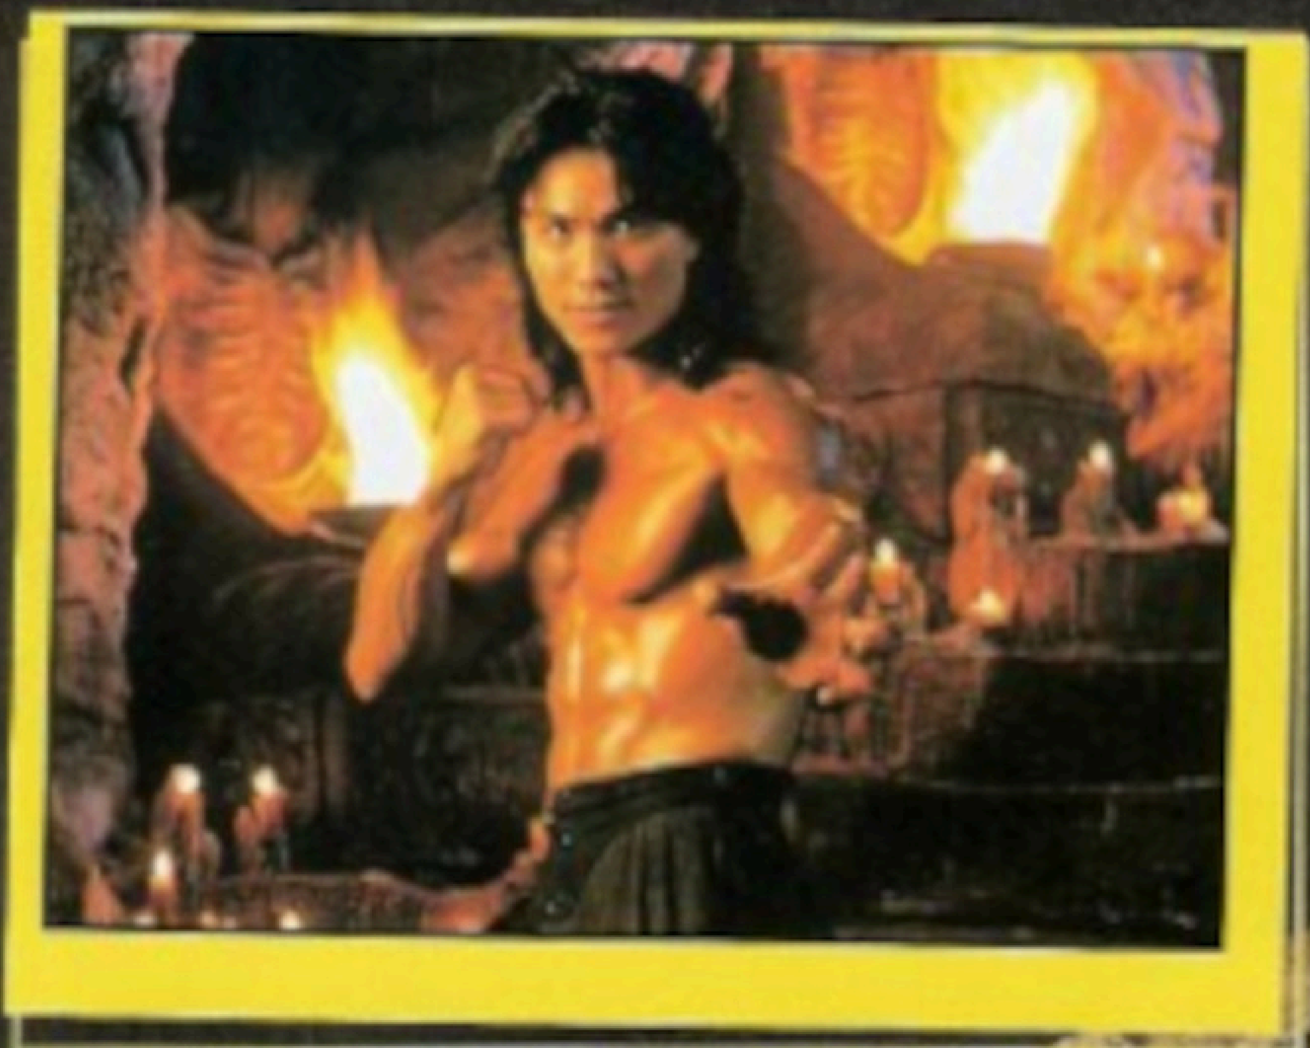

How does the balance of cosmic powers tip?

Welcome to Mortal Kombat!

In this 10th tournament, the Emperor of Outworld and his demon sorcerer Shang Tsung seek victory, thereby opening the portals to the Realm of Earth. They desire nothing more than to bring the same horrific destruction to Earth as they have wrought upon the once-beautiful plane of existence called Outworld. However, they must first destroy Earth's finest warriors. Liu Kang, Johnny Cage, and Sonya Blade stand ready to thwart Shang's plans of brutality. Can they overcome their worst fears and face their destinies? When the fires of battle subside, is Mortal Kombat over?

Or is it beginning? ...Welcome to Mortal Kombat!

MORTAL KOMBAT®

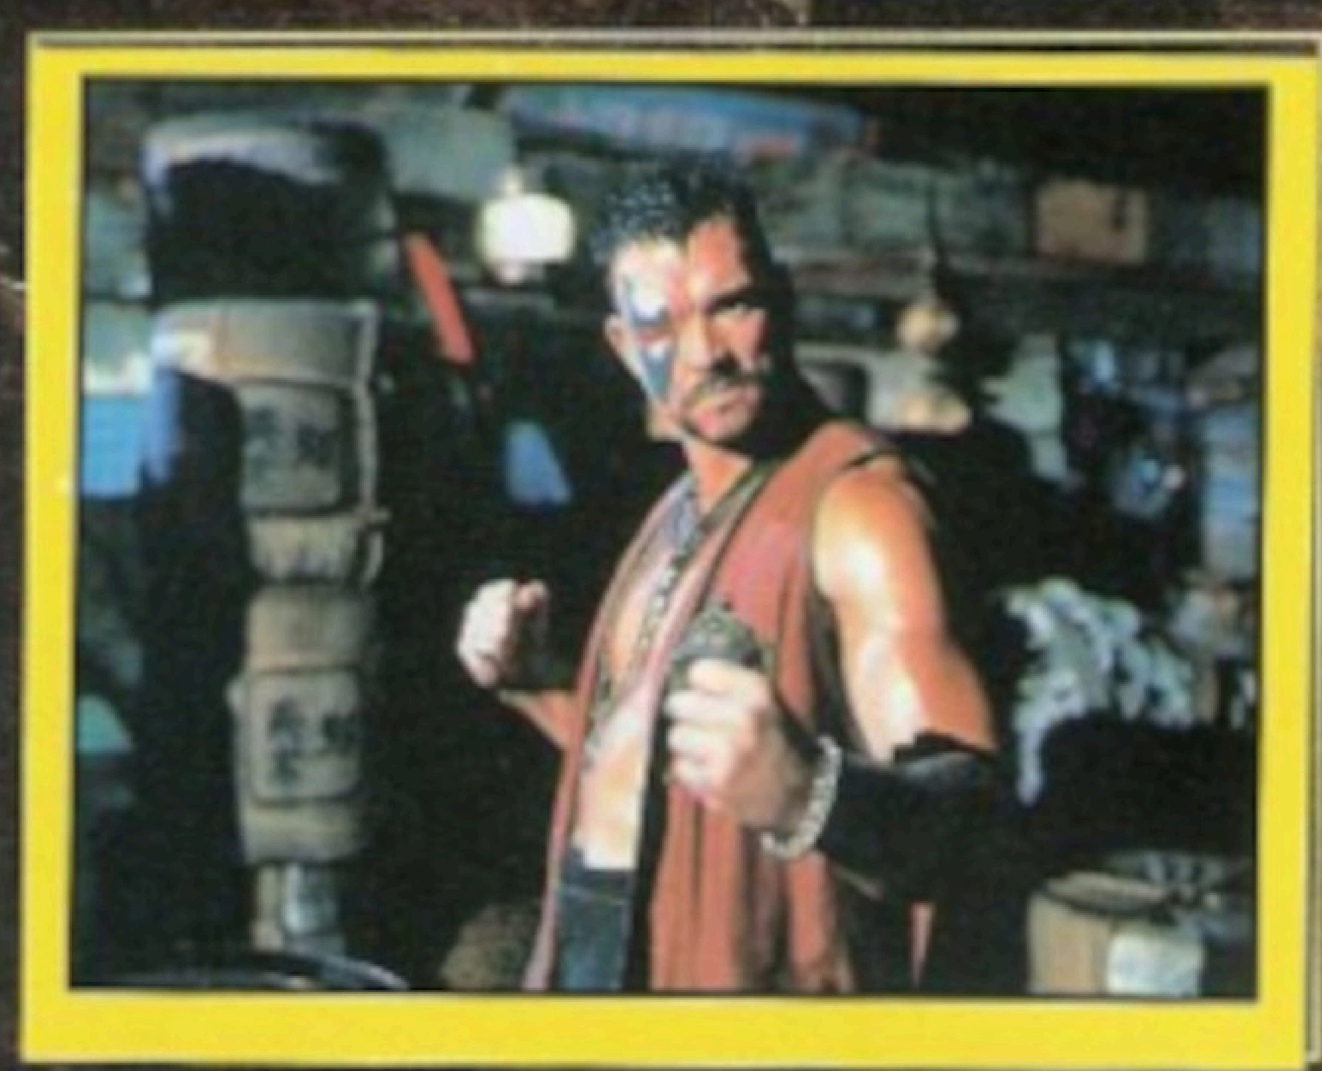

Goro, Prince of Shokan reigning champion of Mortal Kombat.

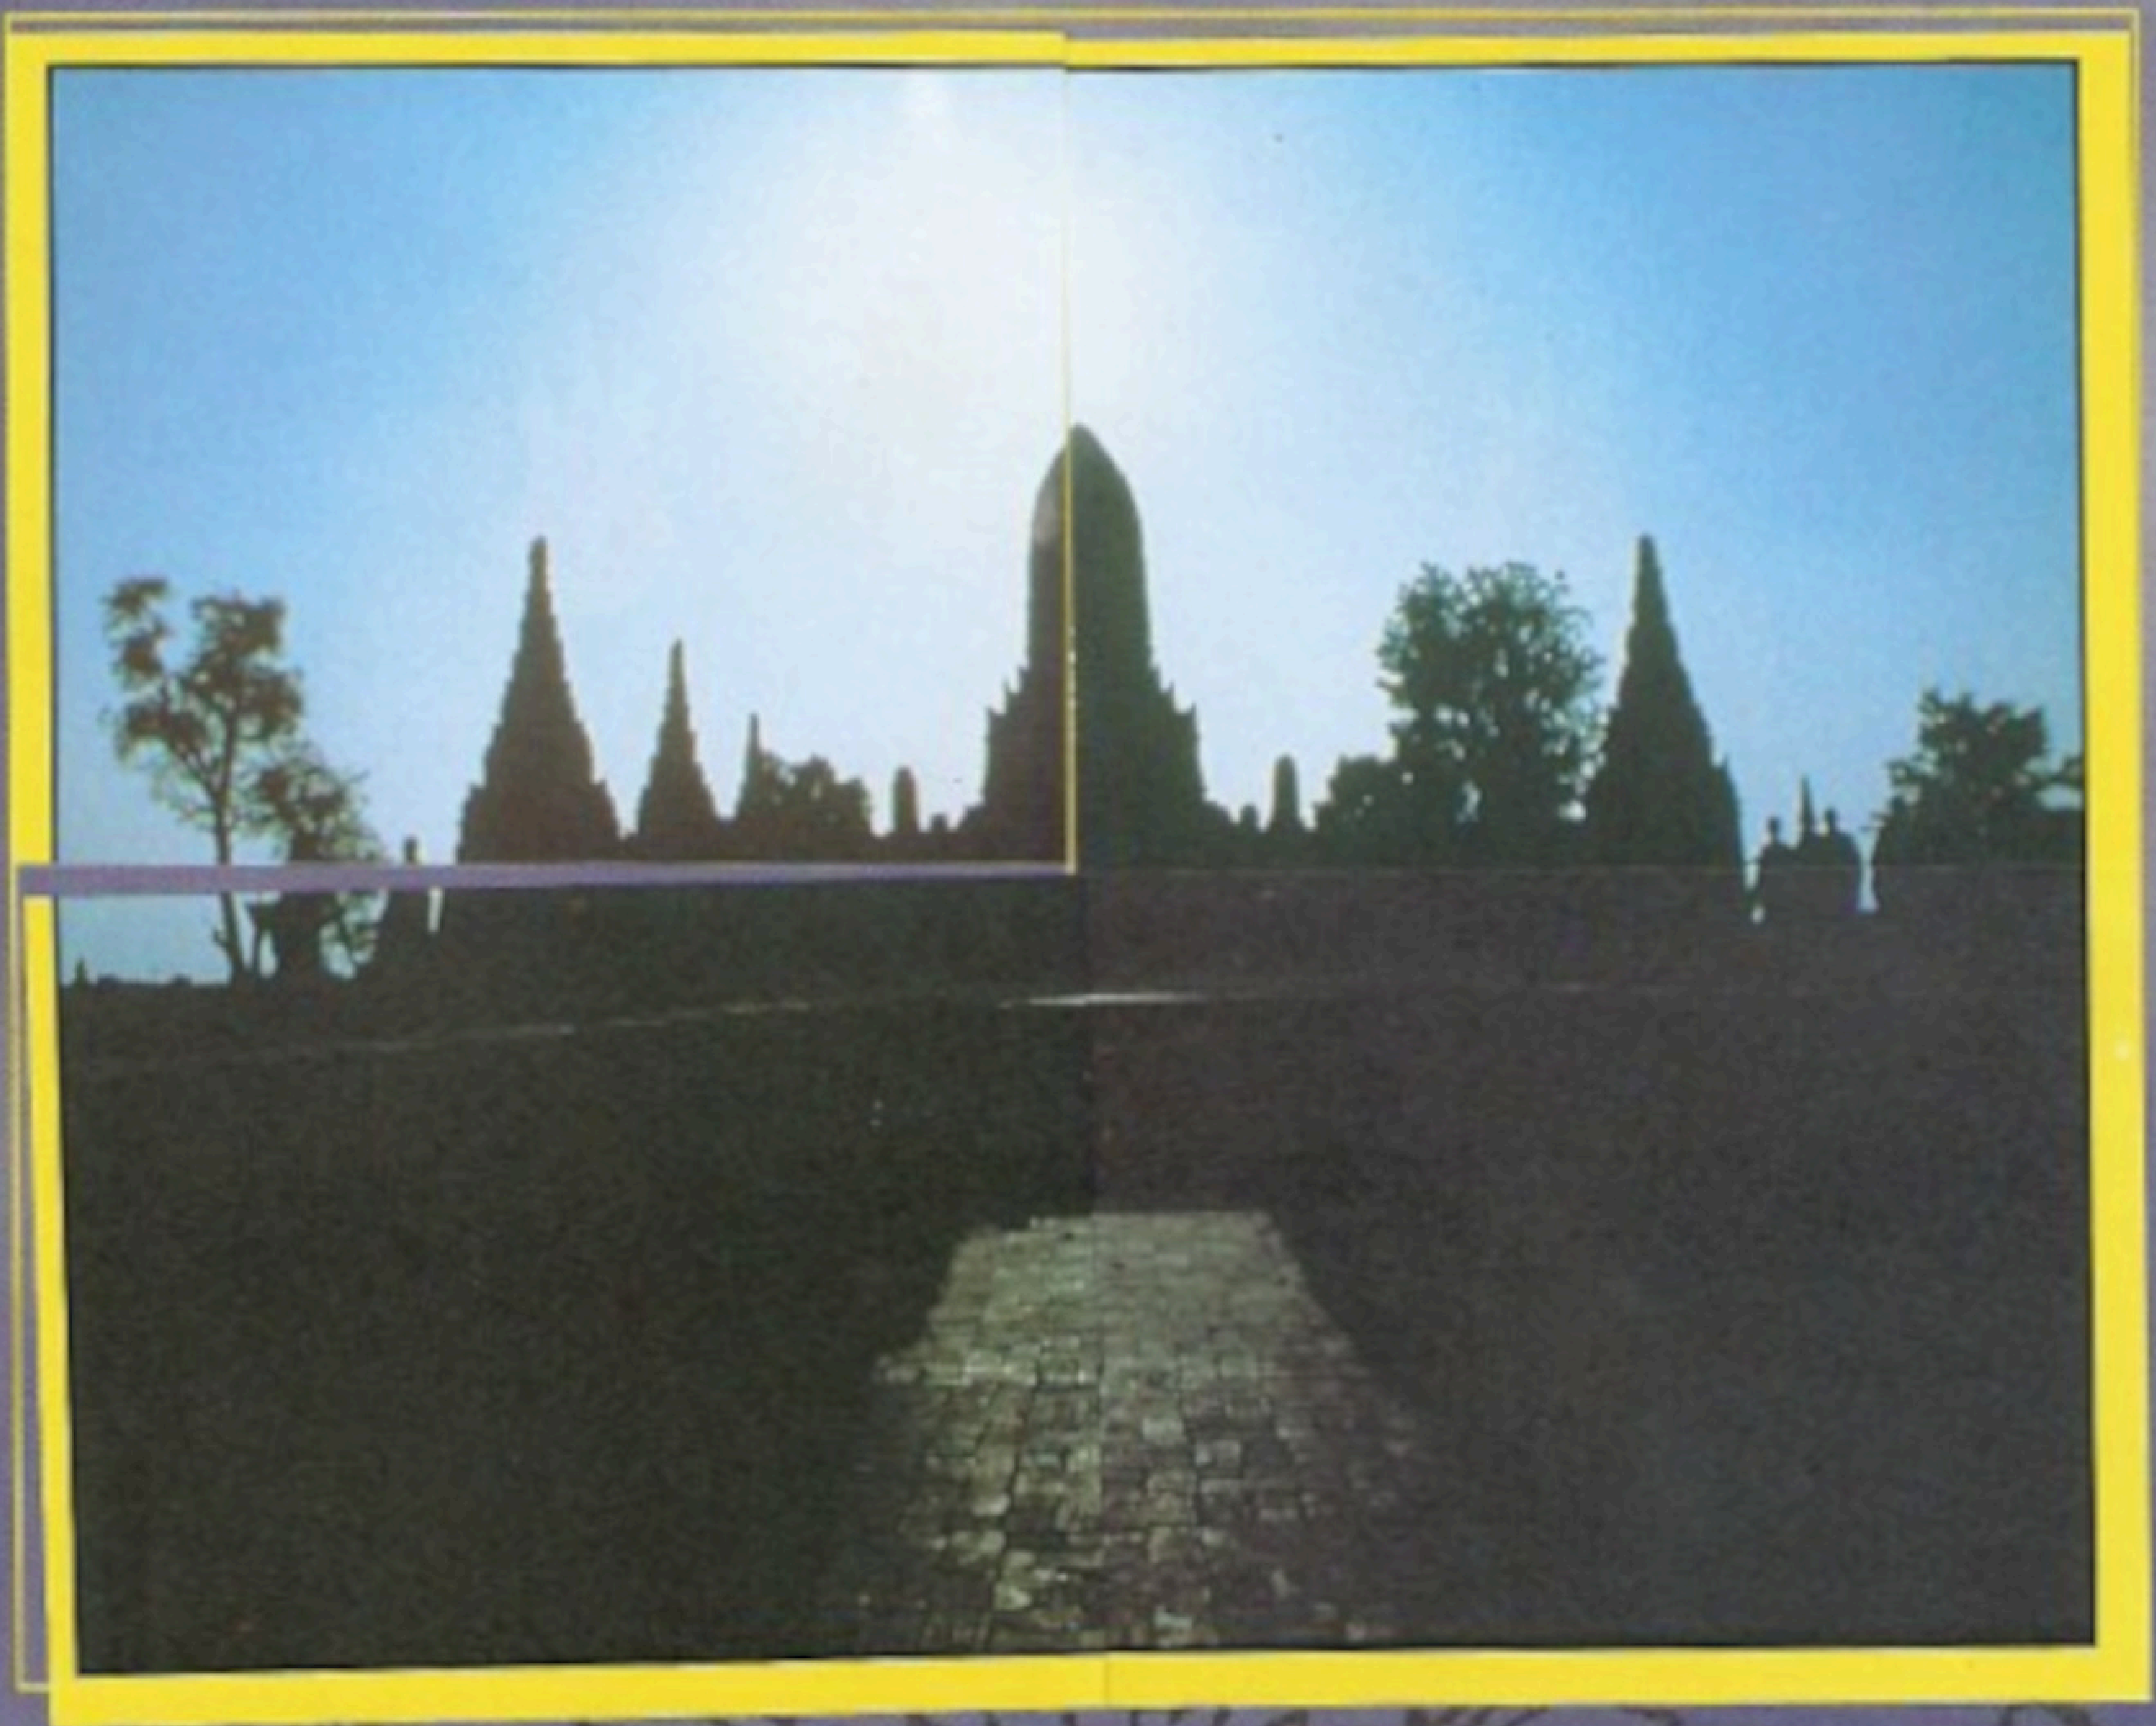

Shang Tsung, demon sorcerer of Outworld, eater of souls.

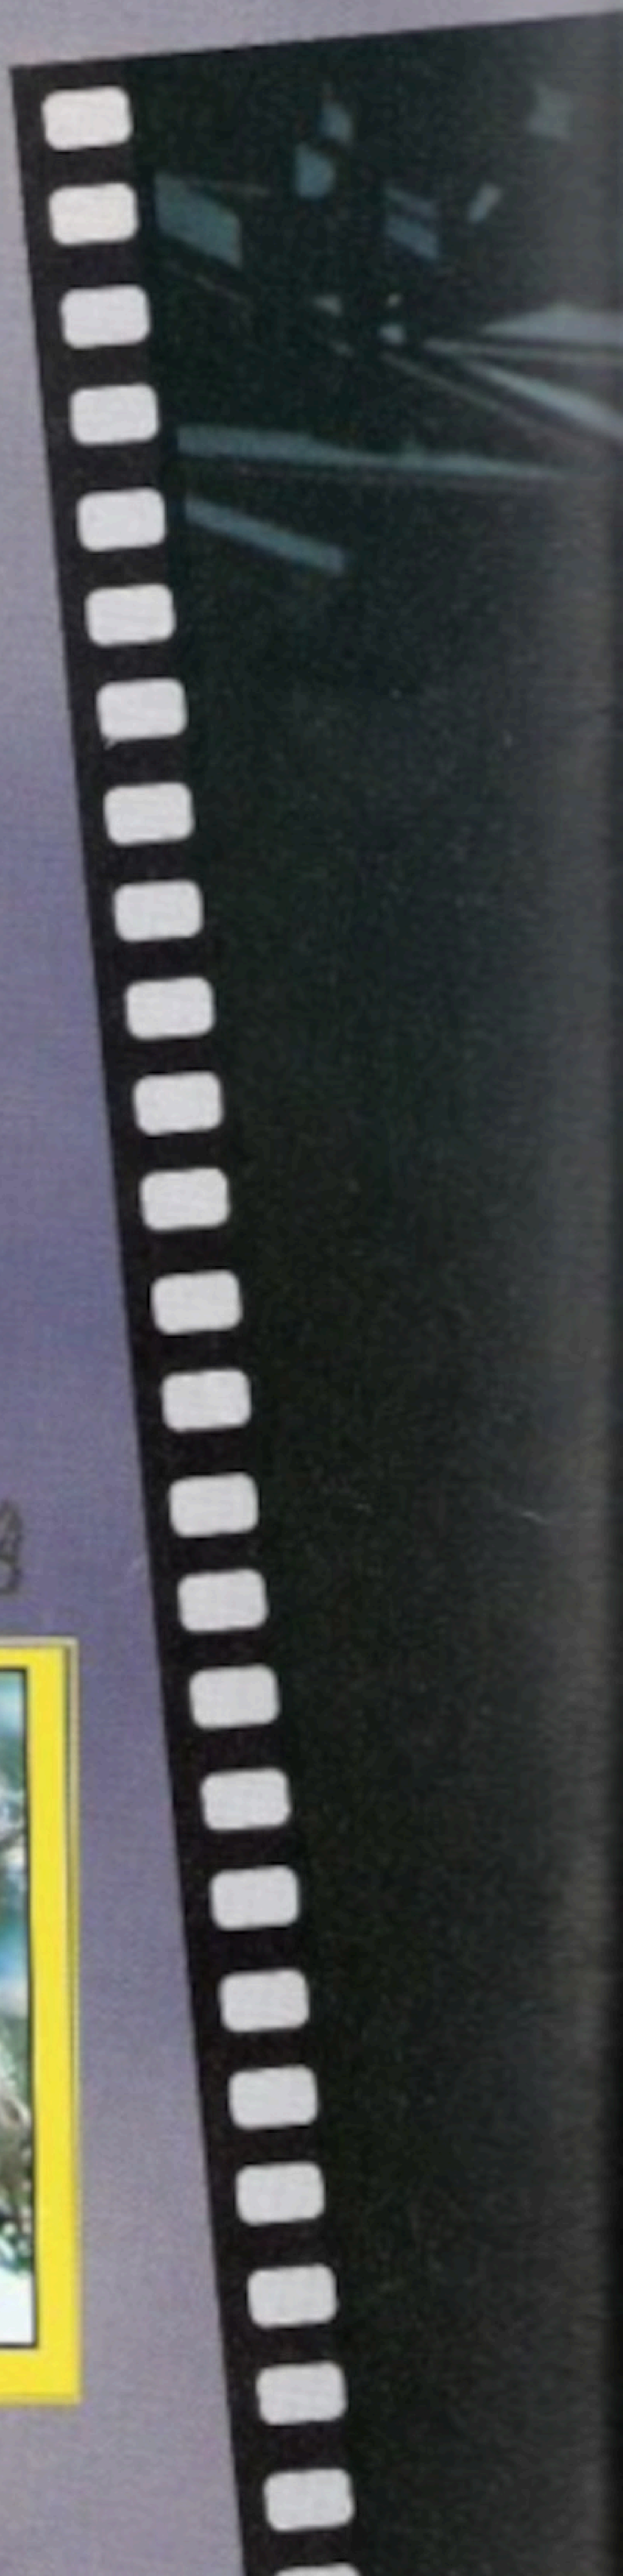

Kano, organized crime boss.

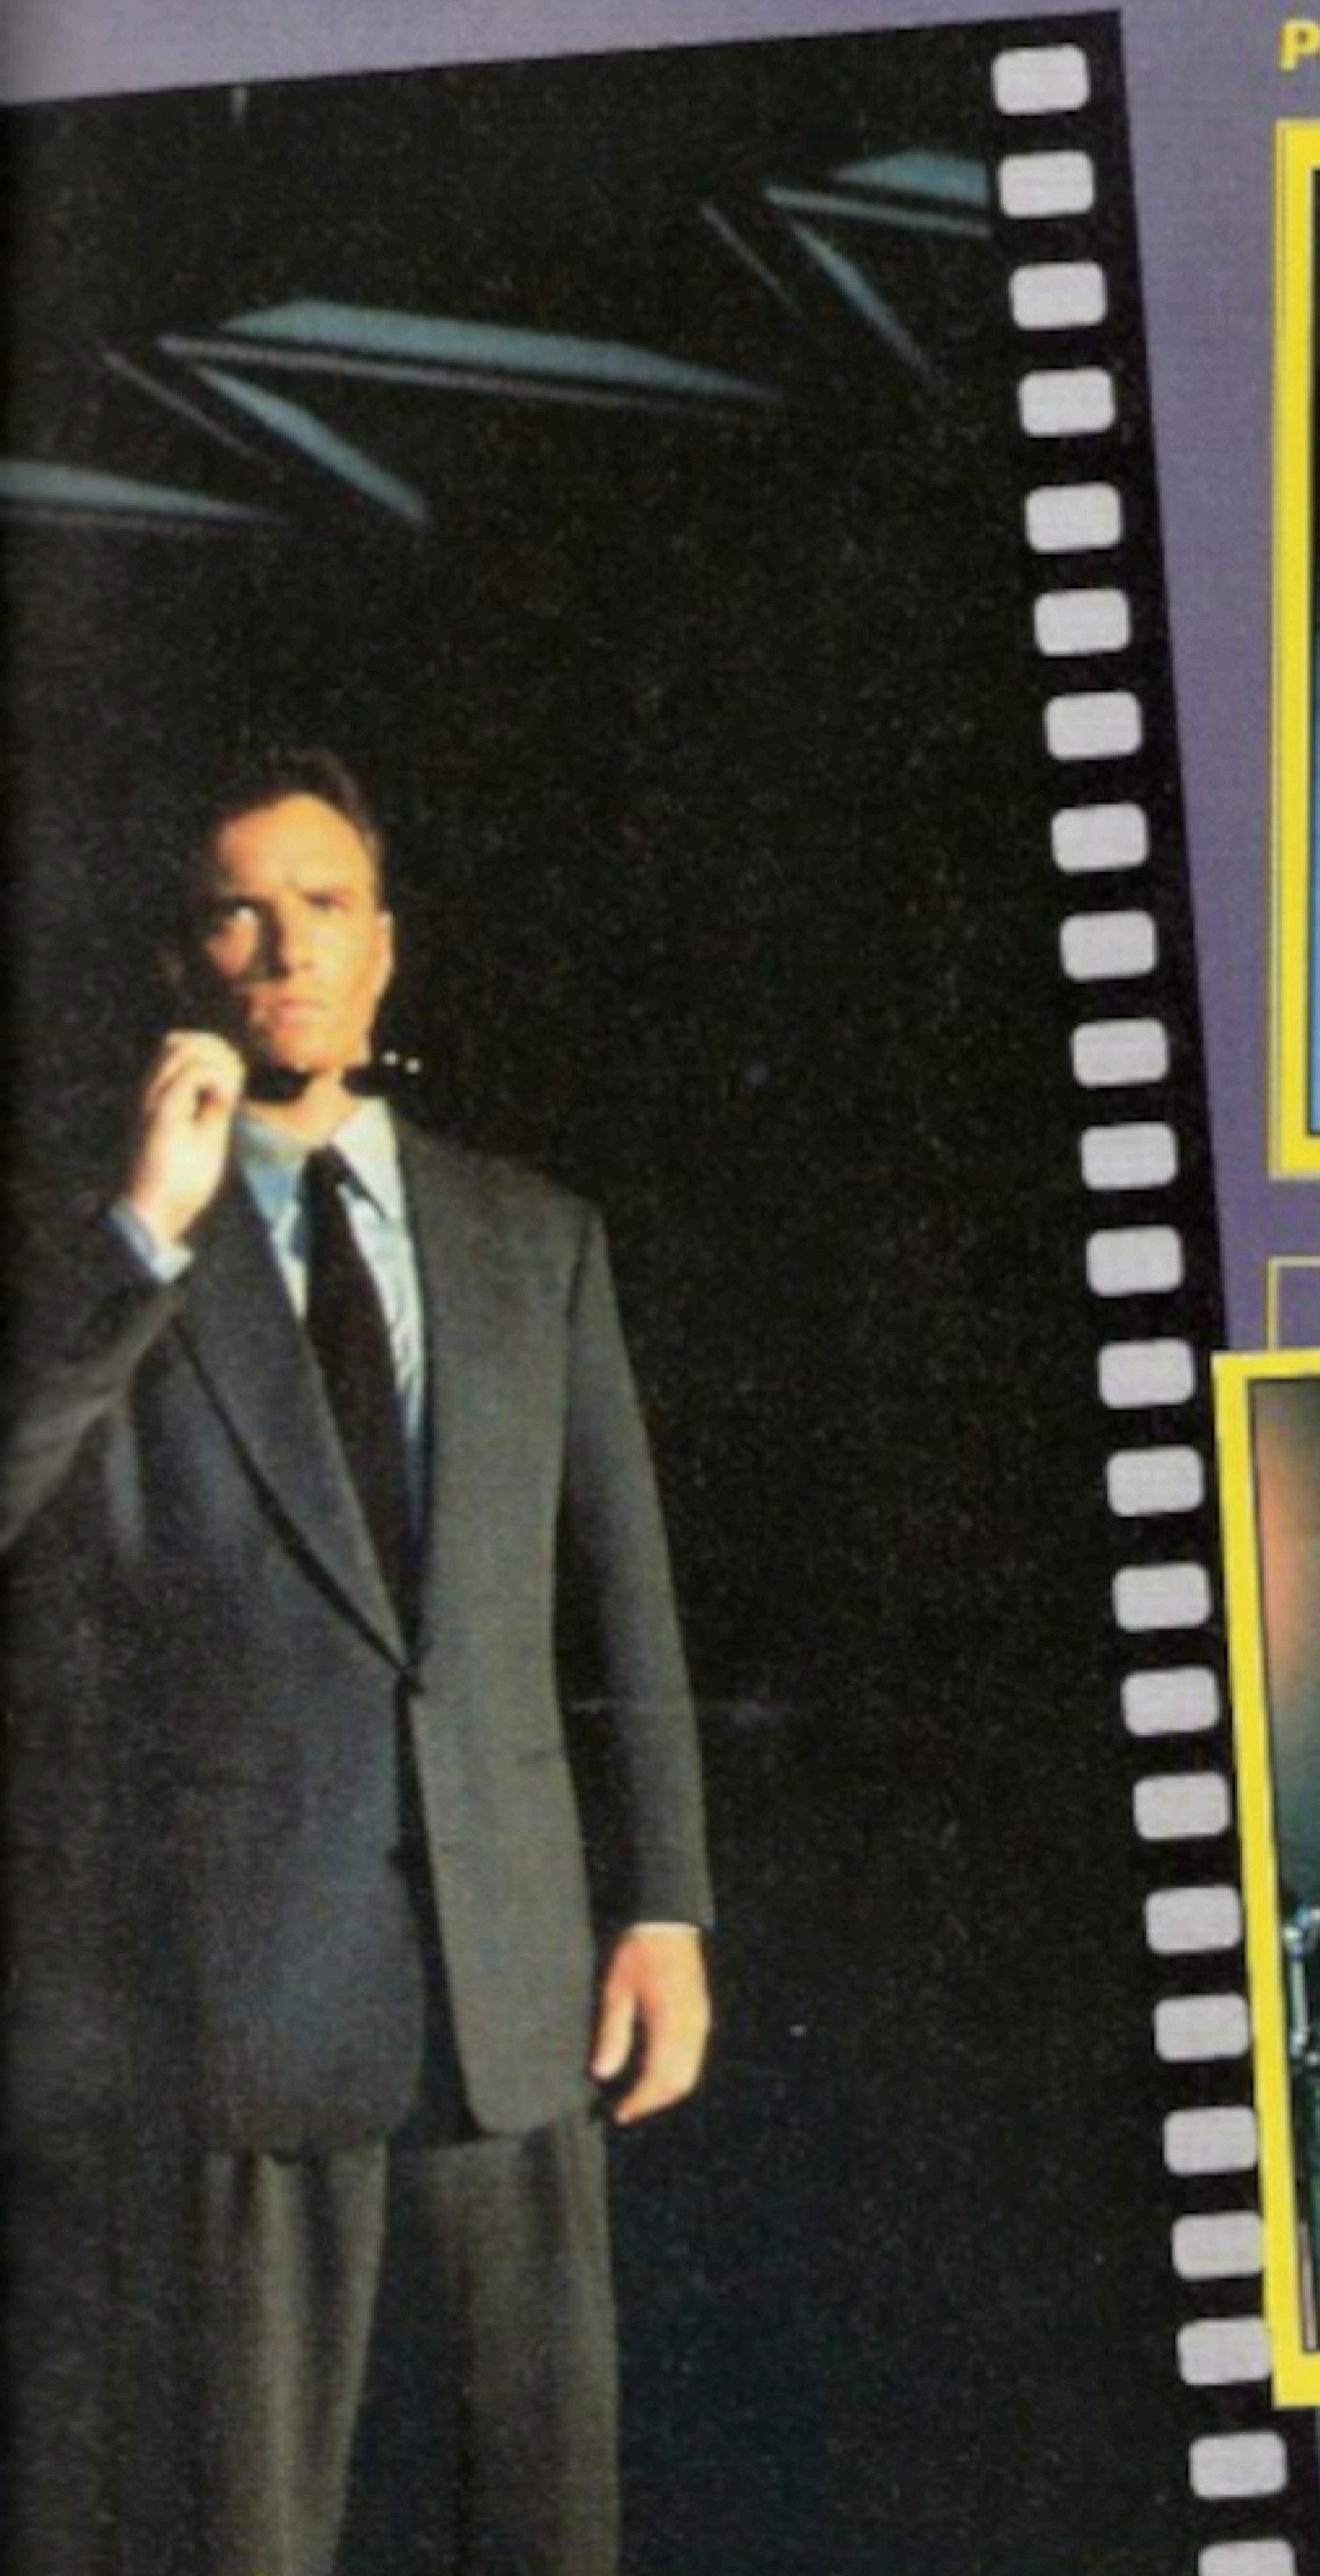

Liu Kang, combatant for the Temple of the Order of Light, wakes with a jolt. He has just dreamt the murder of his brother, Chan. The killer, Shang Tsung, demon sorcerer of Outworld, warned in Liu's dream, "Your brother's soul is mine! You will be next!" Awake, Liu rereads a telegram from the night before. Its message was not a dream: "Liu Kang. Brother dead. Return home. Grandfather."

Martial arts movie superstar Johnny Cage goes through another action scene, but walks off the set frustrated. He complains to the director, "And the press says I don't know how to do this stuff."

Sensai Bill Boyd pays a surprise visit. Handing him a scroll, the sensai urges Johnny to fight in a secret tournament. "If you win, they'll tell the entire world you are the real goods." As suddenly as he appeared, Boyd leaves Johnny, only to morph into Shang!

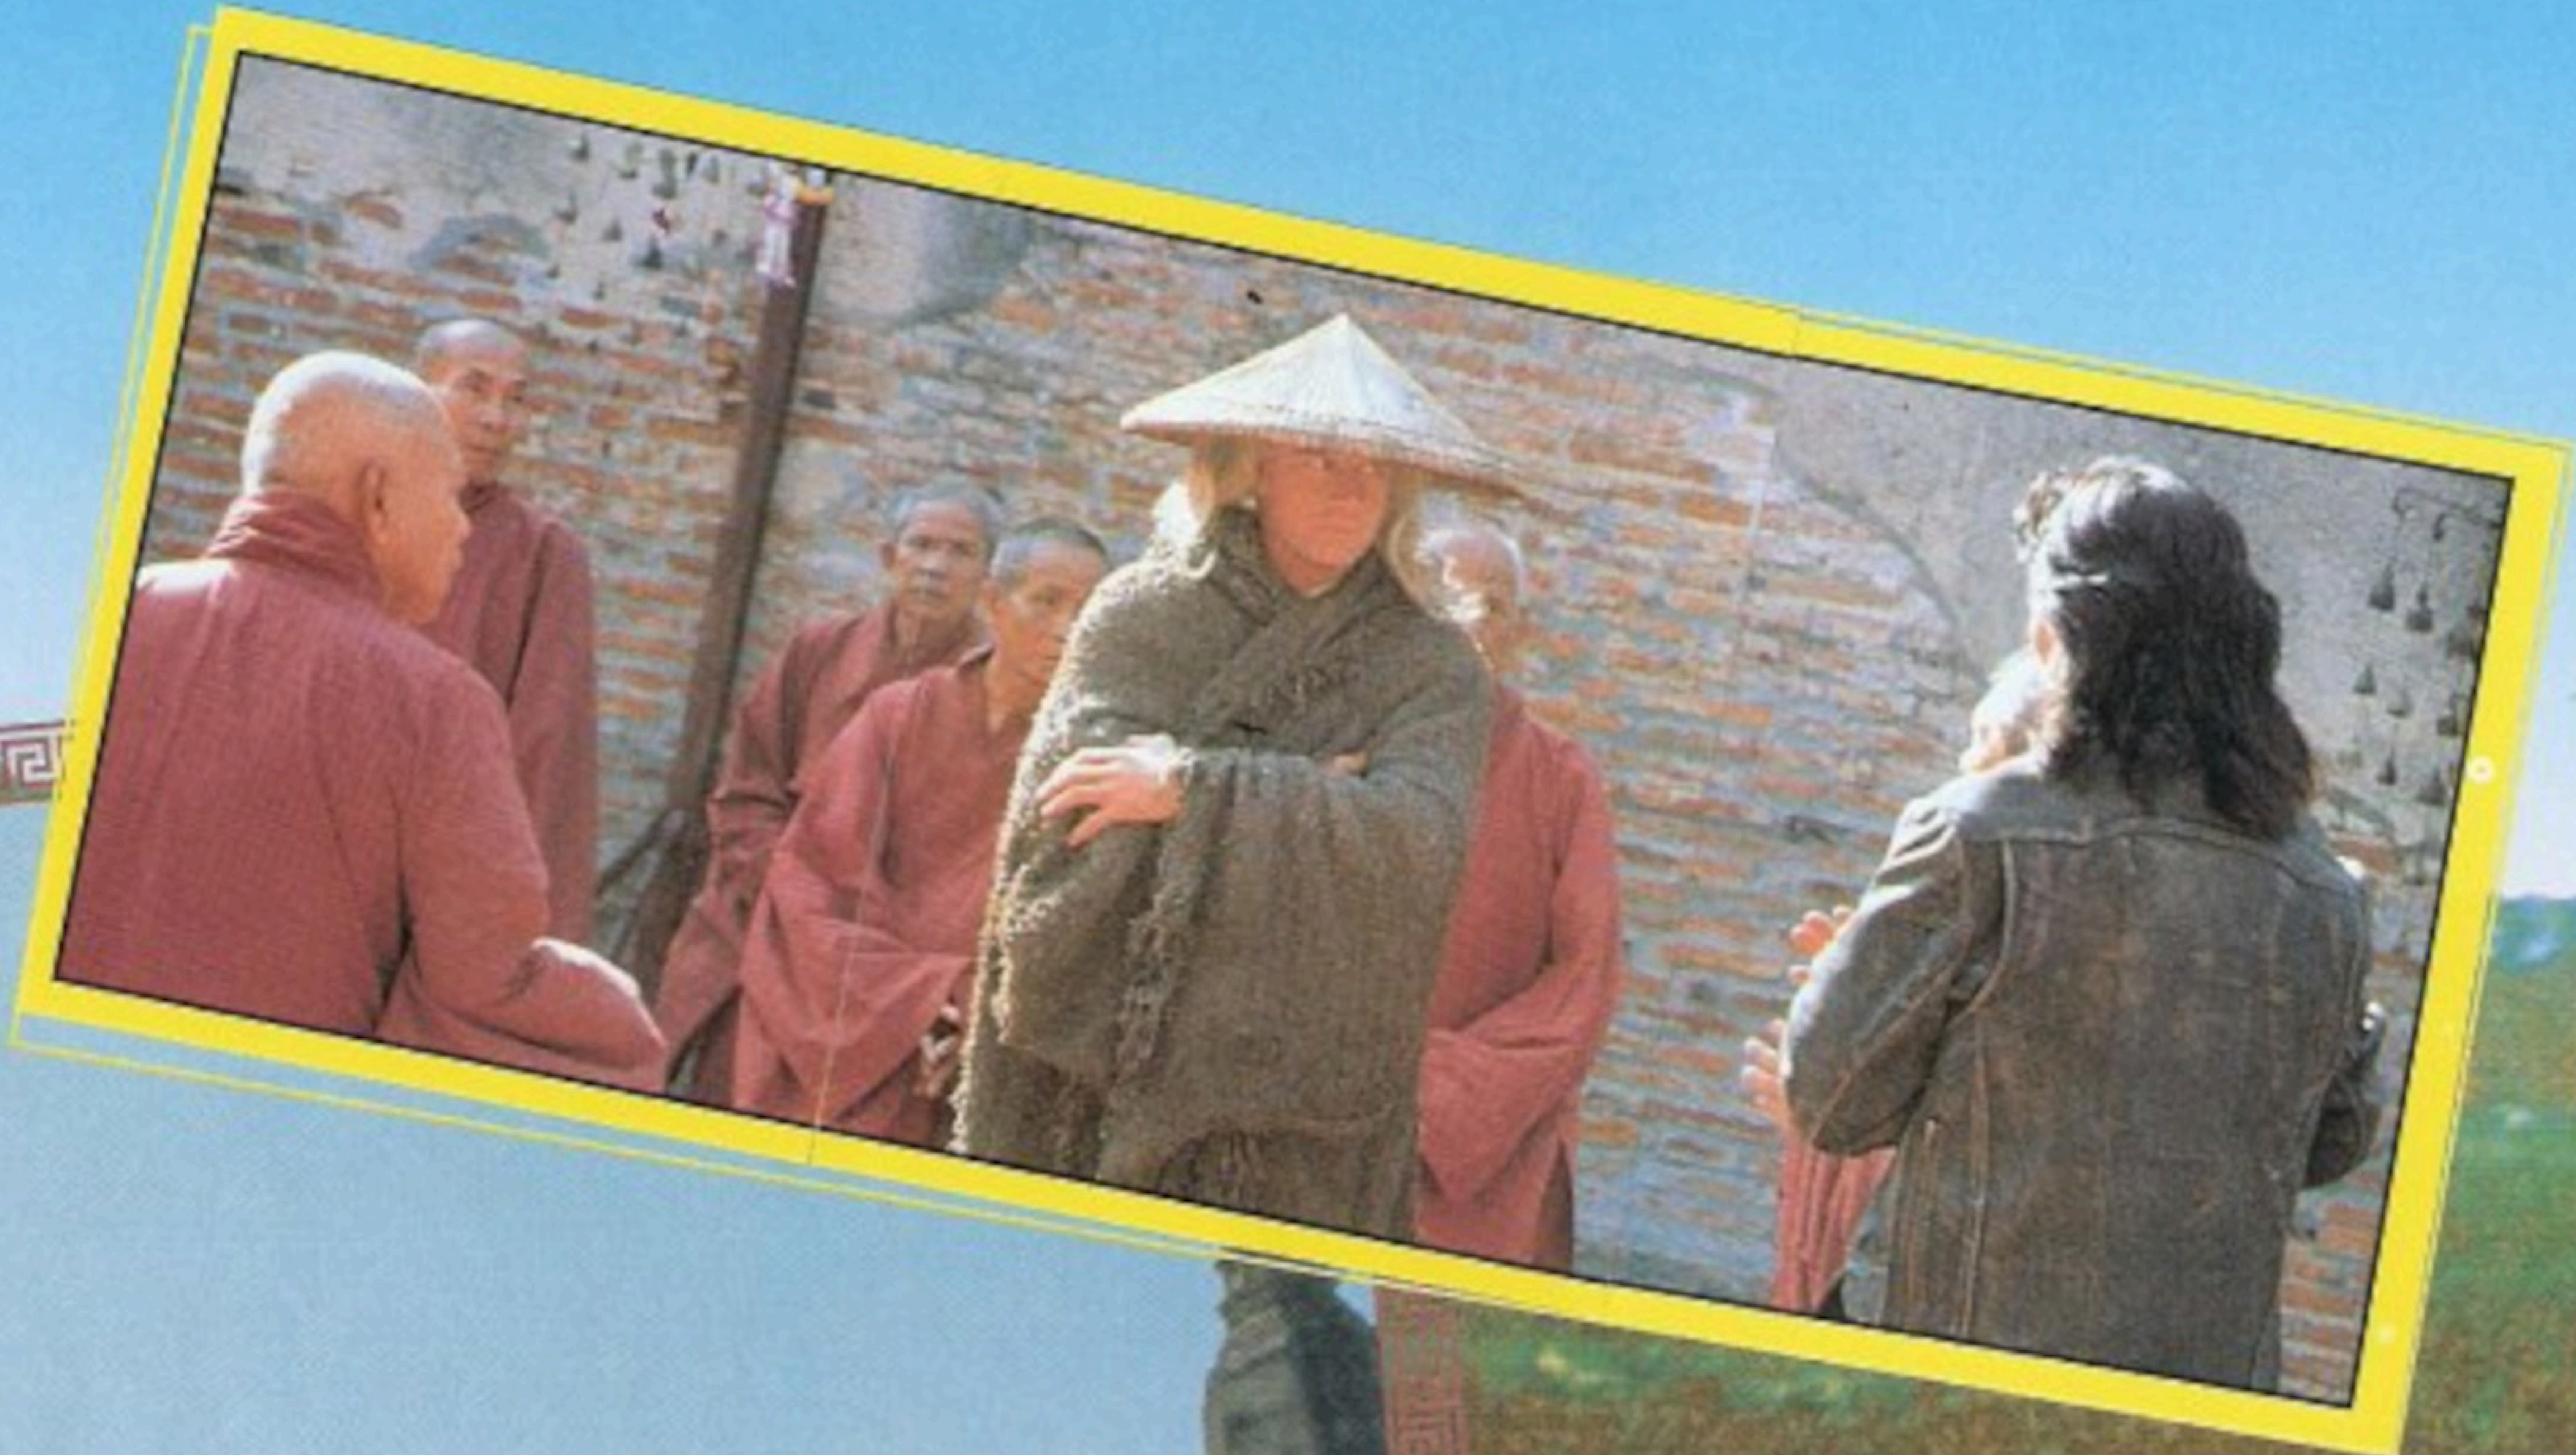

At his grandfather's request, Liu returns to the Temple of the Order of Light, where he is greeted by his grandfather, elders, and priests. He tells them, "I want to represent the Order of the Light at the Tournament. The man who killed my brother will be there."

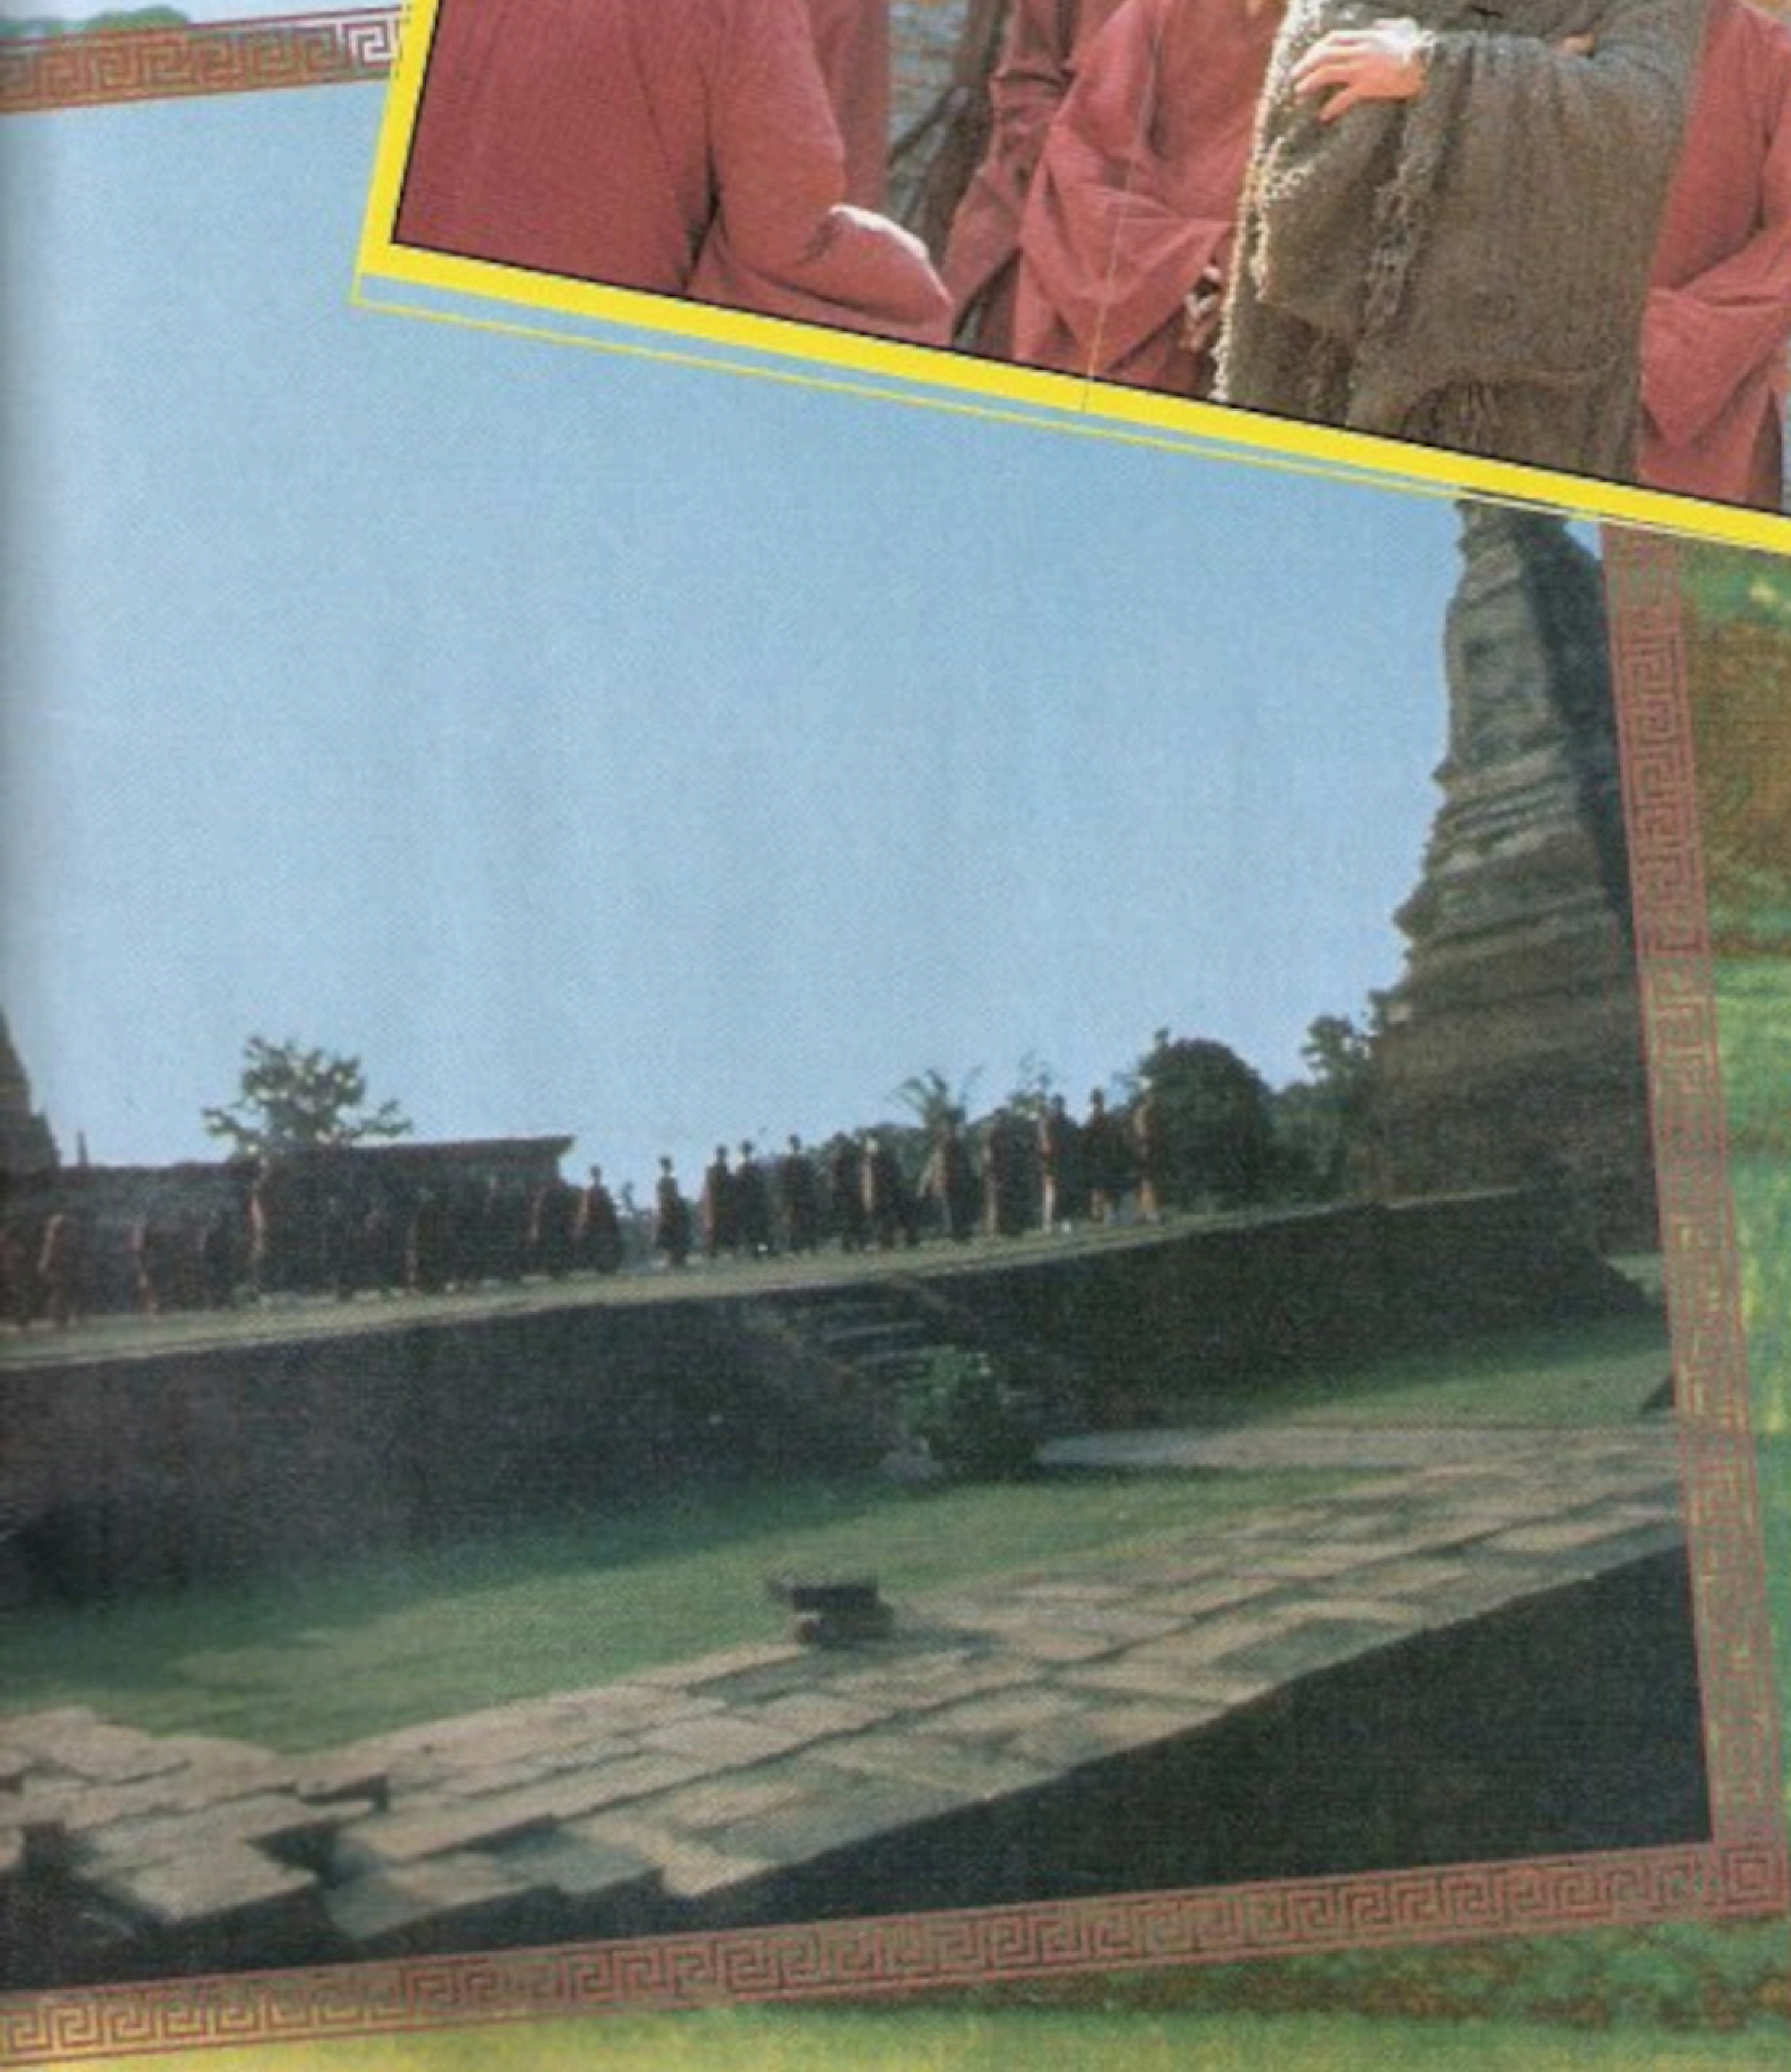

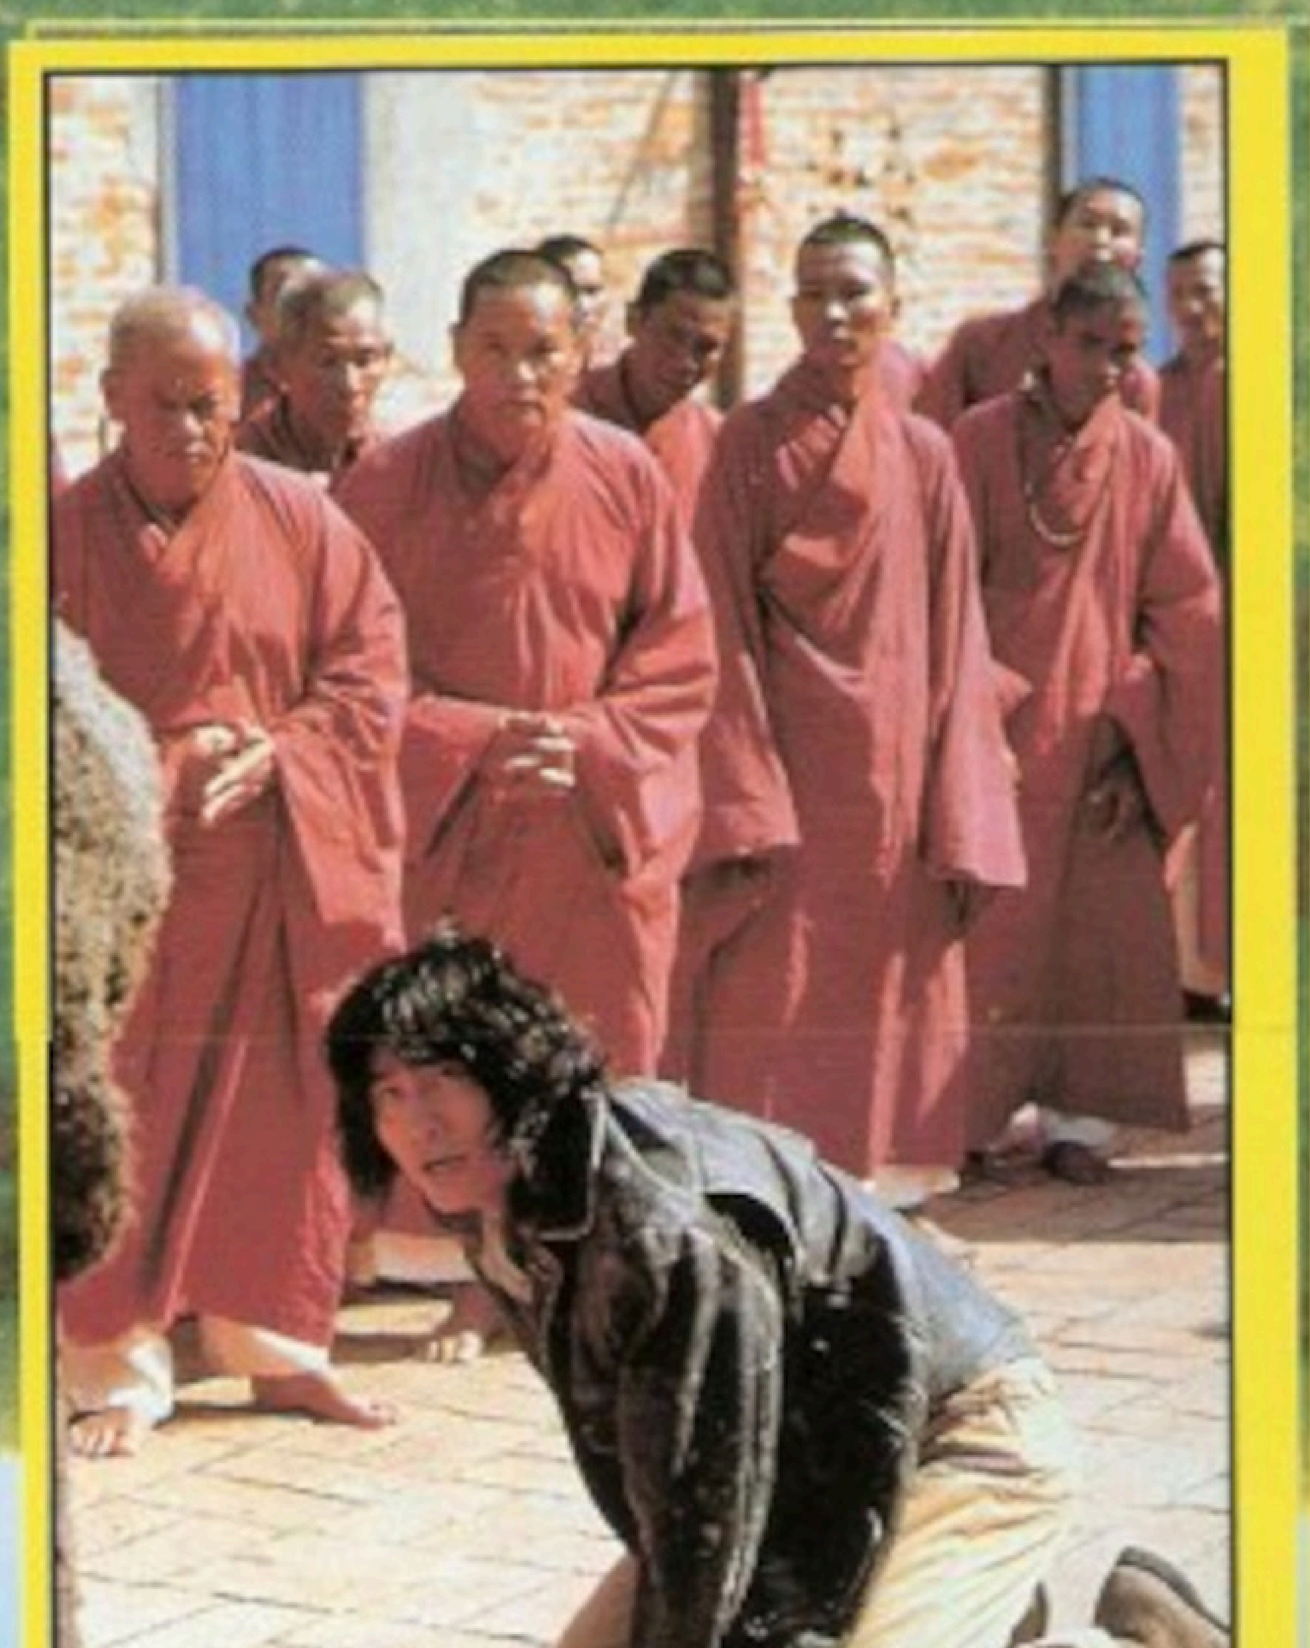

Out of the shadows appears the beggar-like Rayden, in fact God of Thunder and Protector of the Realm of Earth. To the skeptical Liu, Rayden booms, "So you're going to win the Tournament? Show me how." He sends Liu to the ground. Humiliated, Liu storms out of the temple, still determined to avenge his brother at the Tournament.

In a Hong Kong night-club, U.S. Army Special Forces Lieutenant Sonya Blade, her second-in-command Jax, and their team pursue Kano, a wretched underworld figure from Earth. Inside the club's office, Shang reminds Kano, "You killed her partner. She'll follow you. Just make sure she gets on that boat." With her weapon, Sonya blasts a guard through the office's glass wall. Diving through the decimated wall, Sonya grabs the fallen man and cries, "Where is he?" She notices an open grate, obviously through which someone escaped.

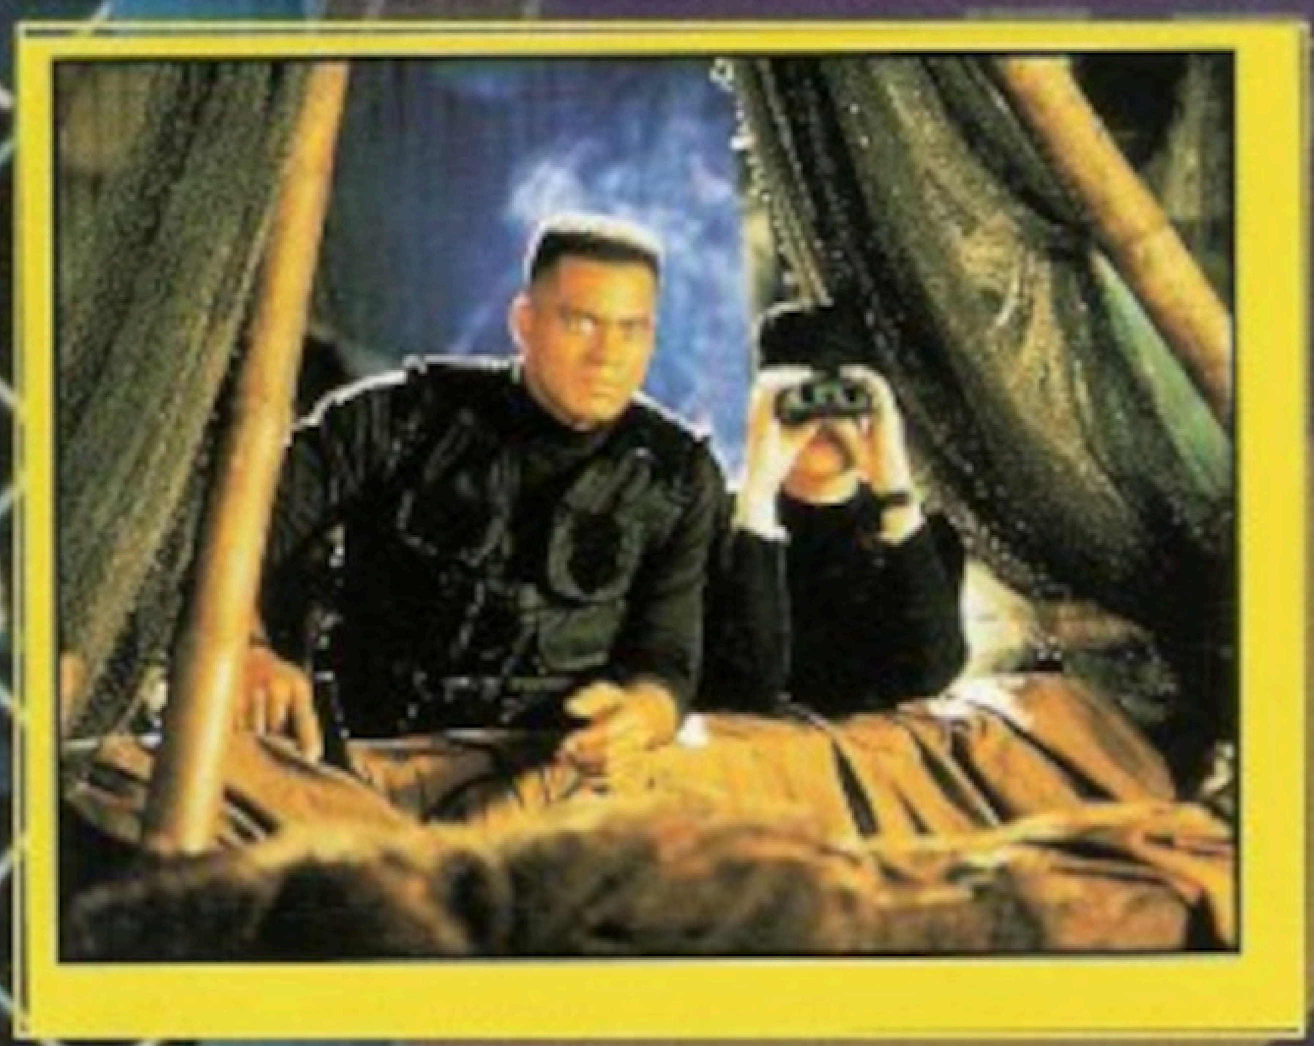

Following directions to the Tournament, Johnny arrives at a pier in Hong Kong. There he runs into Liu, whom he first assumes is a dock hand. The 500-year old Dragon's Wing ship emerges from the dense fog. Its gangplank falls directly at Johnny's feet. Nearby, Sonya and Jax spot Kano running towards the Dragon's Wing.

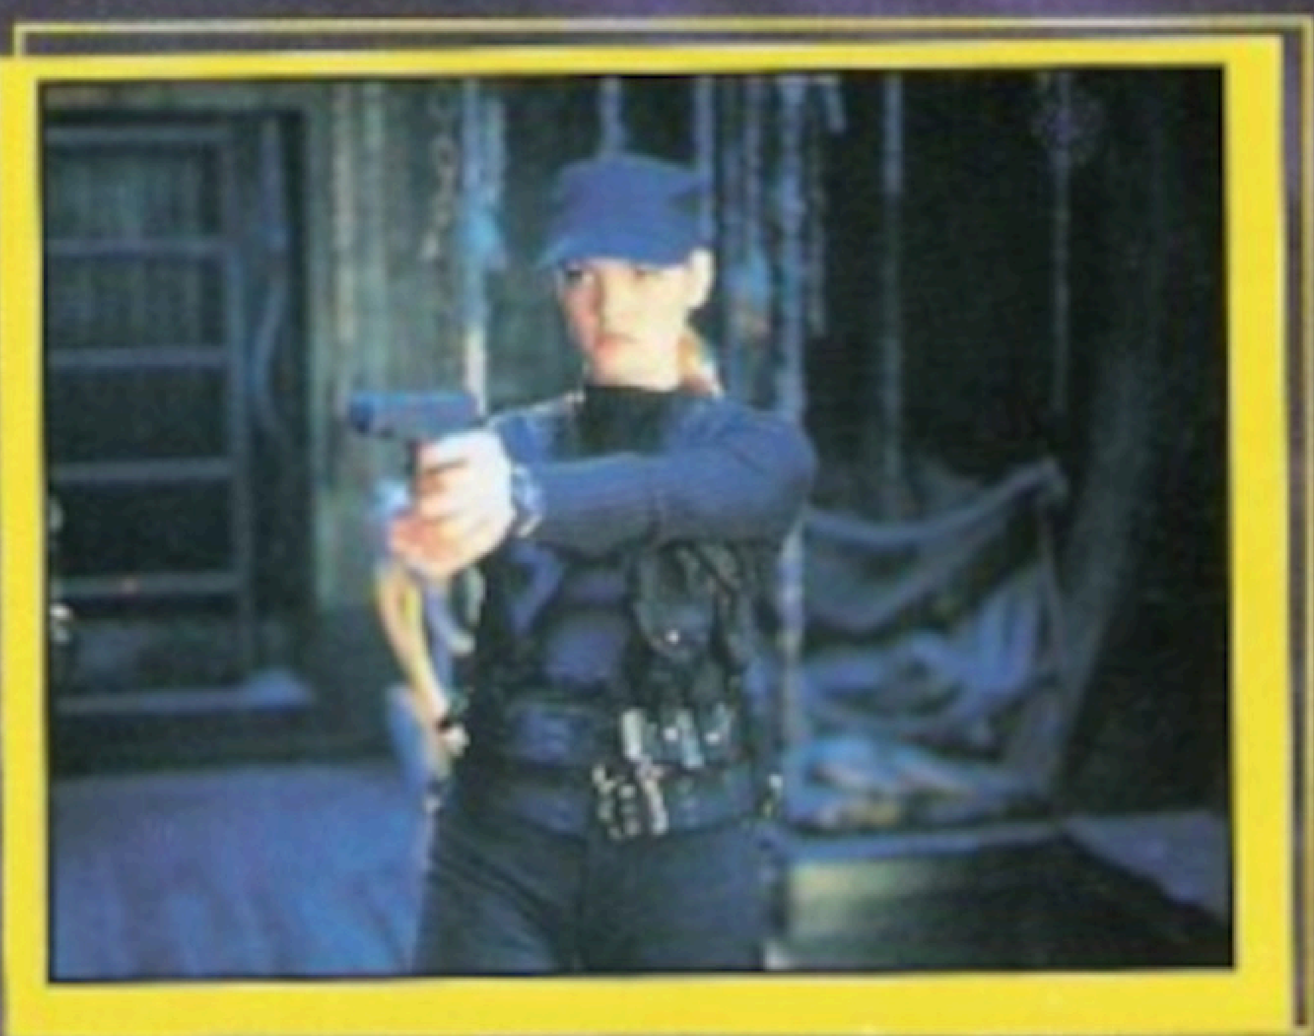

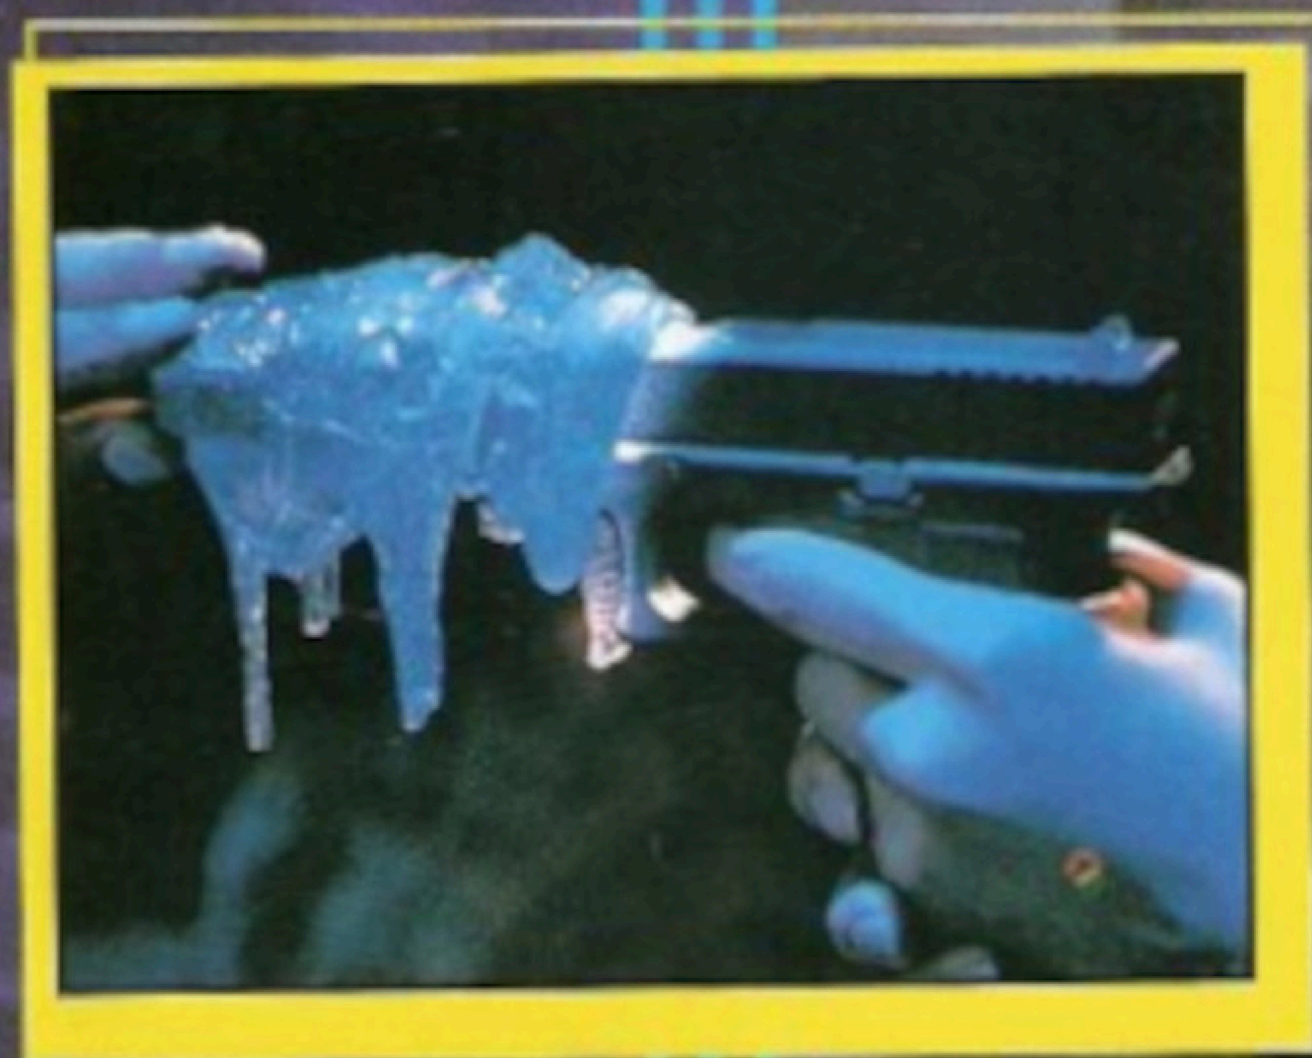

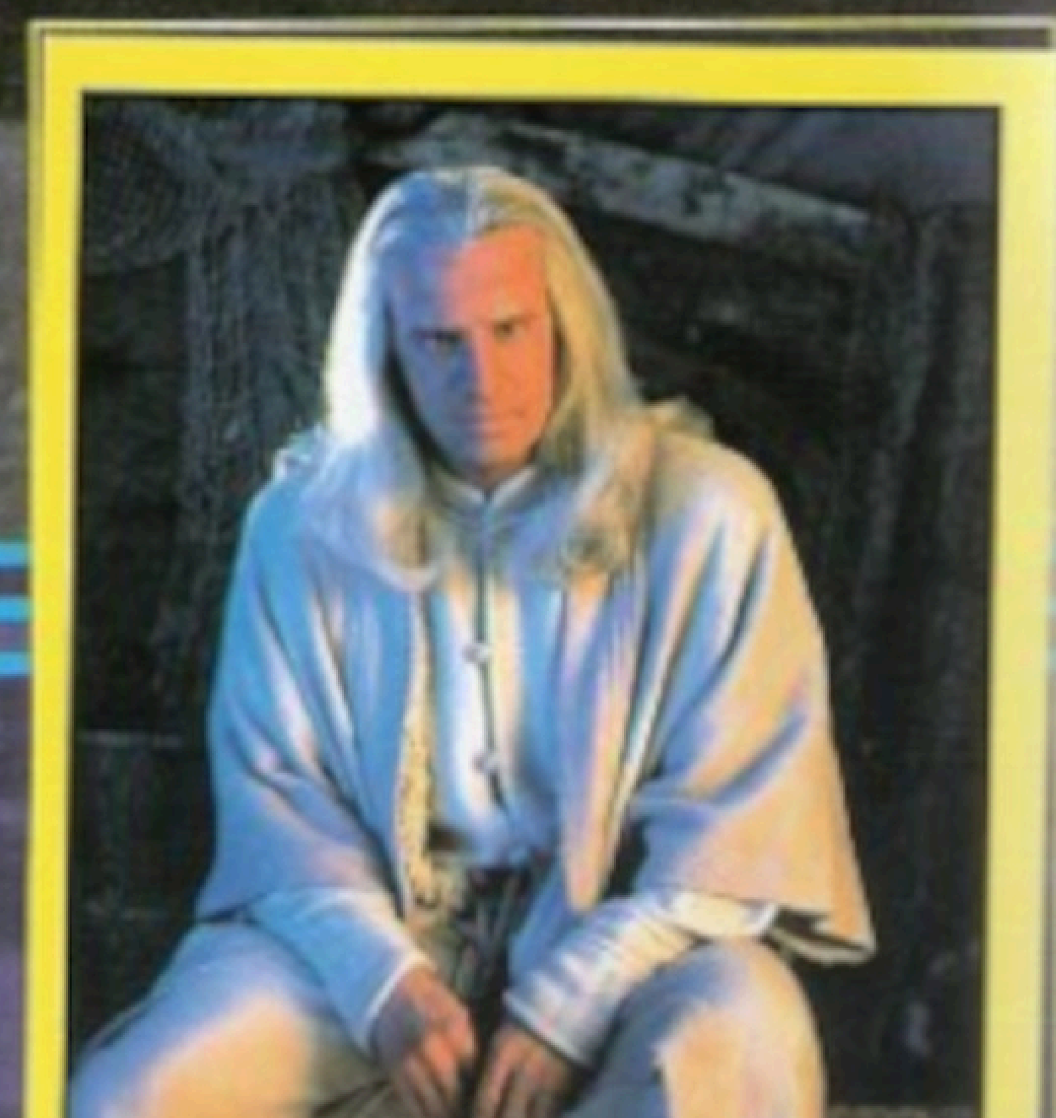

Liu and Johnny are on the deck of the ghost ship. Through the darkness and fog, Sonya crashes into Johnny. She pursues Kano into the hold, where she encounters Sub-Zero and Scorpion, two of Shang's warrior servants. Liu and Johnny join her. Sonya draws her sidearm. With a move of his hand, Sub-Zero freezes Sonya's weapon! Suddenly, an enormous blue ball of electricity streaks down the passageway and knocks Sub-Zero and Scorpion aside. It turns into Rayden! To Sonya, Liu, and Johnny, he thunders, "Come with me!" Rayden disappears into a ball of electricity and reappears on deck. The night sky is lit by shimmering colors. Shang appears and announces, "It has begun!"

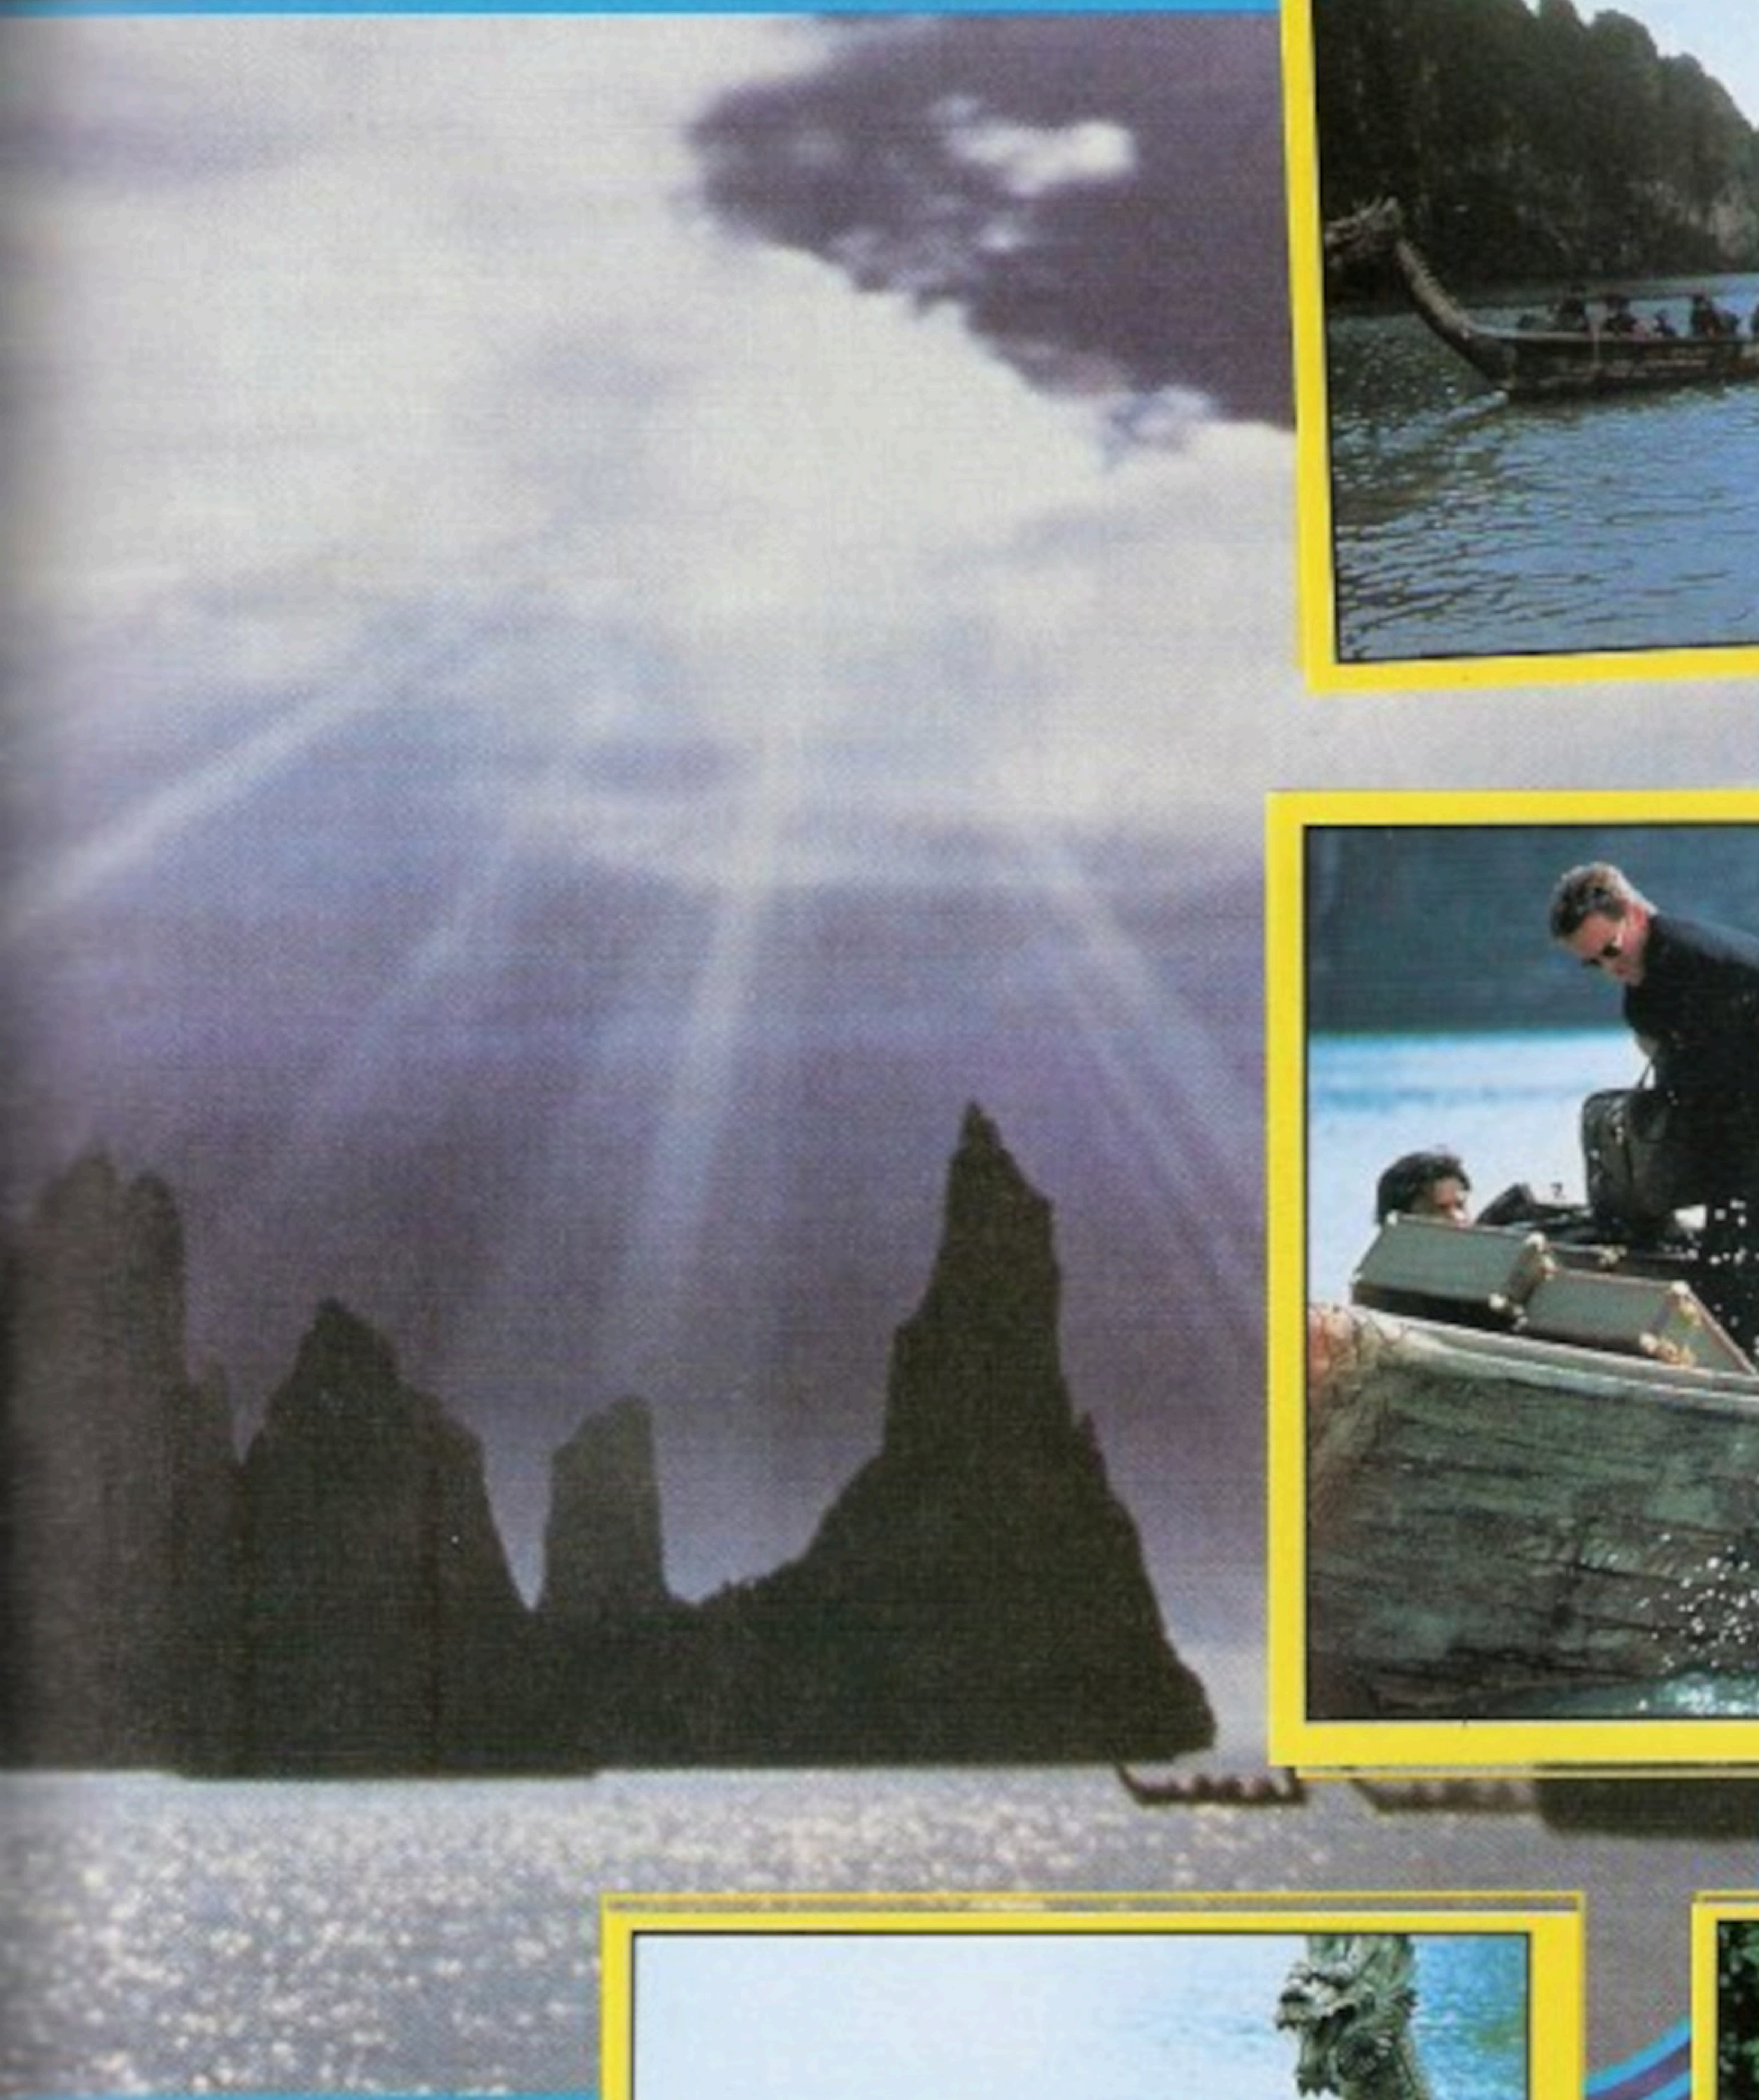

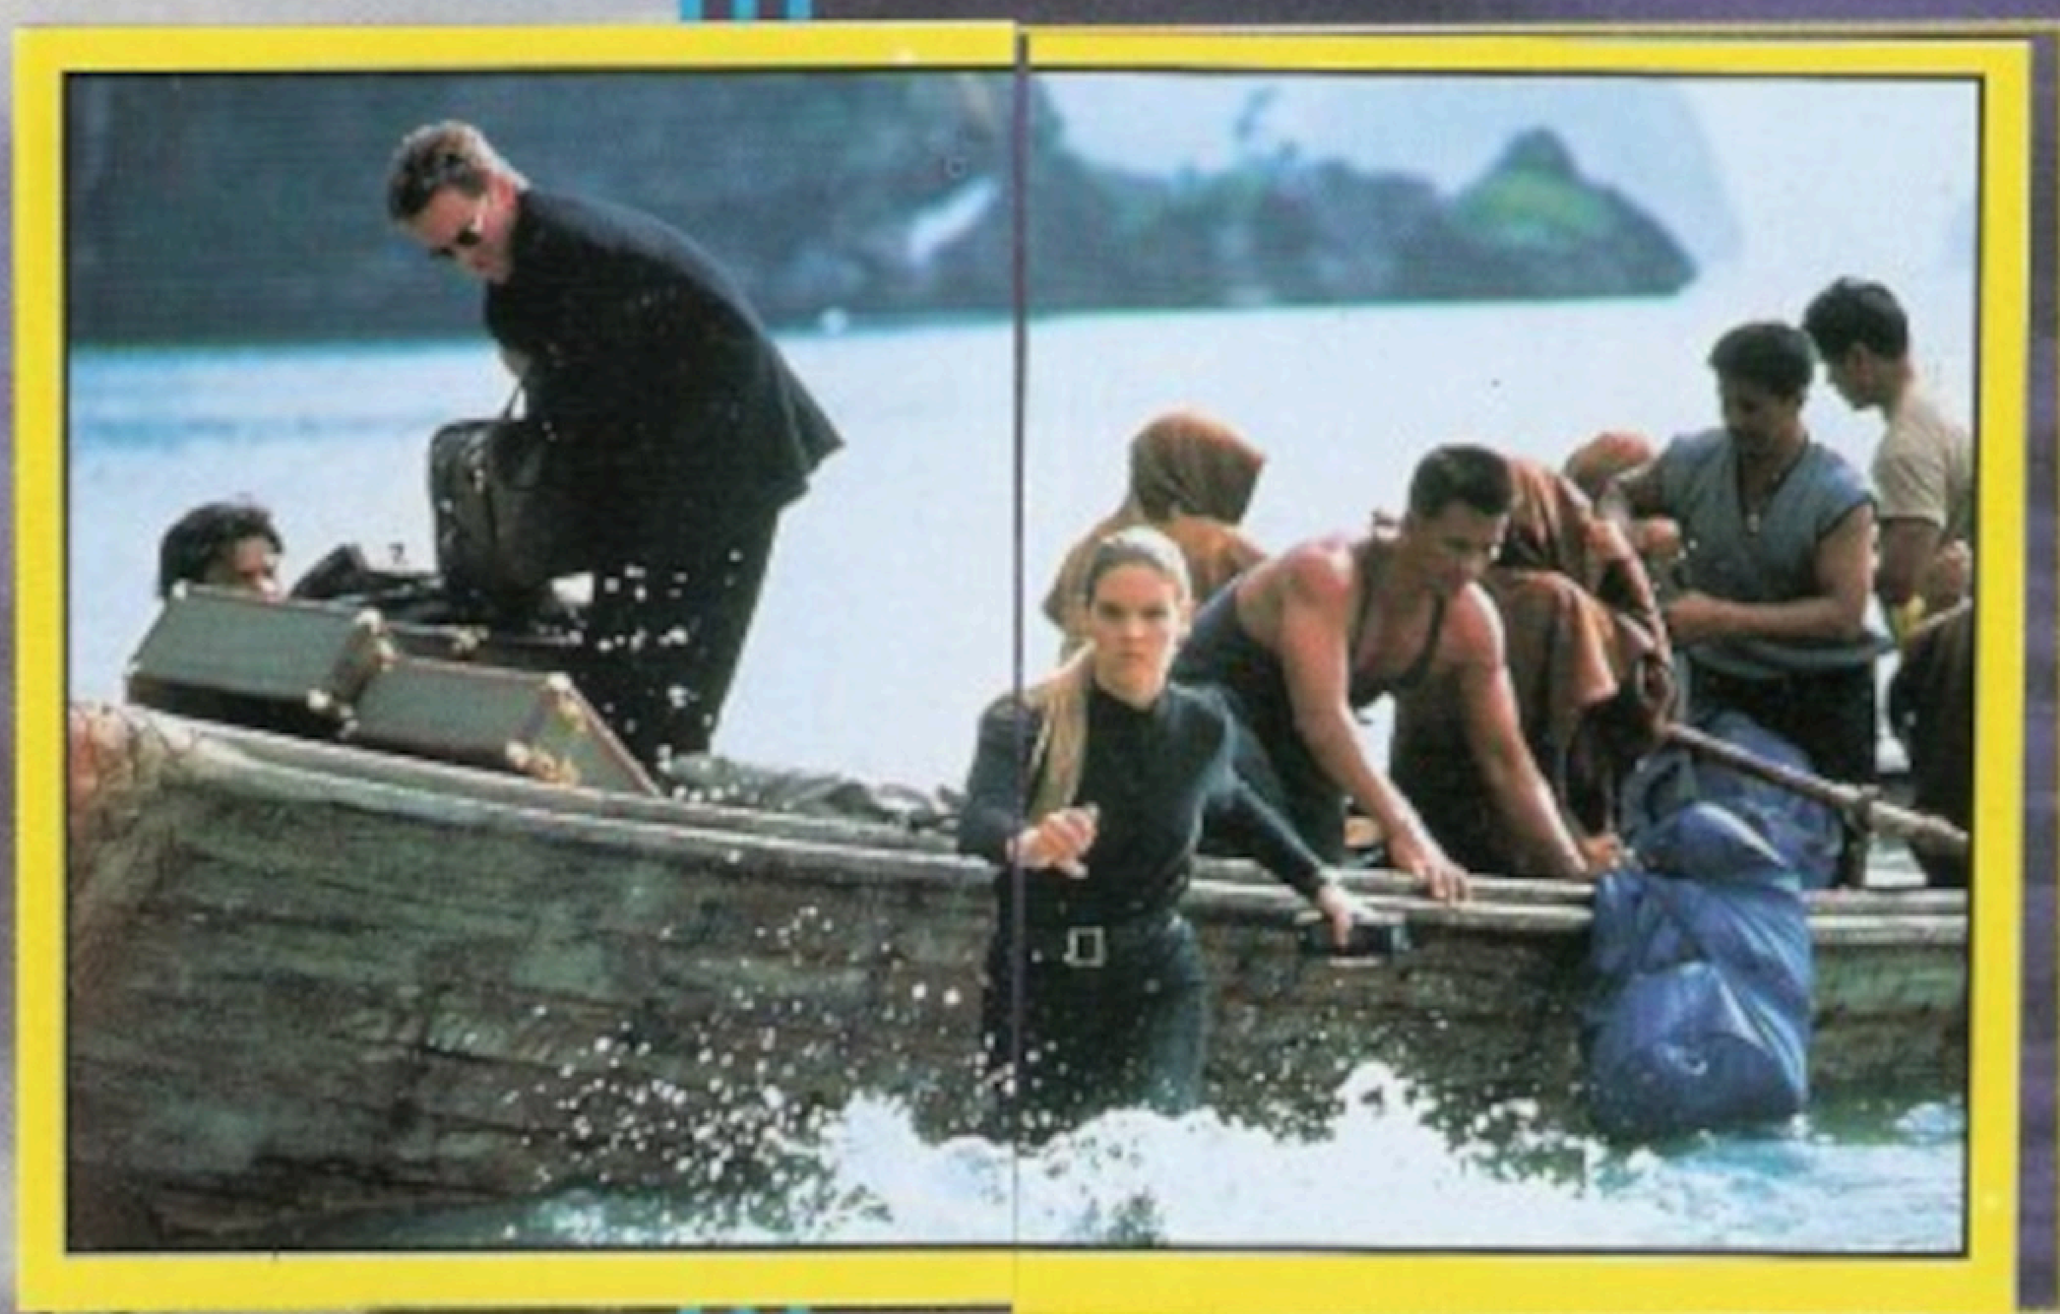

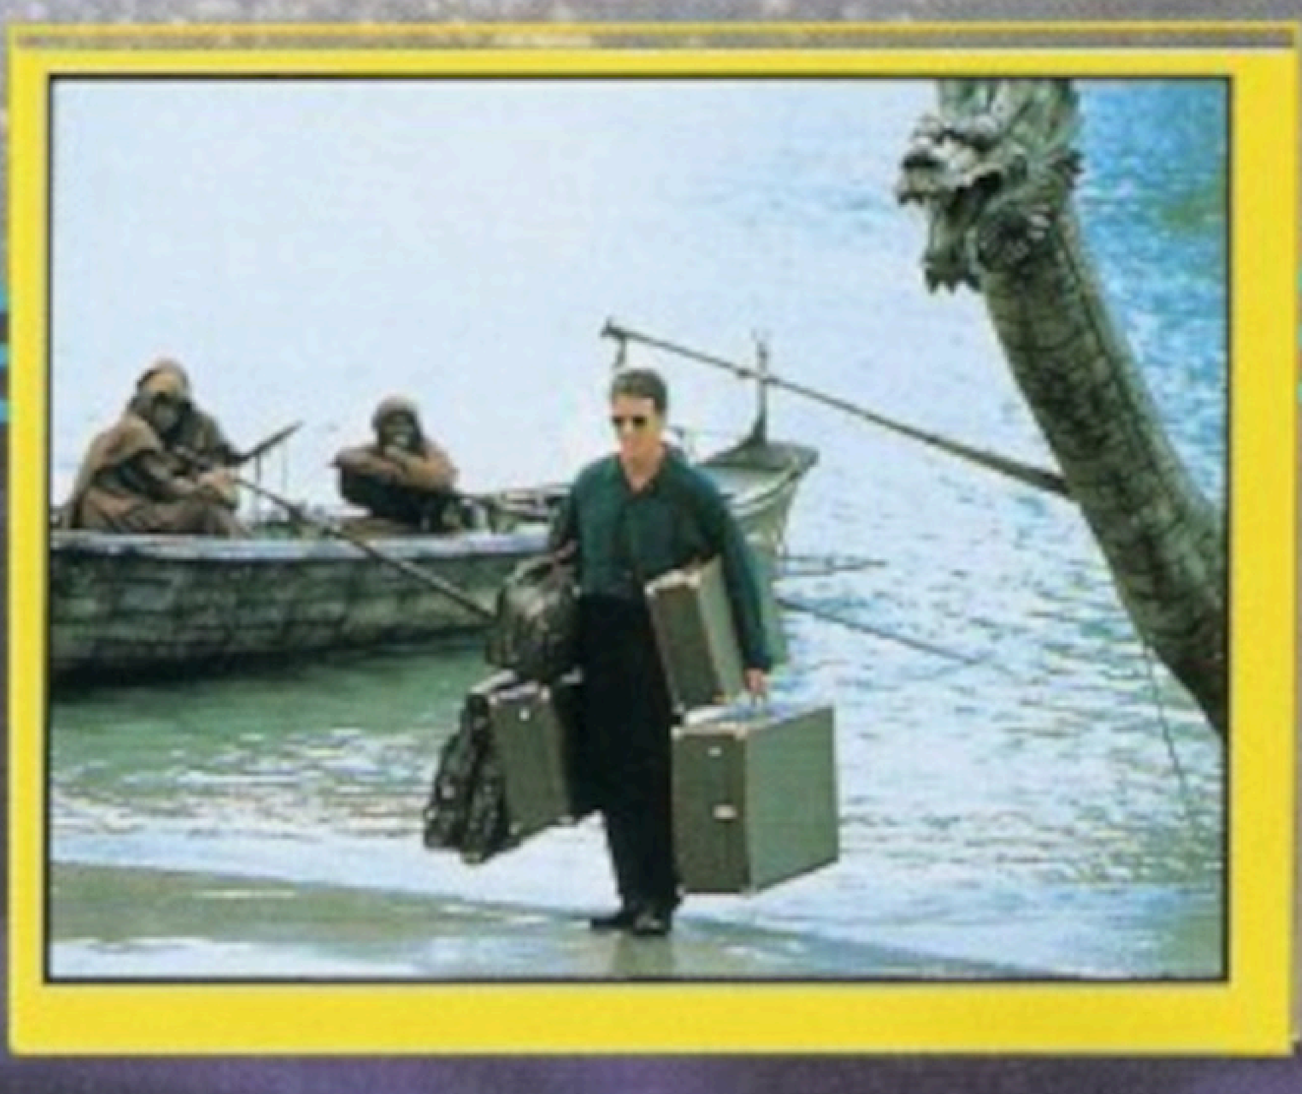

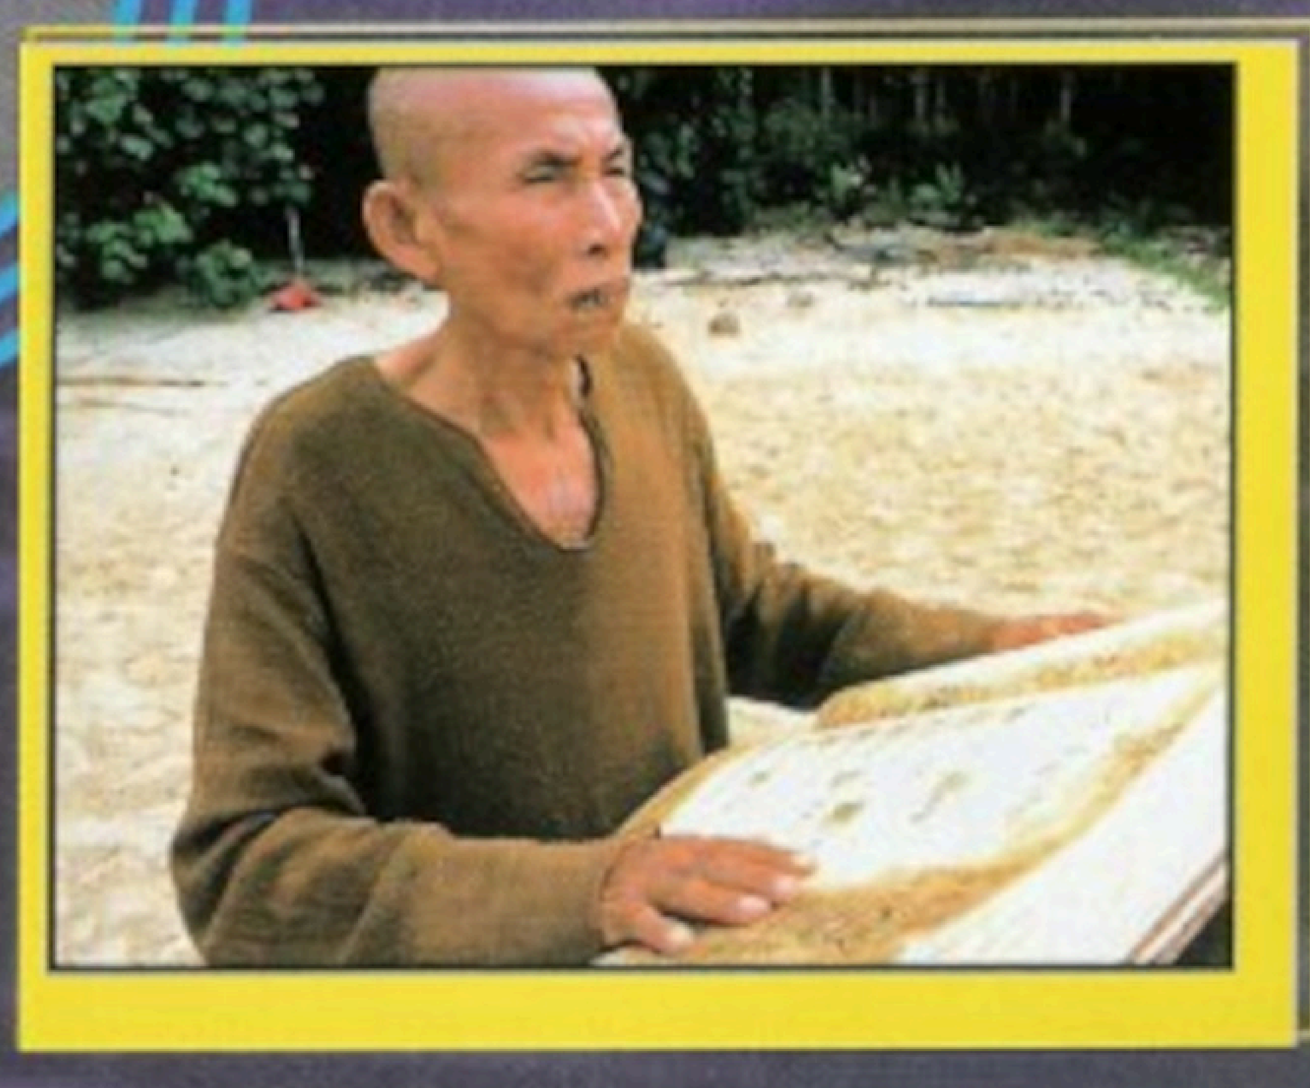

Day breaks on a beautiful but forbidding island. The combatants approach in long boats. Sonya jumps out and wades ashore. Behind, Johnny lugs his four bags. Along the beach, a monk walks with a scroll, checking off names.

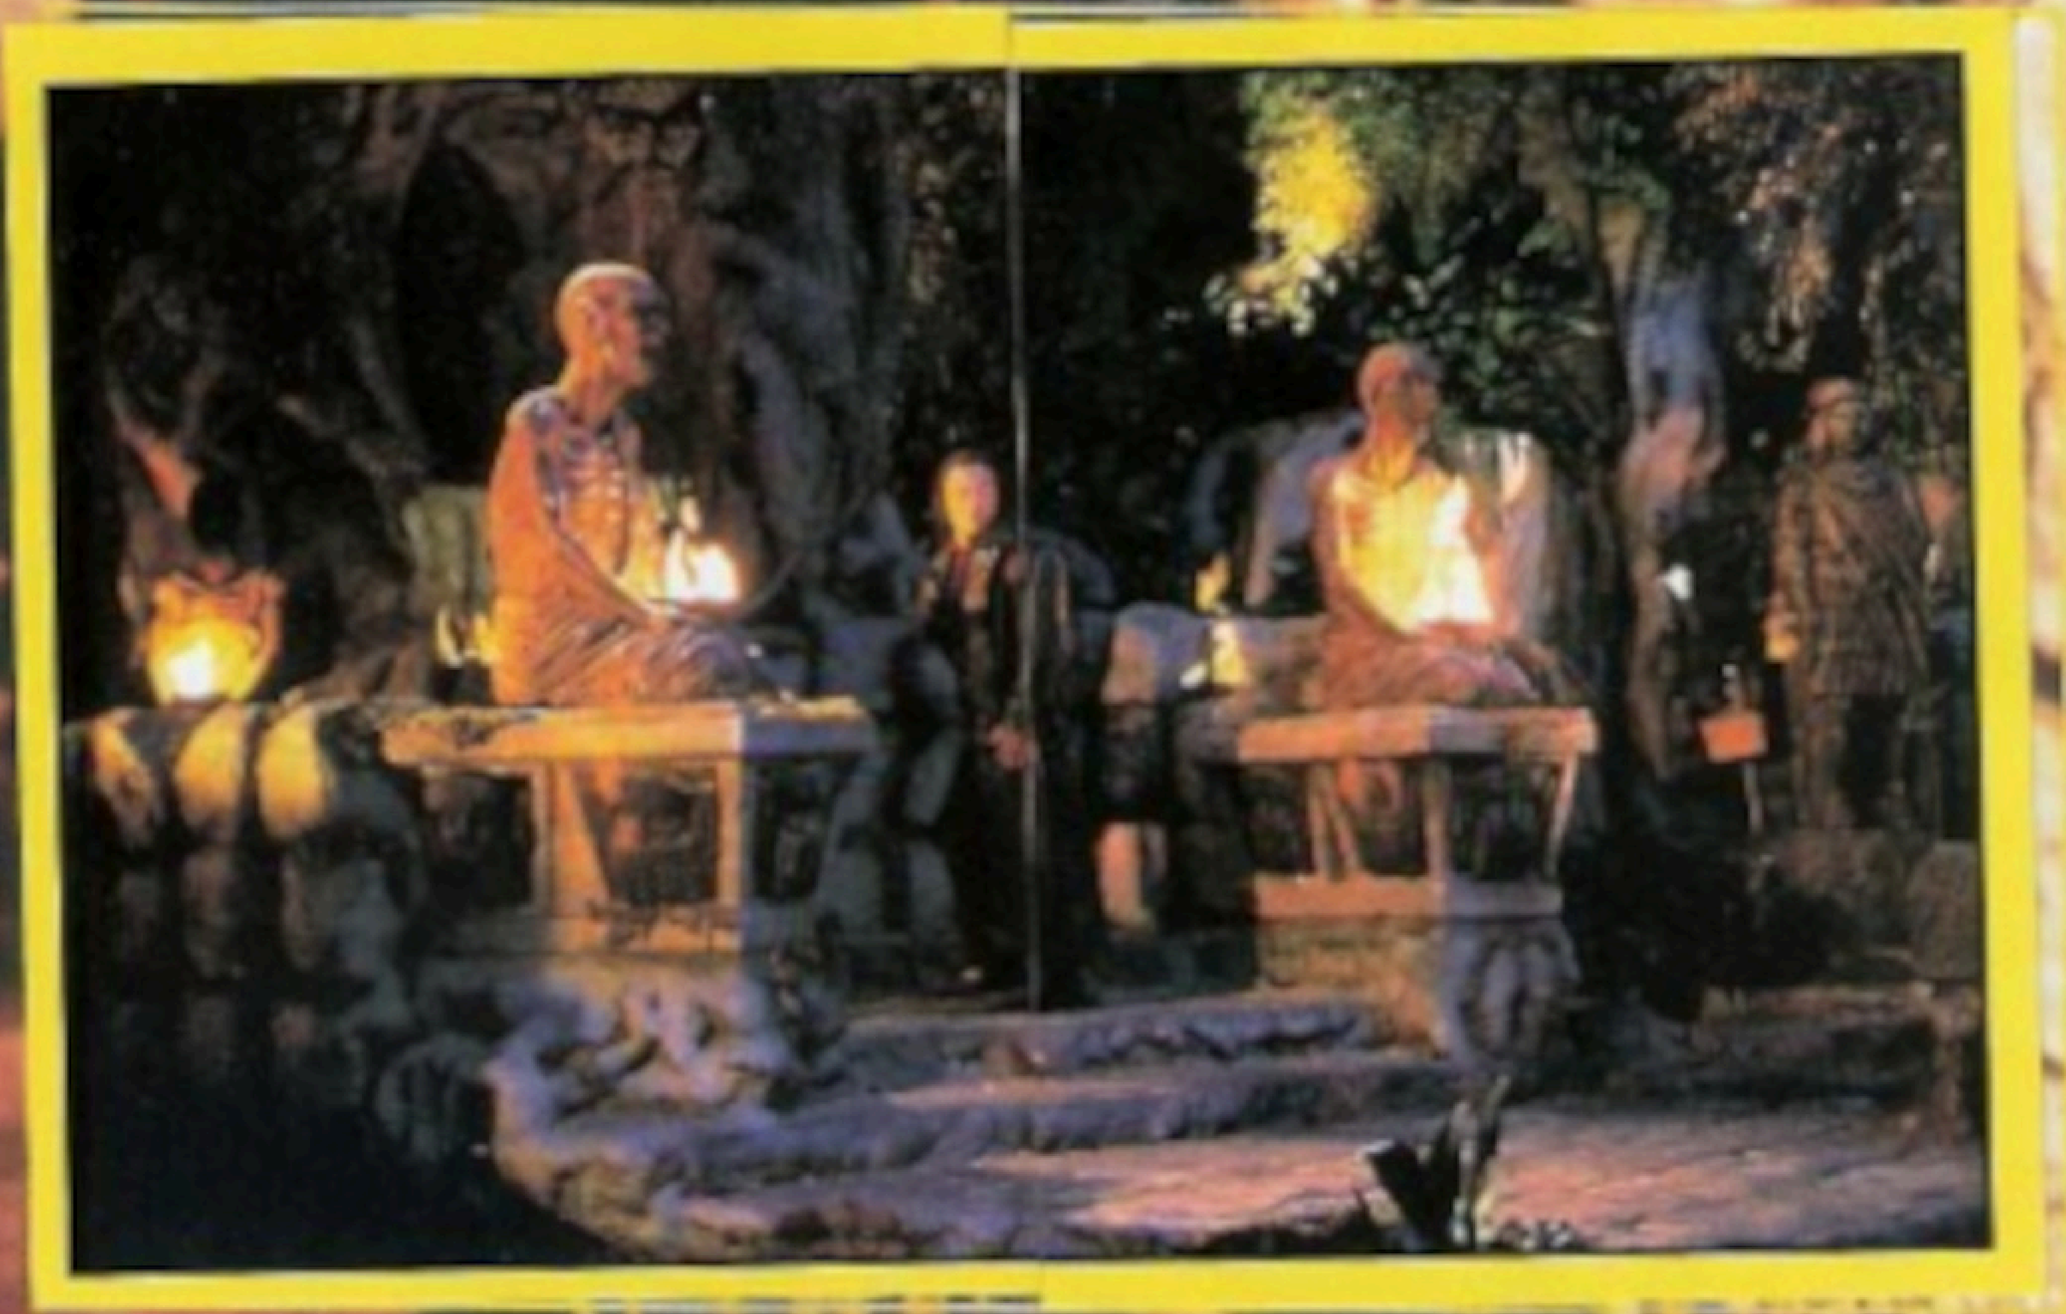

The combatants climb long cliff steps and reach a garden of statues. By a gargoyle statue, Shang quietly gives instructions regarding Princess Kitana, ward of the Emperor of Outworld. "Watch her carefully, Reptile." The gargoyle statue suddenly opens its eyes to reveal Reptile, the chameleon, and slithers off to do its job.

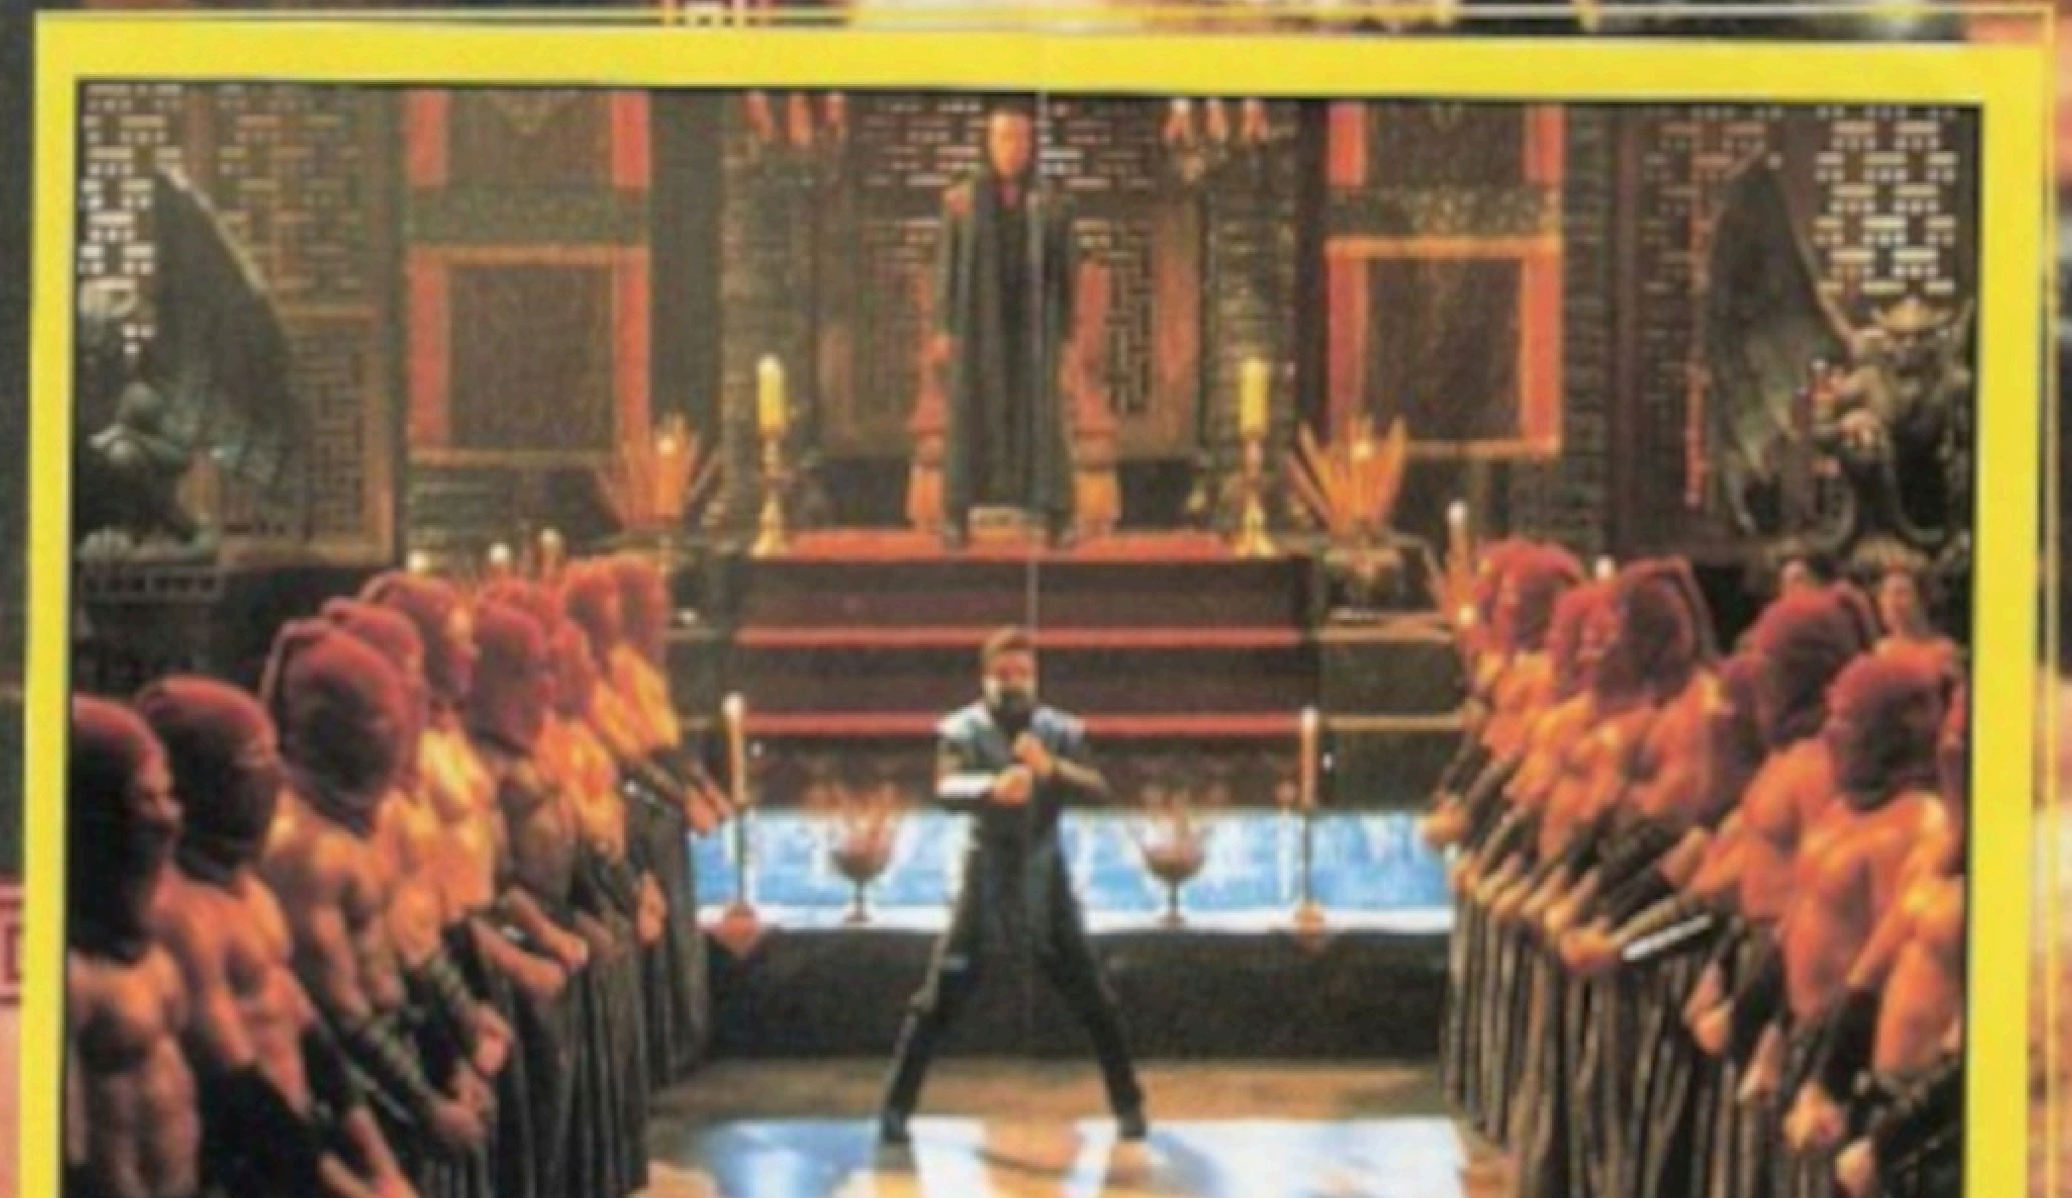

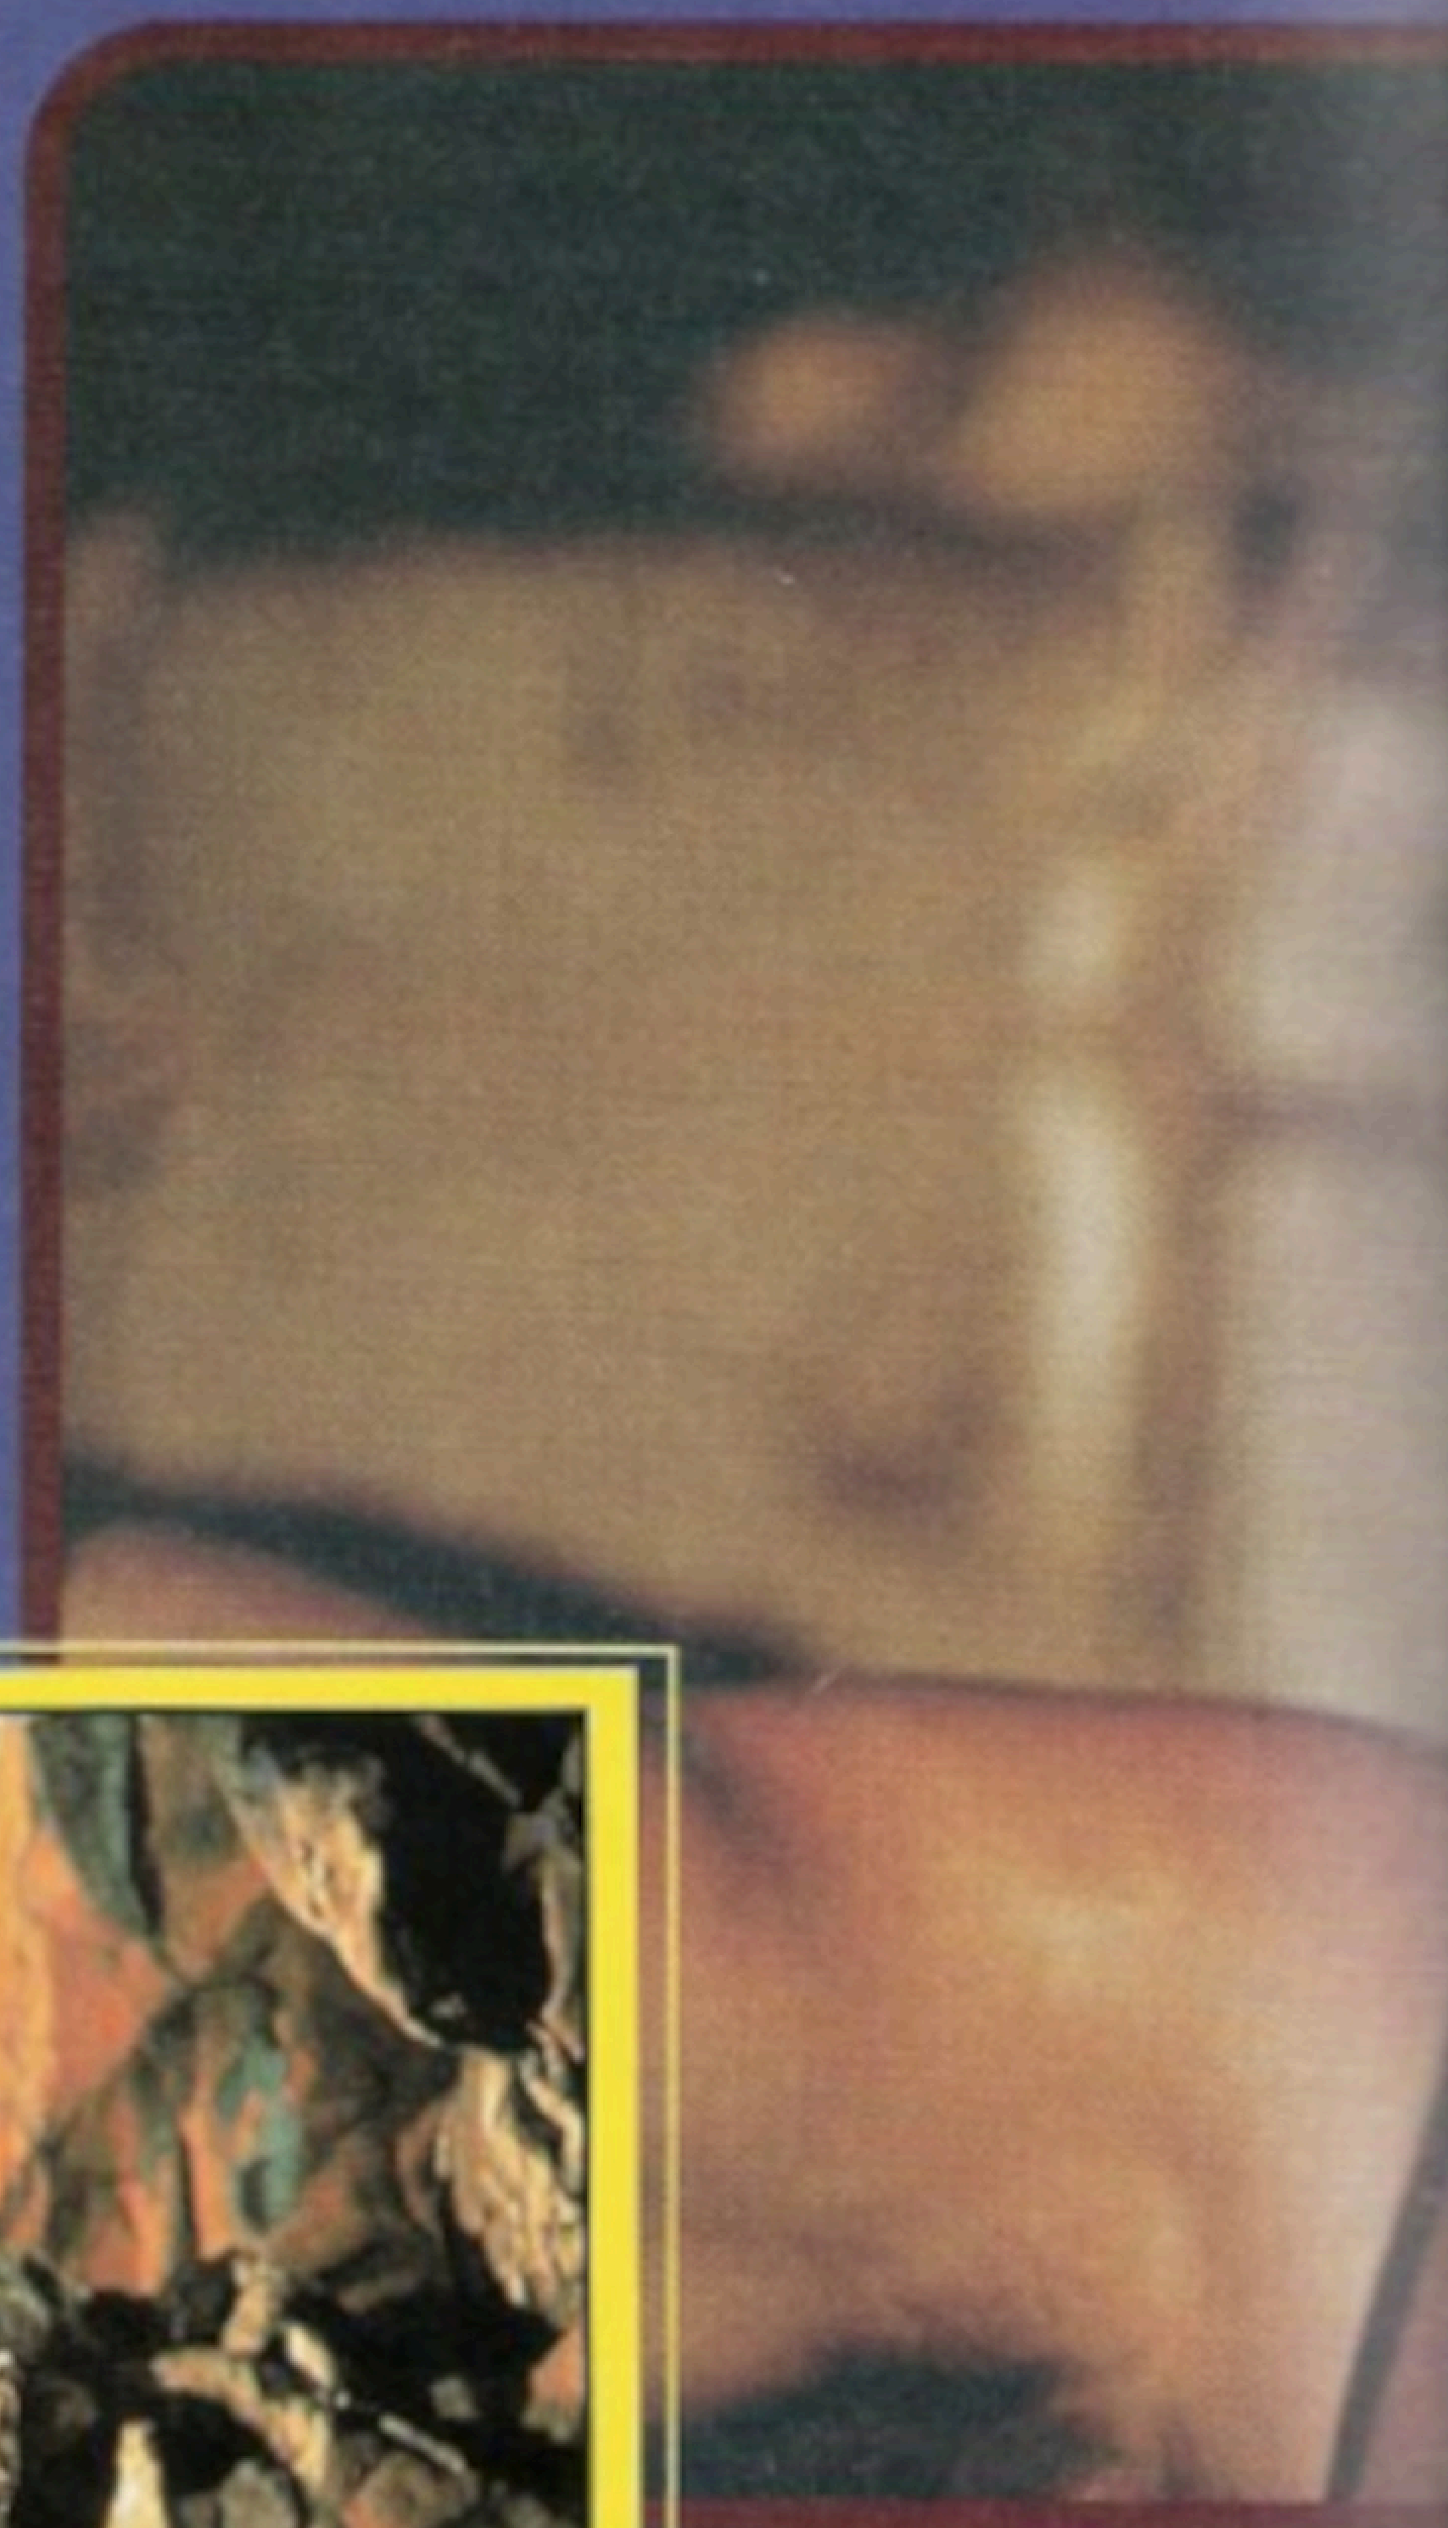

In the Great Hall, members of Outworld perform a demonstration of terrifying power. On the stage, Shang welcomes the assembled warriors. He introduces an Outworld warrior for "a taste of things to come." The Outworld warrior faces off against Sub-Zero, who quickly vanquishes his opponent with a frigid blast. "Flawless victory," approves Shang.

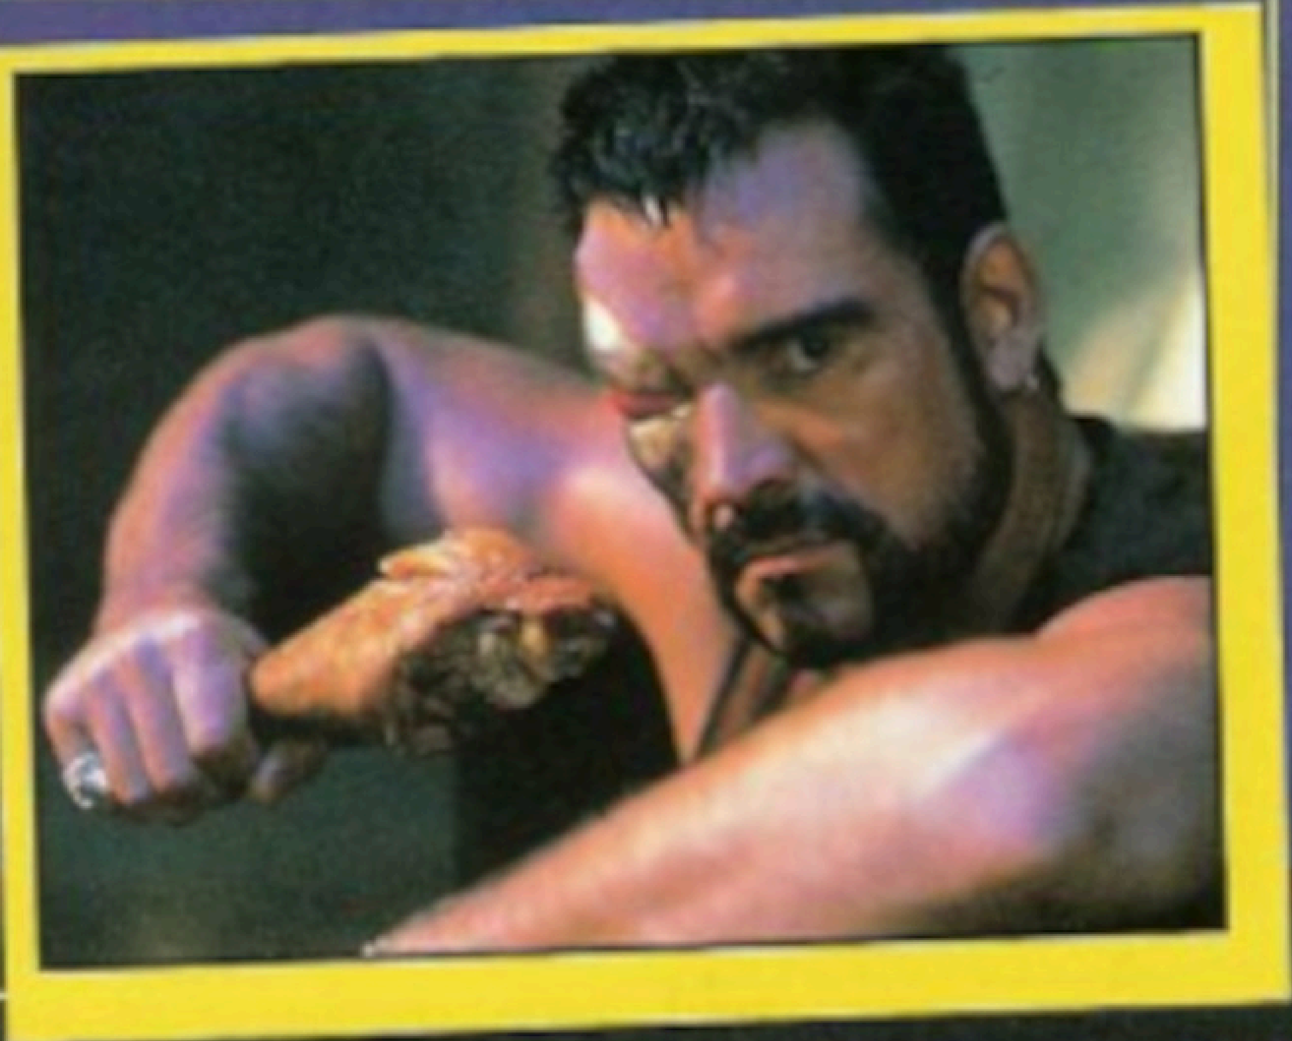

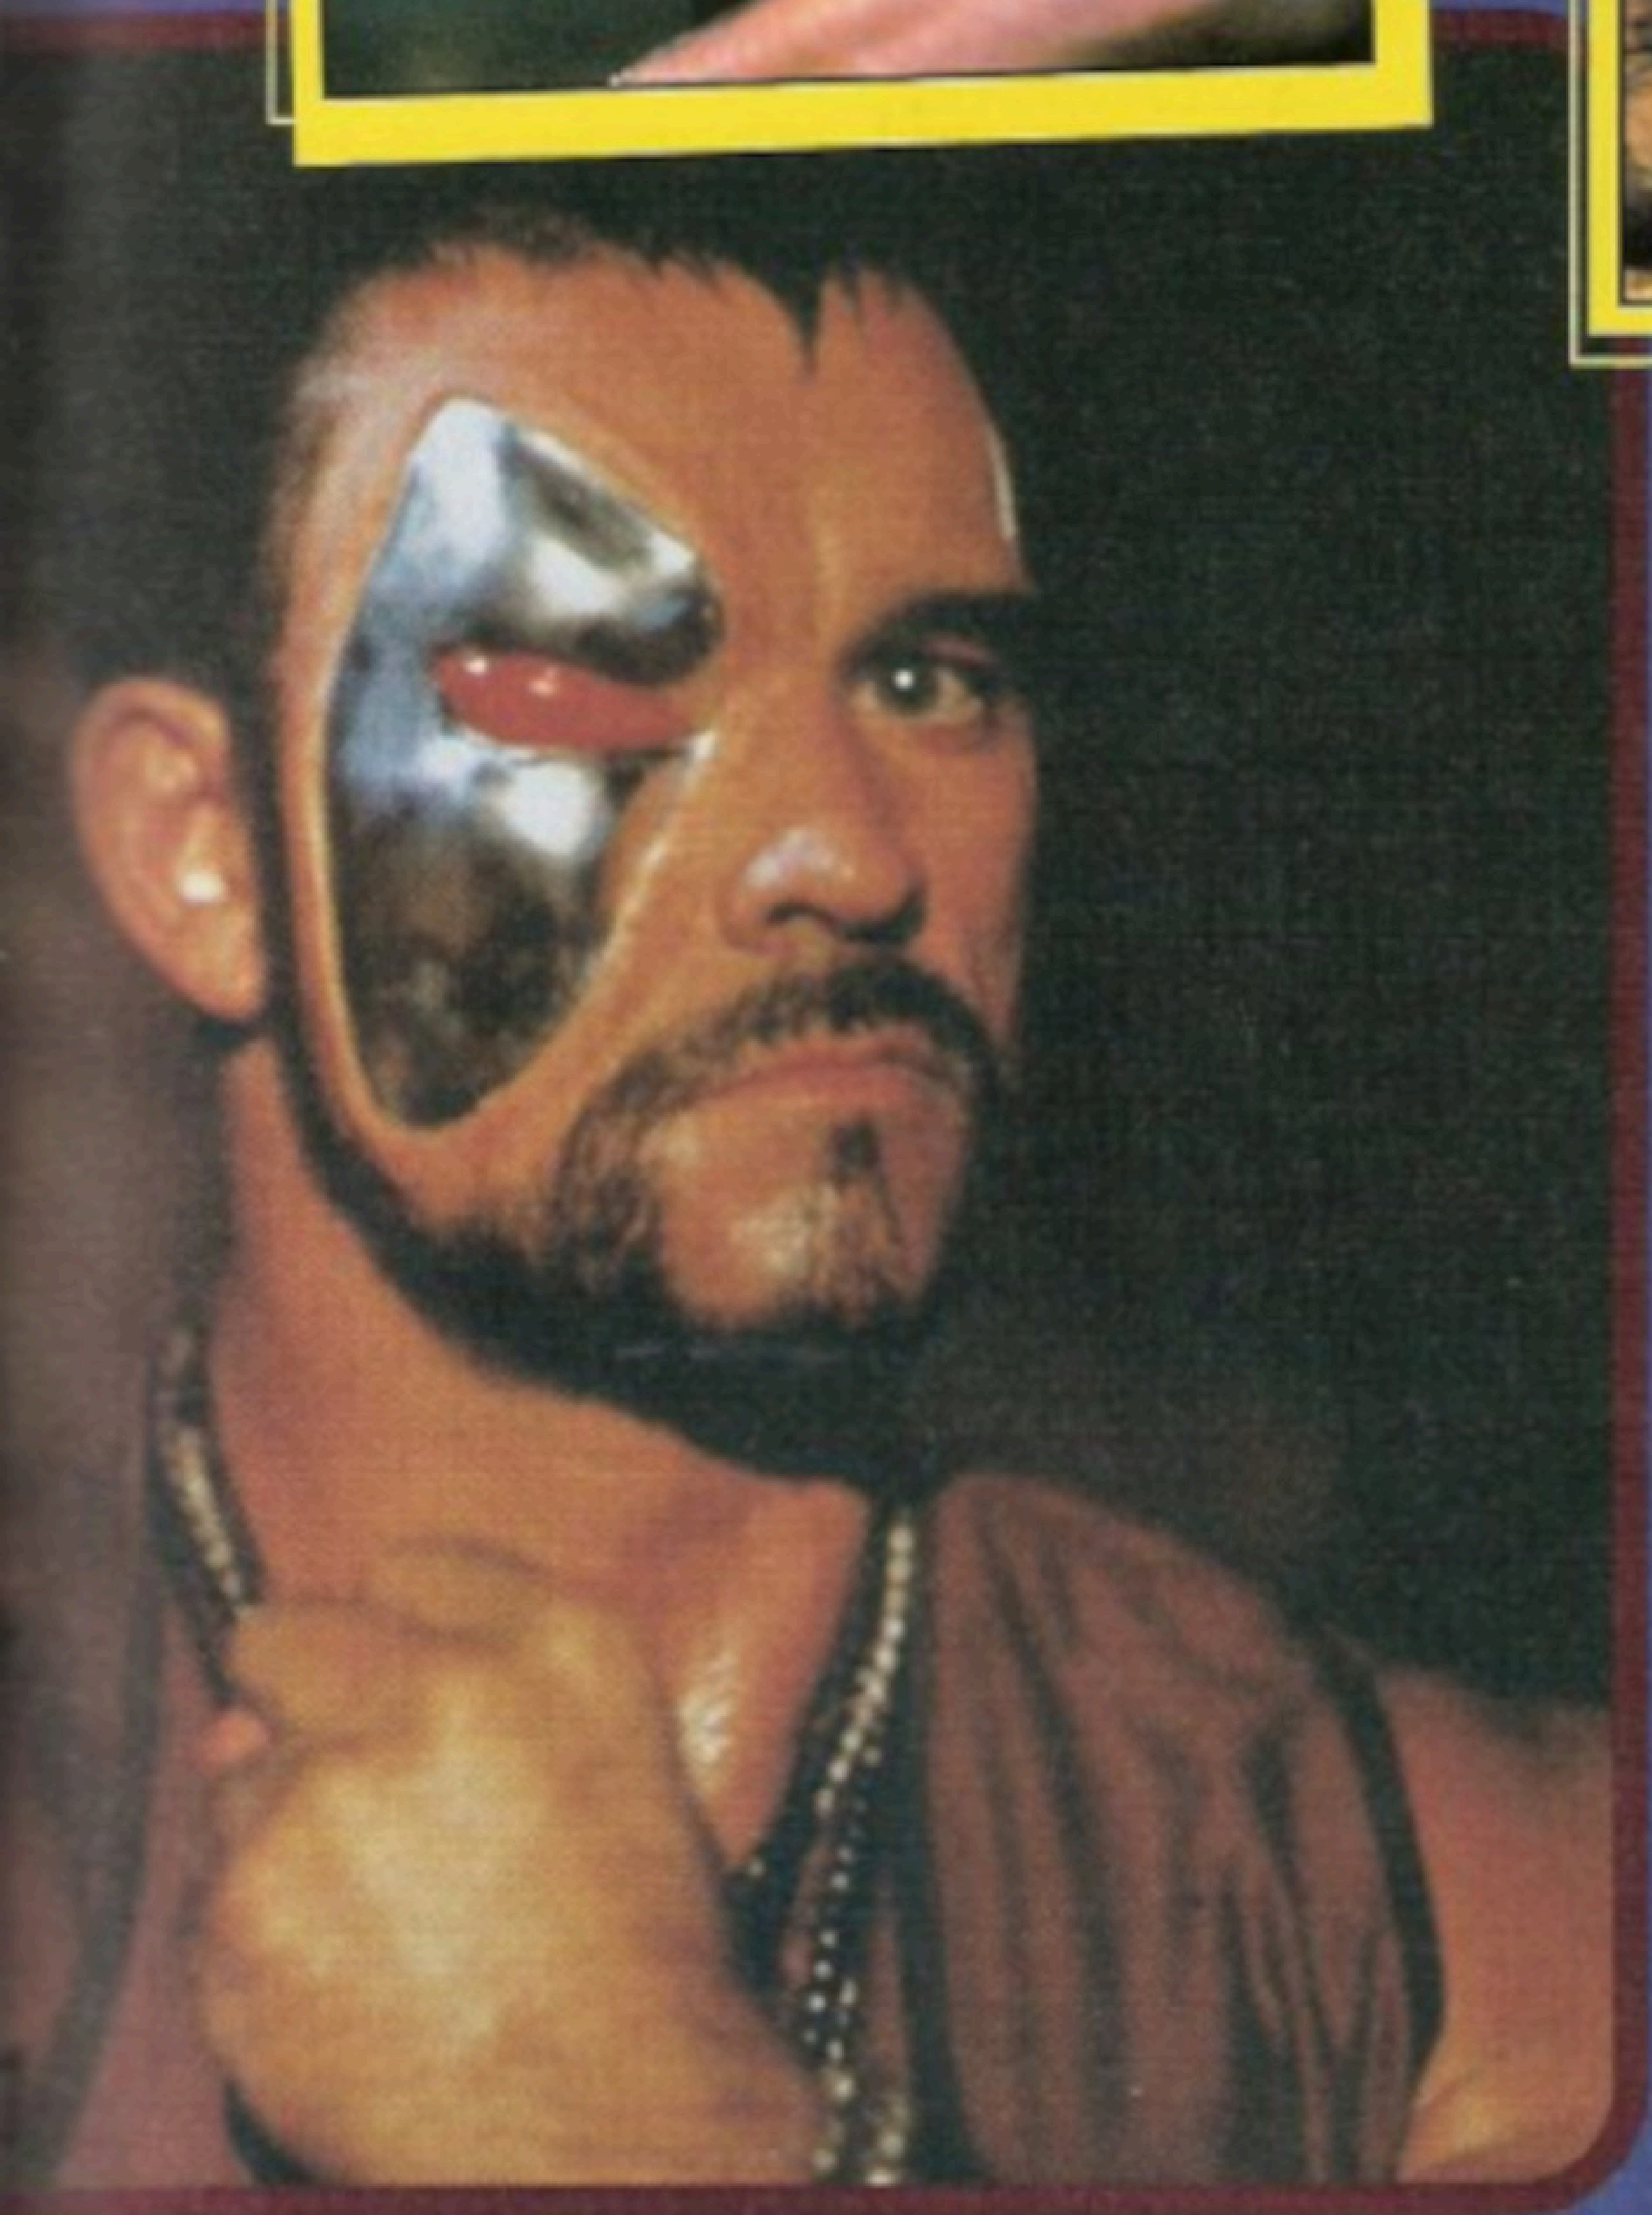

Sonya, Liu, and Johnny follow Shang out of the Great Hall and into a cave. They stumble onto a ledge overlooking the "throne room" of Goro. He's the four-armed, eight-foot tall, undefeated champion of Mortal Kombat. Across a table covered with food sits Kano.

Goro tells him that Shang "learned the black arts from the Emperor himself." Kano asks, "You're some kind of royalty, too, right?" He replies "I am Goro, general of the armies of Outworld." Suddenly, Shang enters with a warning for him. "Don't underestimate the power and resourcefulness of the humans. And the Princess Kitana must not be allowed to join with them." Goro is unimpressed.

Just as our heroes decide to leave, their presence is discovered. Six Outworld warriors give chase! Liu, Johnny and Sonya race through the tunnels. At one point Liu gets a glimpse of Princess Kitana. He pursues her, but she slips away while he is distracted. The three continue running until they come to a chamber. To their shock, they are back in Goro's throne room!

The Outworld warriors catch up and encircle our heroes. They attack! Their assault is relentless! Finally, our heroes defeat their Outworld foes. The sound of slow applause intrudes. It is Rayden! He leads the three out and tells them, "You must first face your fears. These are your true enemies. Tomorrow the Tournament begins and you must be prepared!"

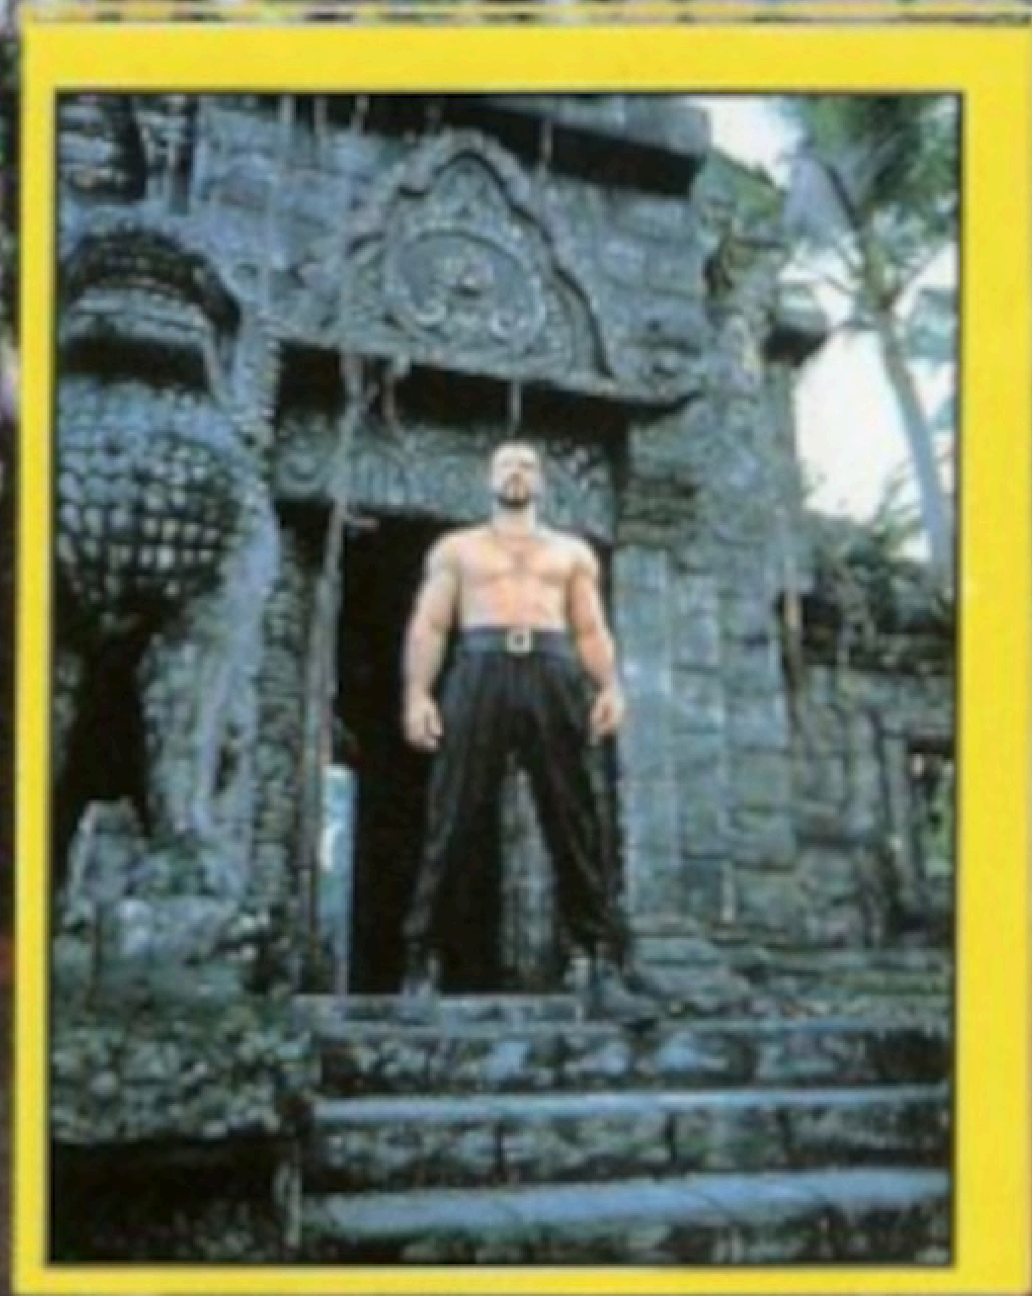

FLAWLESS

On the first day of the Tournament, the island is beautiful and mysterious. Standing by his throne, Shang announces, "Let Mortal Kombat begin!" The first match pits Liu against a muscle-bound Outworld warrior. The warrior displays some unusual moves, but is no match for Liu. In her match, Sonya is presented with Kano. He taunts her, "I've studied all your moves, sweetheart." "Then study this!" Sonya kicks her arch-enemy, making him drop his knife. Kano nevertheless overpowers Sonya. Then, Sonya does a springing handstand and catches Kano with her legs. She throws him to the ground and wins the match.

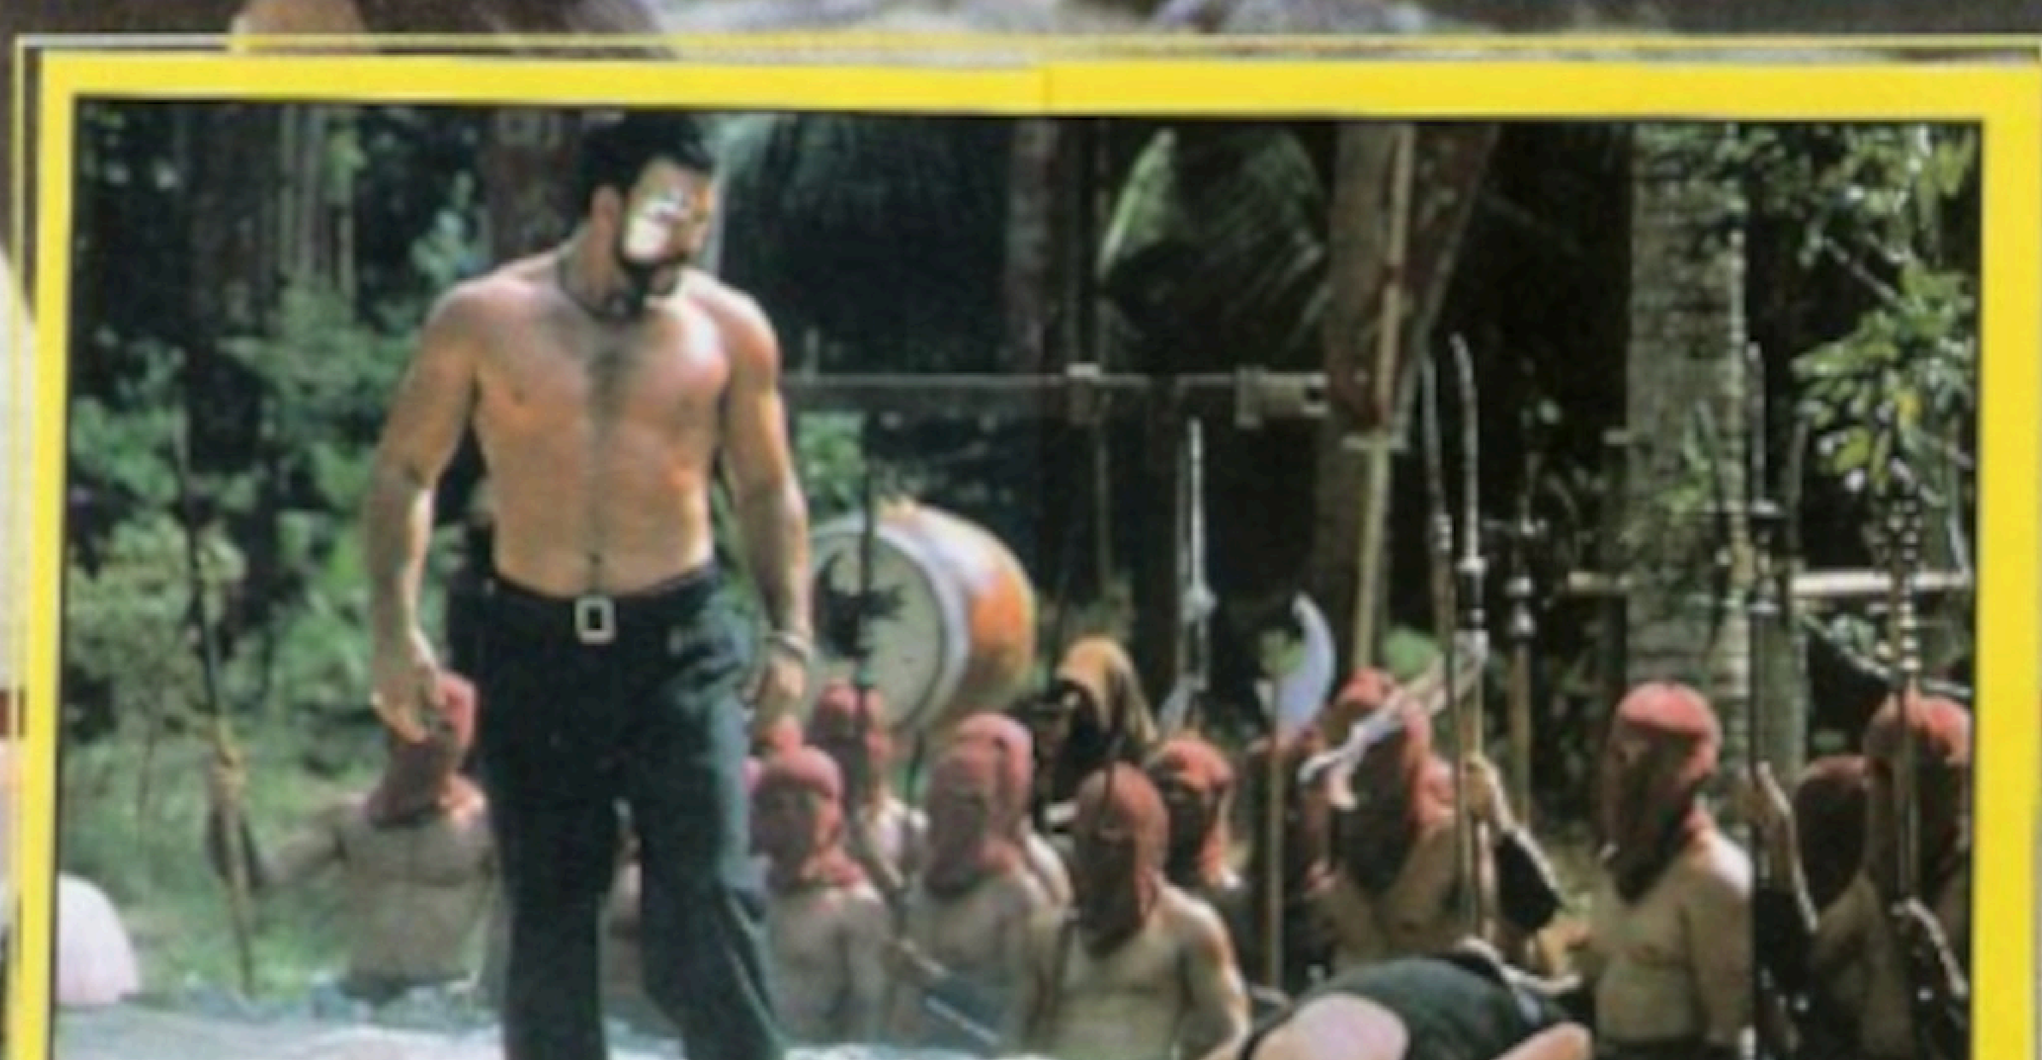

VICTORY!

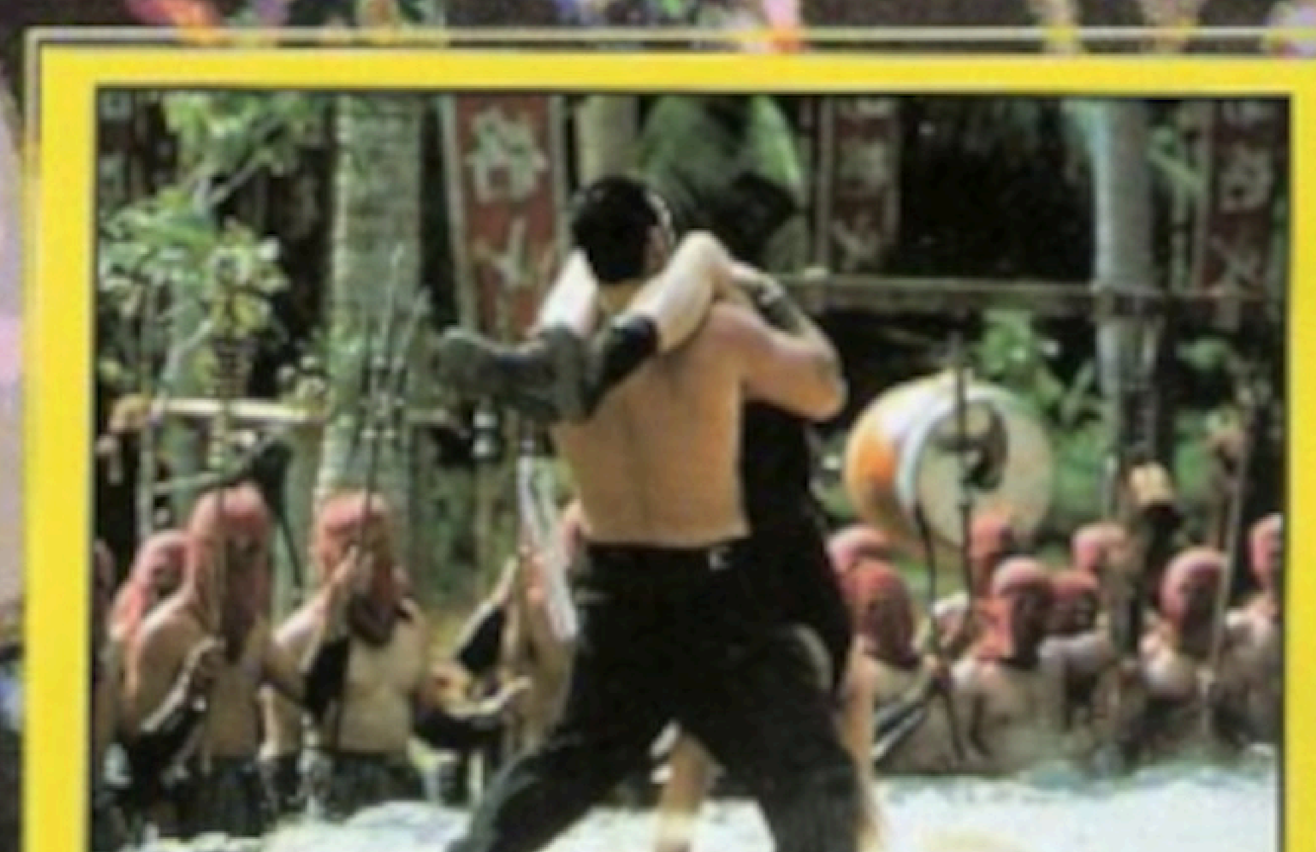

Next, Johnny must fight off Scorpion's spike-like creature. He leaps and throws his signature "shadow kick." All of a sudden, both fighters are mysteriously transported to Scorpion's lair, where they engage in a fight to the finish.

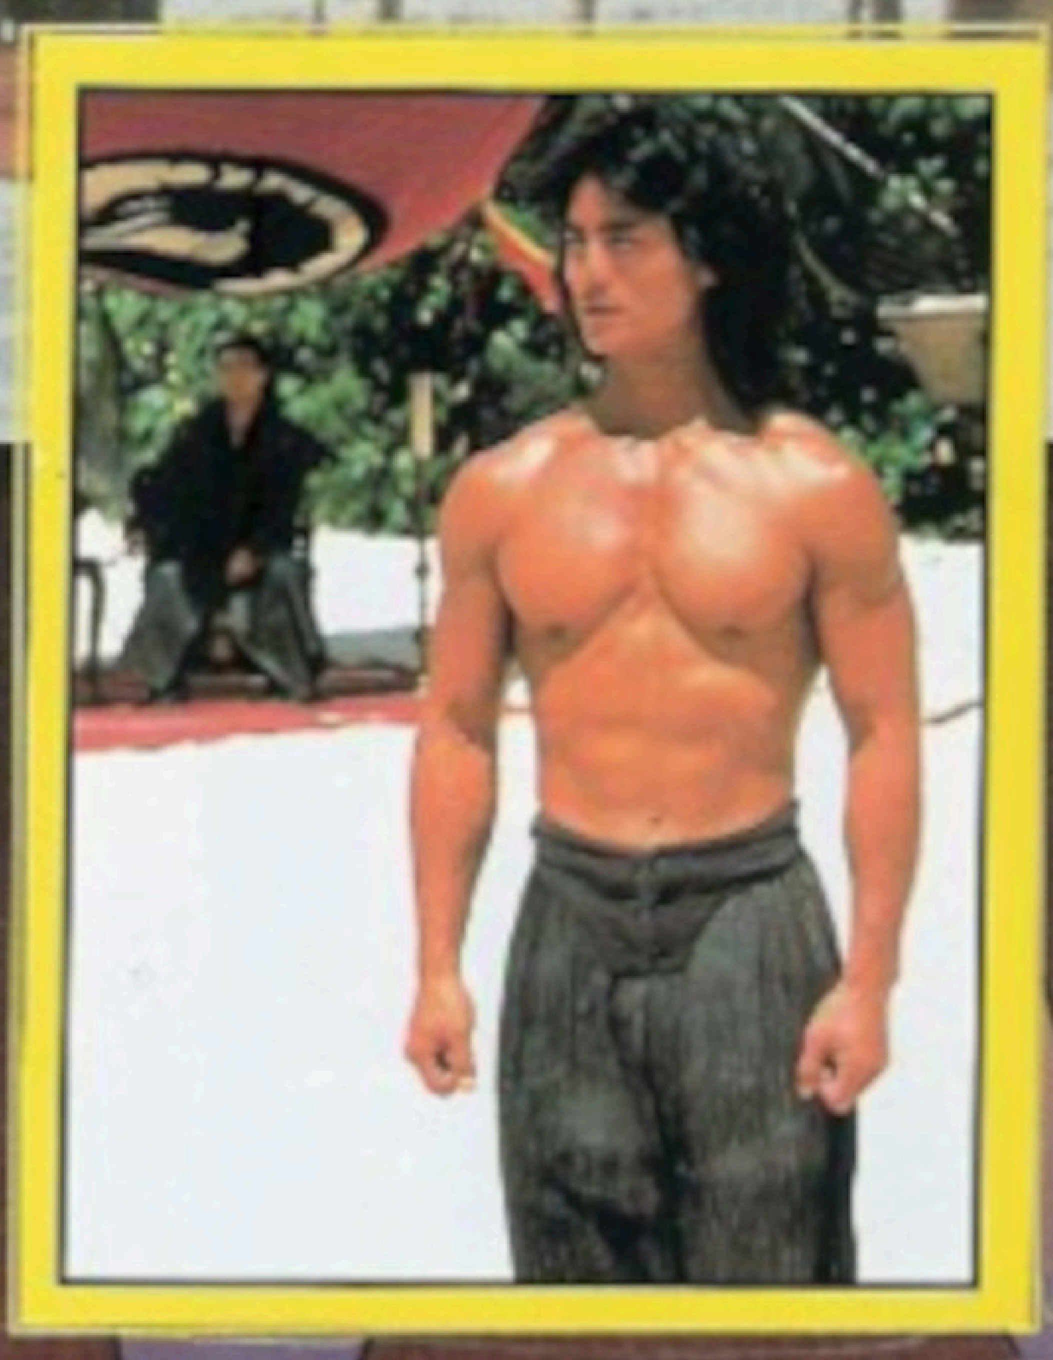

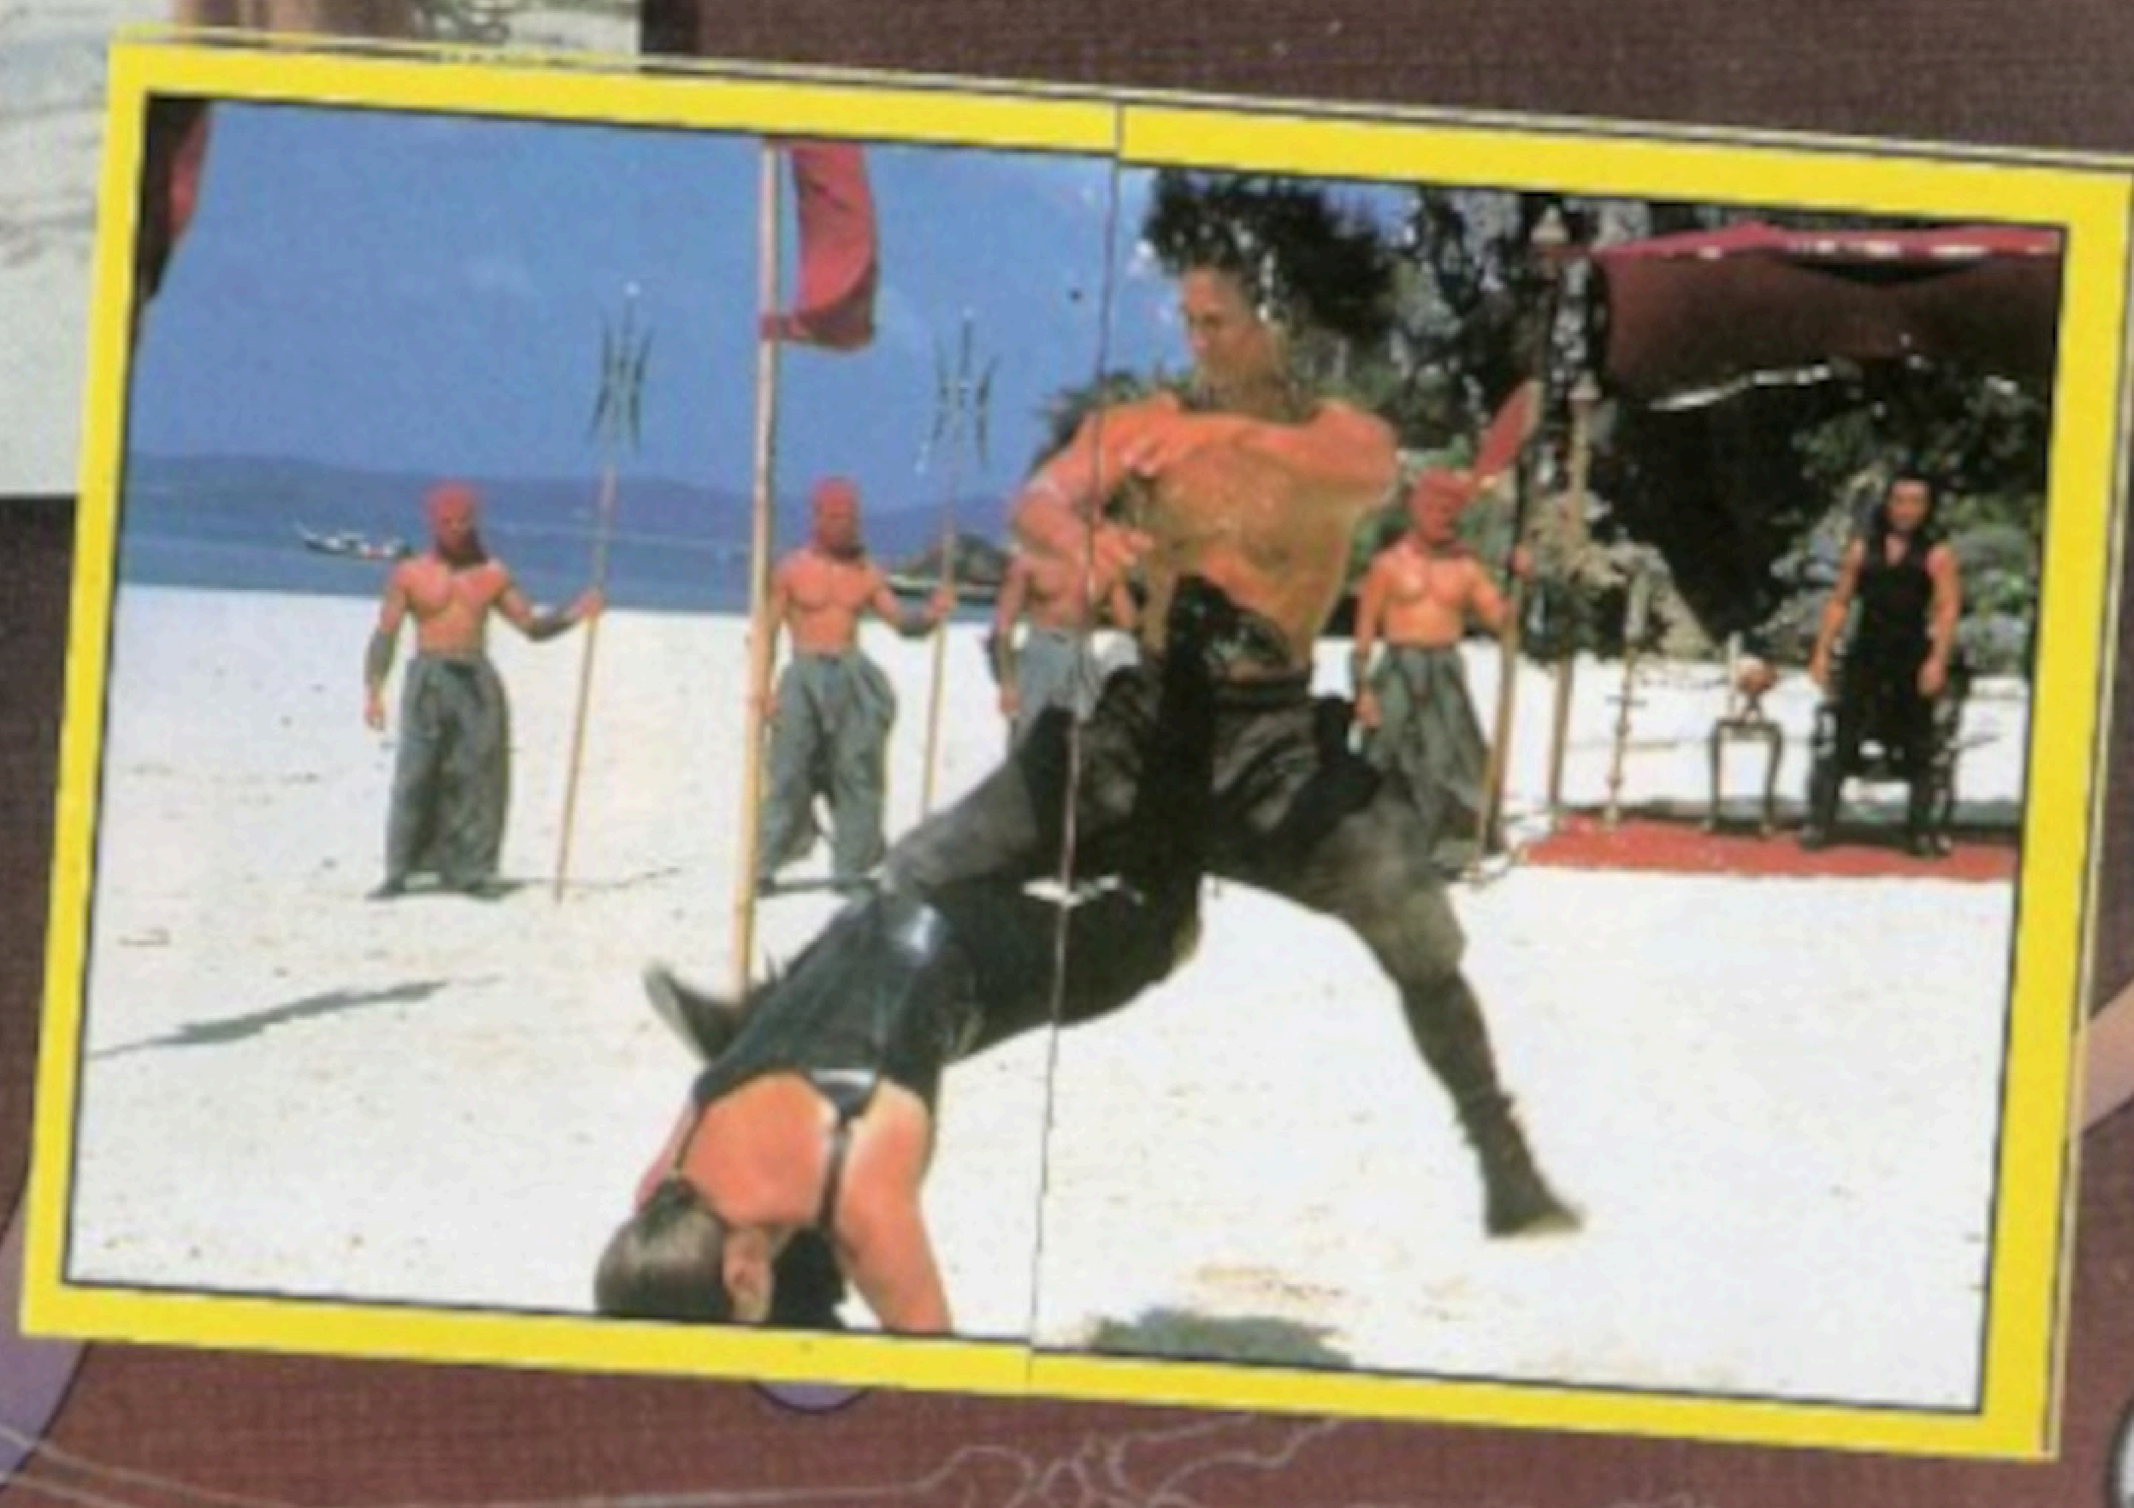

In his next match, to his surprise, Liu faces off against the Princess Kitana. She manages to pin him to the mat and whisper, "To win your next match, use the element which brings life." Liu is thrown off, but quickly recovers, wrestles Kitana down, and wins.

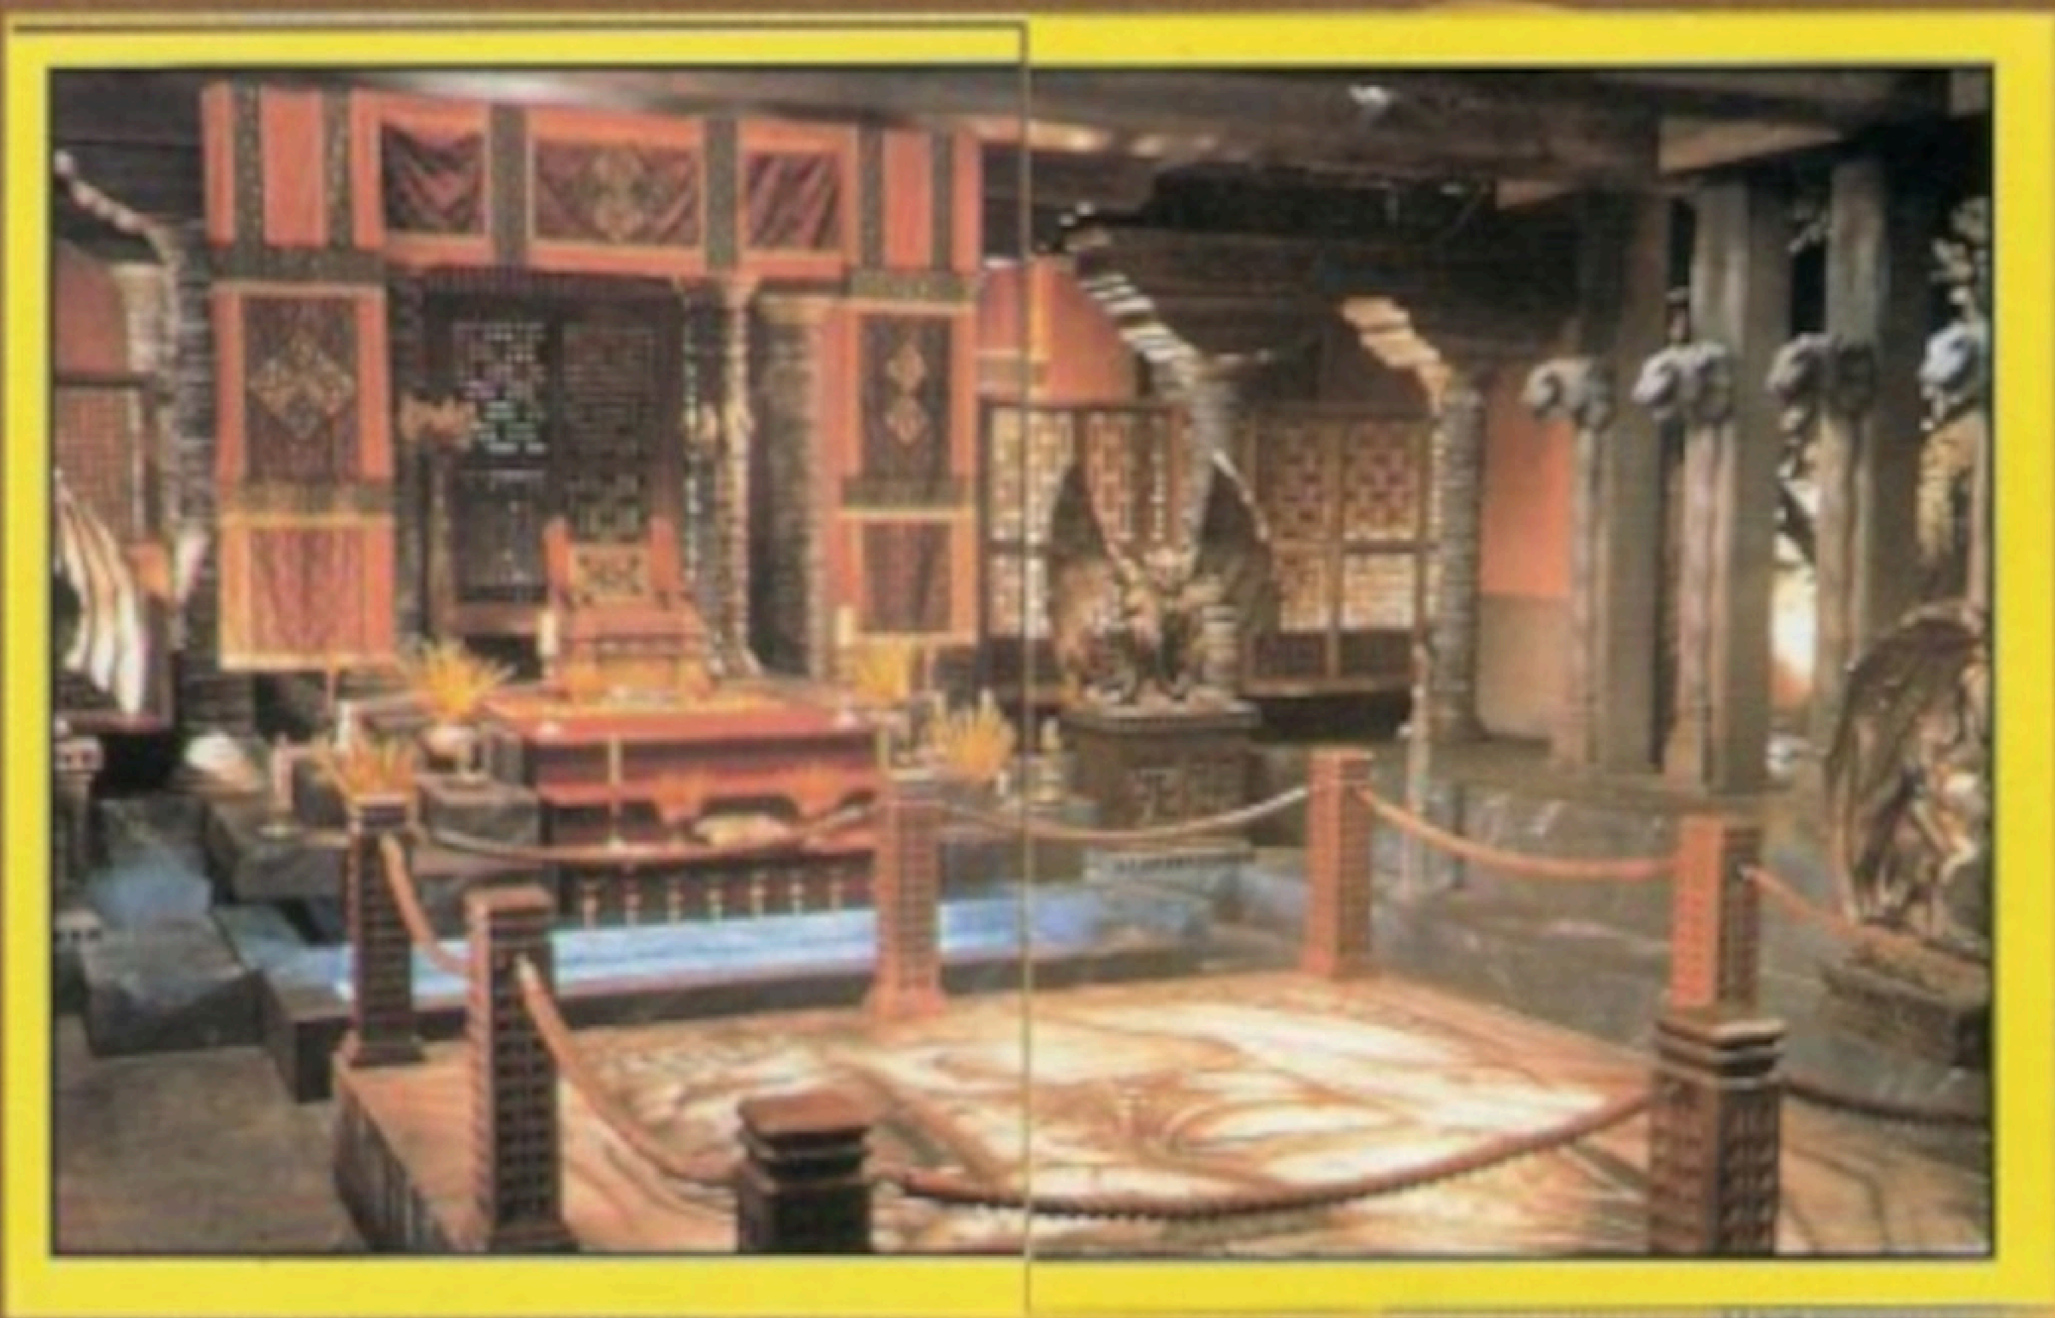

Disguised as a beggar, Rayden enters the Great Hall, sets down a pole with two buckets of water hanging from it, and leaves. Liu is led into the Great Hall, where he is confronted by Sub-Zero. They fight, and Liu is knocked down by waves of intense cold flowing from Sub-Zero's body. Liu sees a bucket and recalls Kitana's riddle-like whisper, "Use the element which brings life." "Water!" he exclaims. Liu clutches the rope on the remaining bucket, spins, and hurls the bucket. The water freezes in mid-air, forming an ice spear that finishes Sub-Zero. His body freezes into solid ice.

It is the last bout of the long first day, and torches illuminate the hall. Huge drums beat slowly as Goro makes his entrance. There is a wave of exclamations from the hall at the sight of his massive and frightening figure. Liu, Sonya, and Johnny are hypnotized as well. Goro faces off against Art Lean, who takes the offensive.

Johnny cheers from the side for his new-found friend. Art gives the match his best, but finally Goro defeats him with his windmill fists. "Flawless victory," pronounces Shang. Goro stares up at his master. Then he offers Art's lifeless body to Shang and kneels. Shang raises his hand. A mysterious wind blows and the torches flicker. A ghostly form rises from Art's body. It is his spirit. Awful sounds fill the hall as Shang extends his arm towards Art's spirit and says, "Your soul is mine." Art's spirit is swiftly sucked into Shang's eye!

Challenged by Johnny, Goro shows up with a ferocious roar! However, Johnny's planning this time enables him to quickly knock Goro off the cliff. "No! Let me go!" screams Sonya as she is held in a grip by Shang. "I hereby exercise my right to challenge her!" announces the sorcerer. They both disappear in a whirlwind into the wastelands of Outworld. Johnny and Liu follow them through the tunnel. They find themselves among the remnants of a devastated ancient city. The roads are lined with twisted metal gargoyles containing Outworld victims.

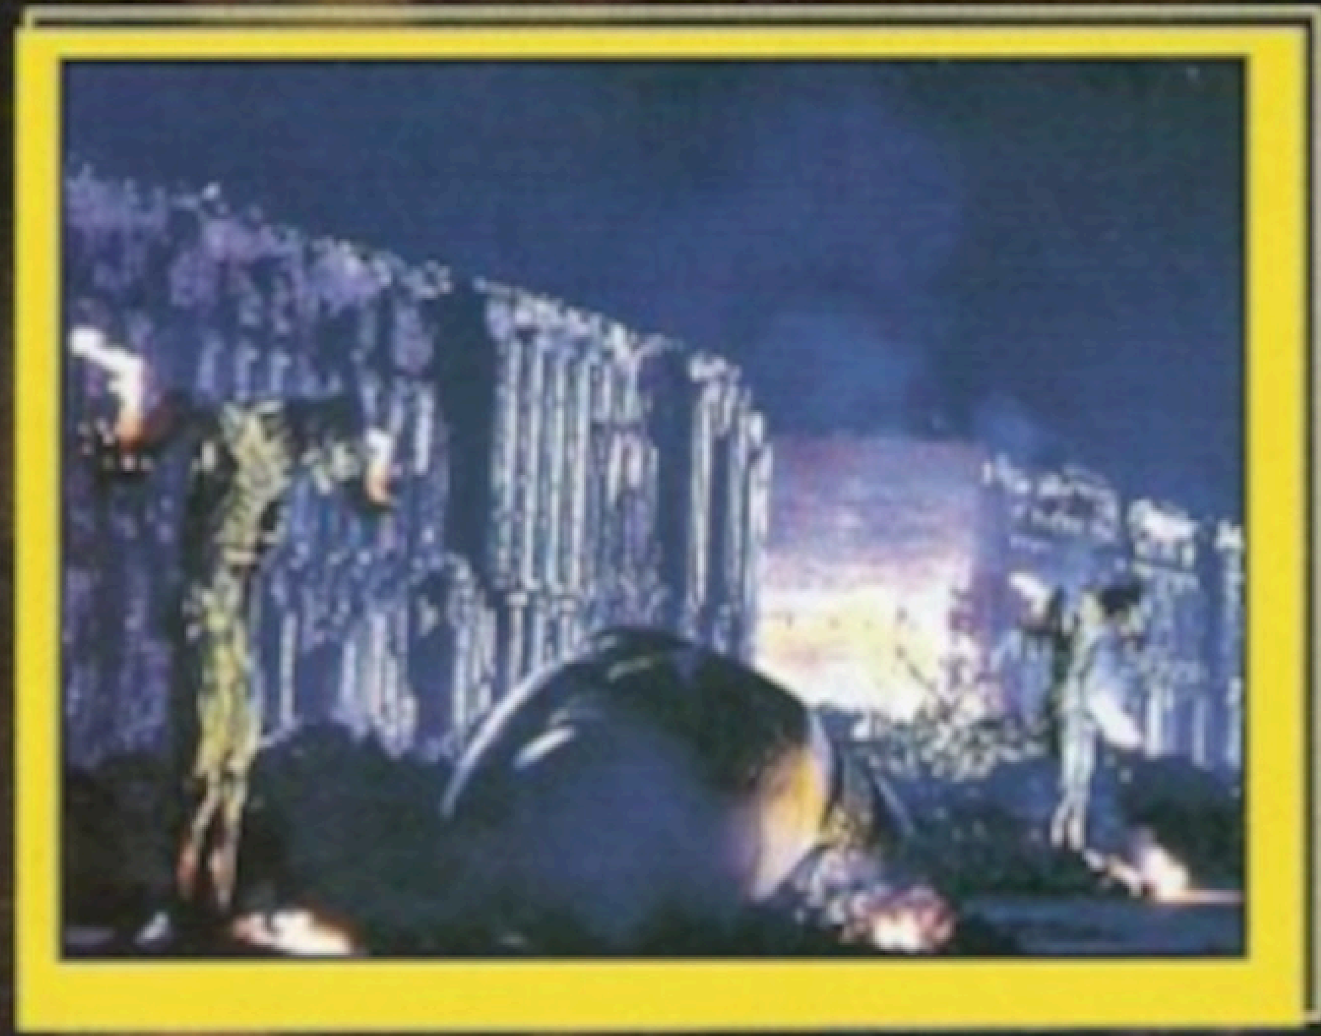

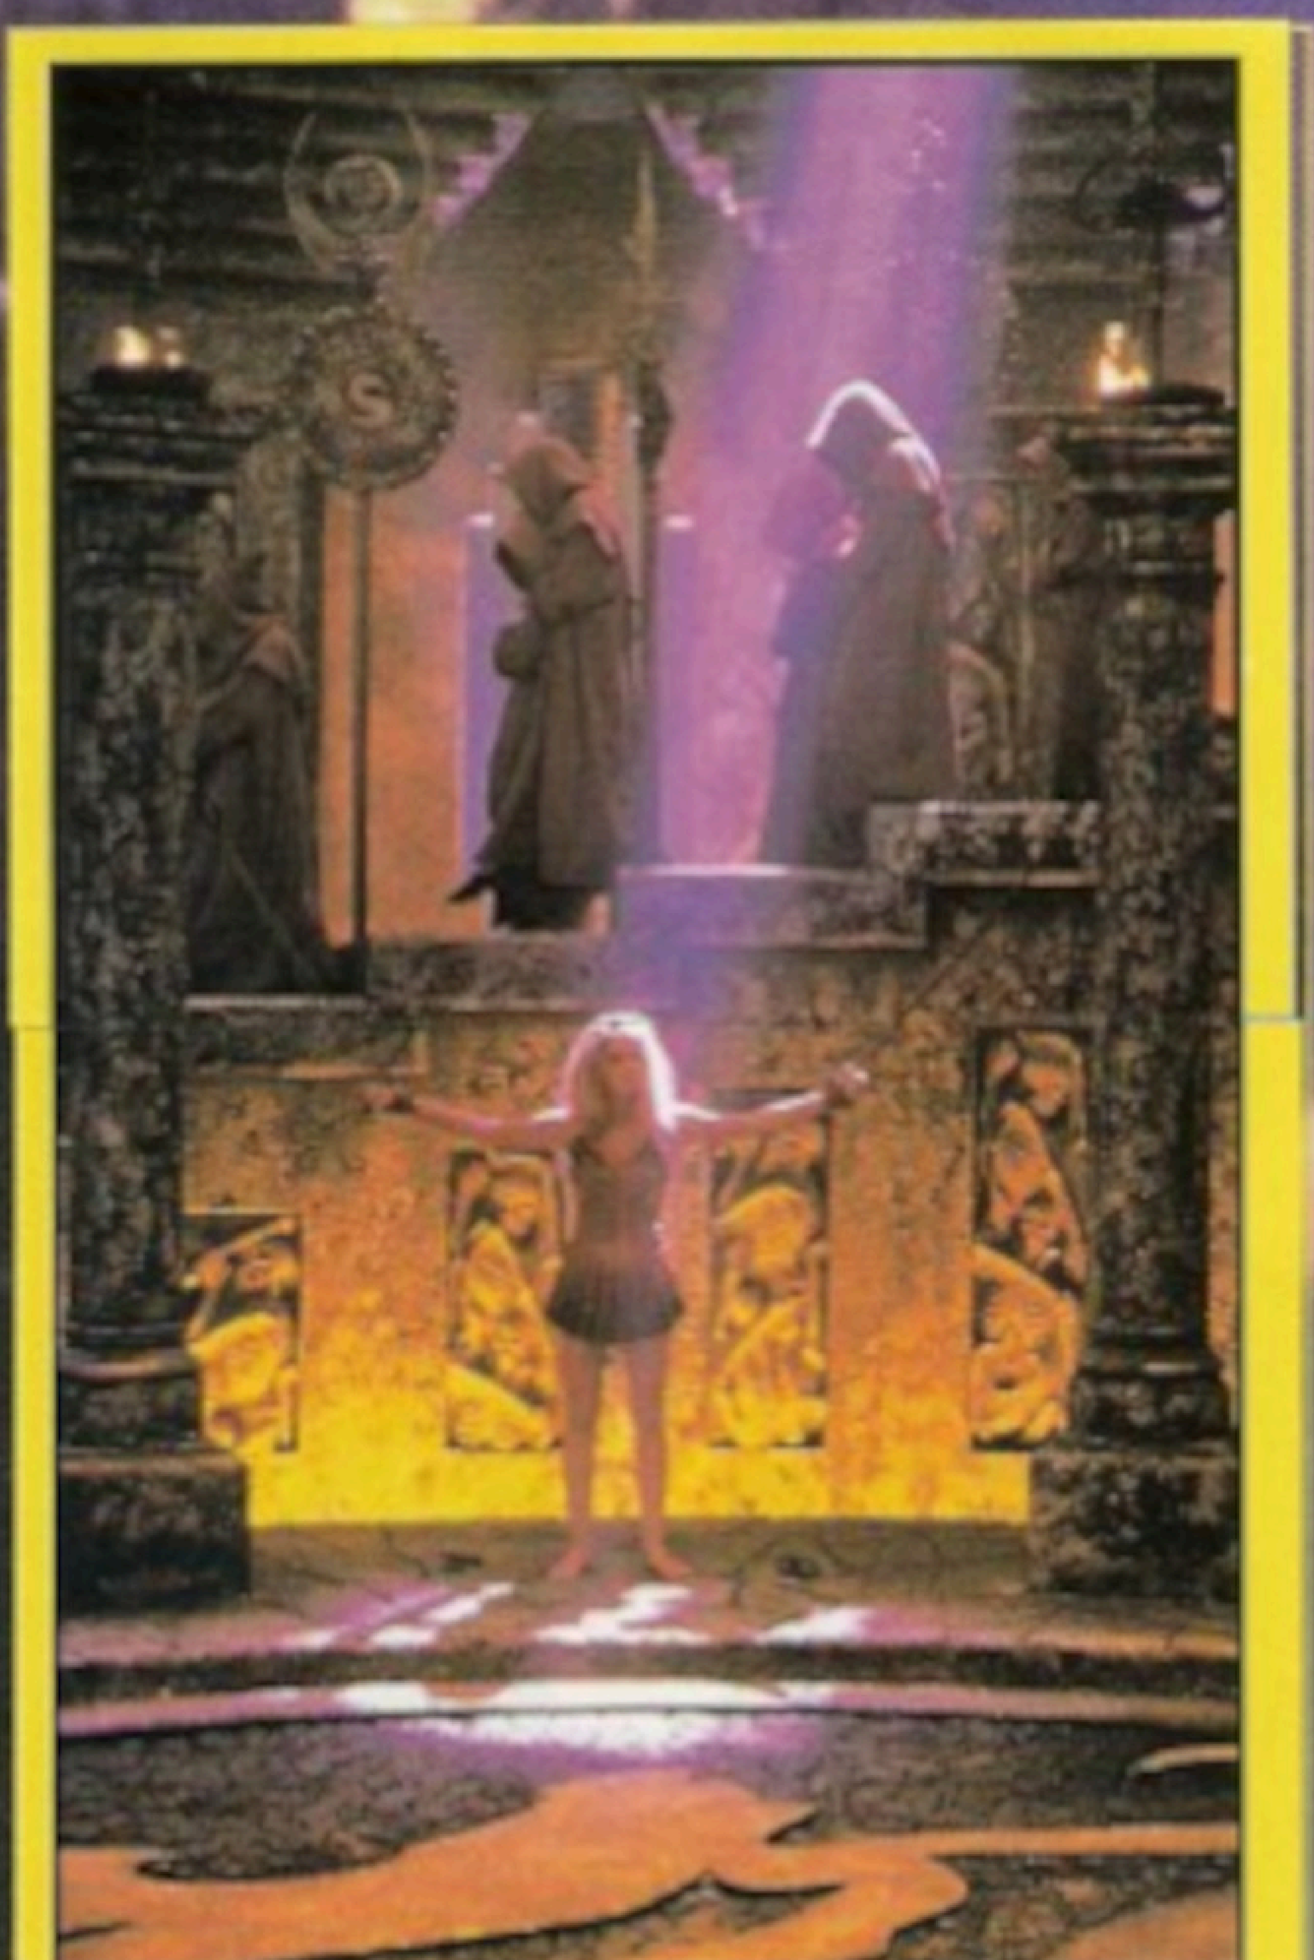

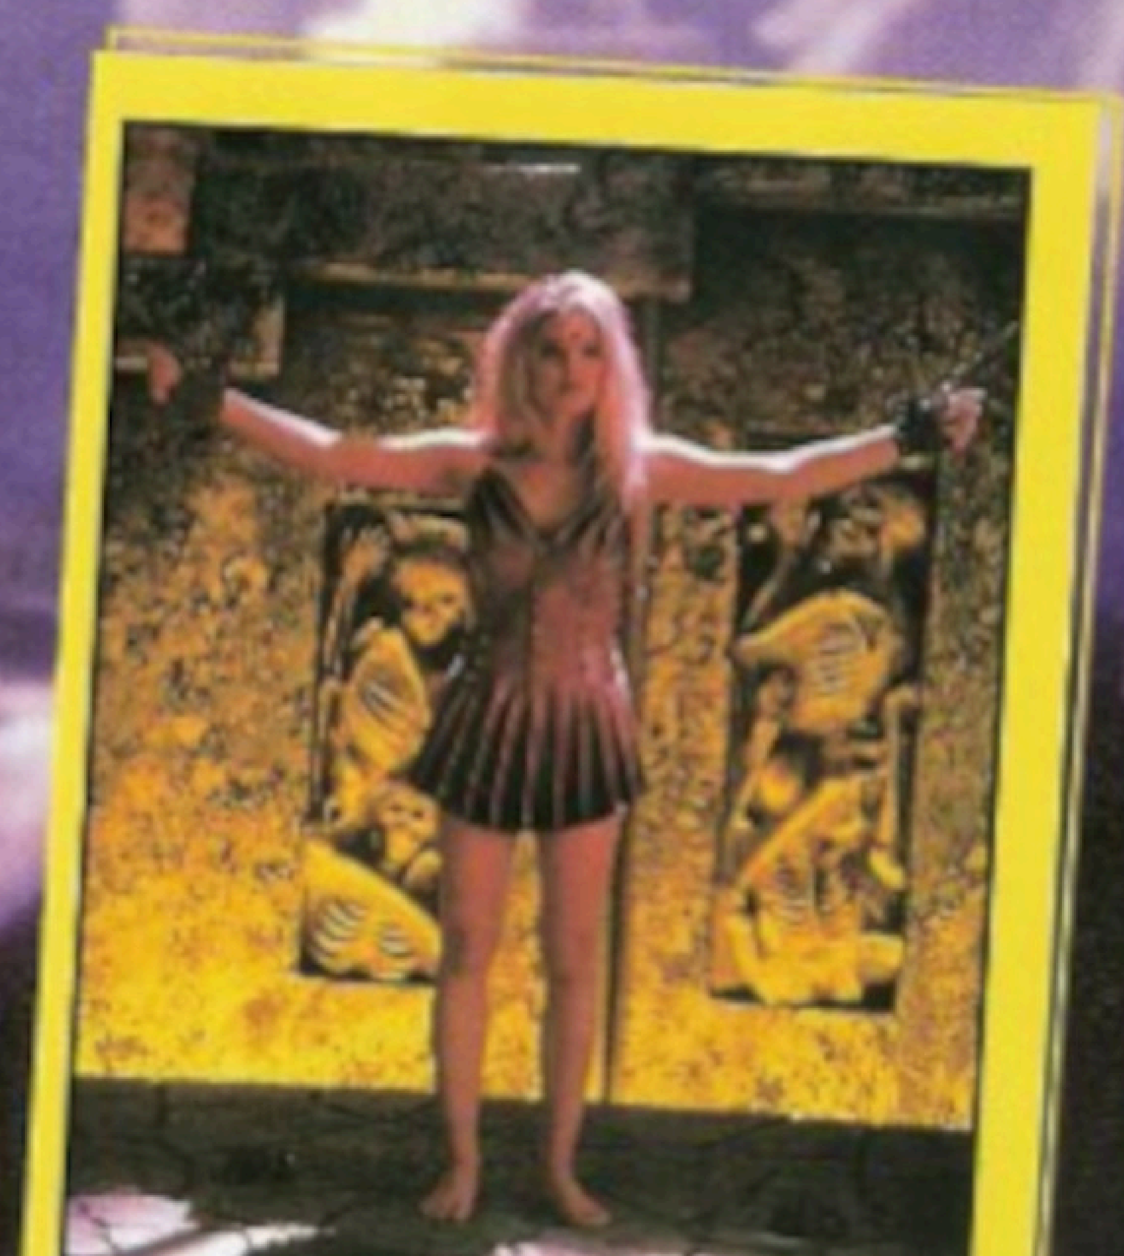

Liu senses Reptile, wrestles him from the wall, and flings him on top of a gargoyle. Reptile worms into the gargoyle and revives it, only to morph into his true form. Liu and Reptile engage in a brutal battle, in which Liu is victorious. Liu rejoins Johnny and together head for a black tower on a distant mountain. Inside the tower, Sonya stands chained, but otherwise unharmed.

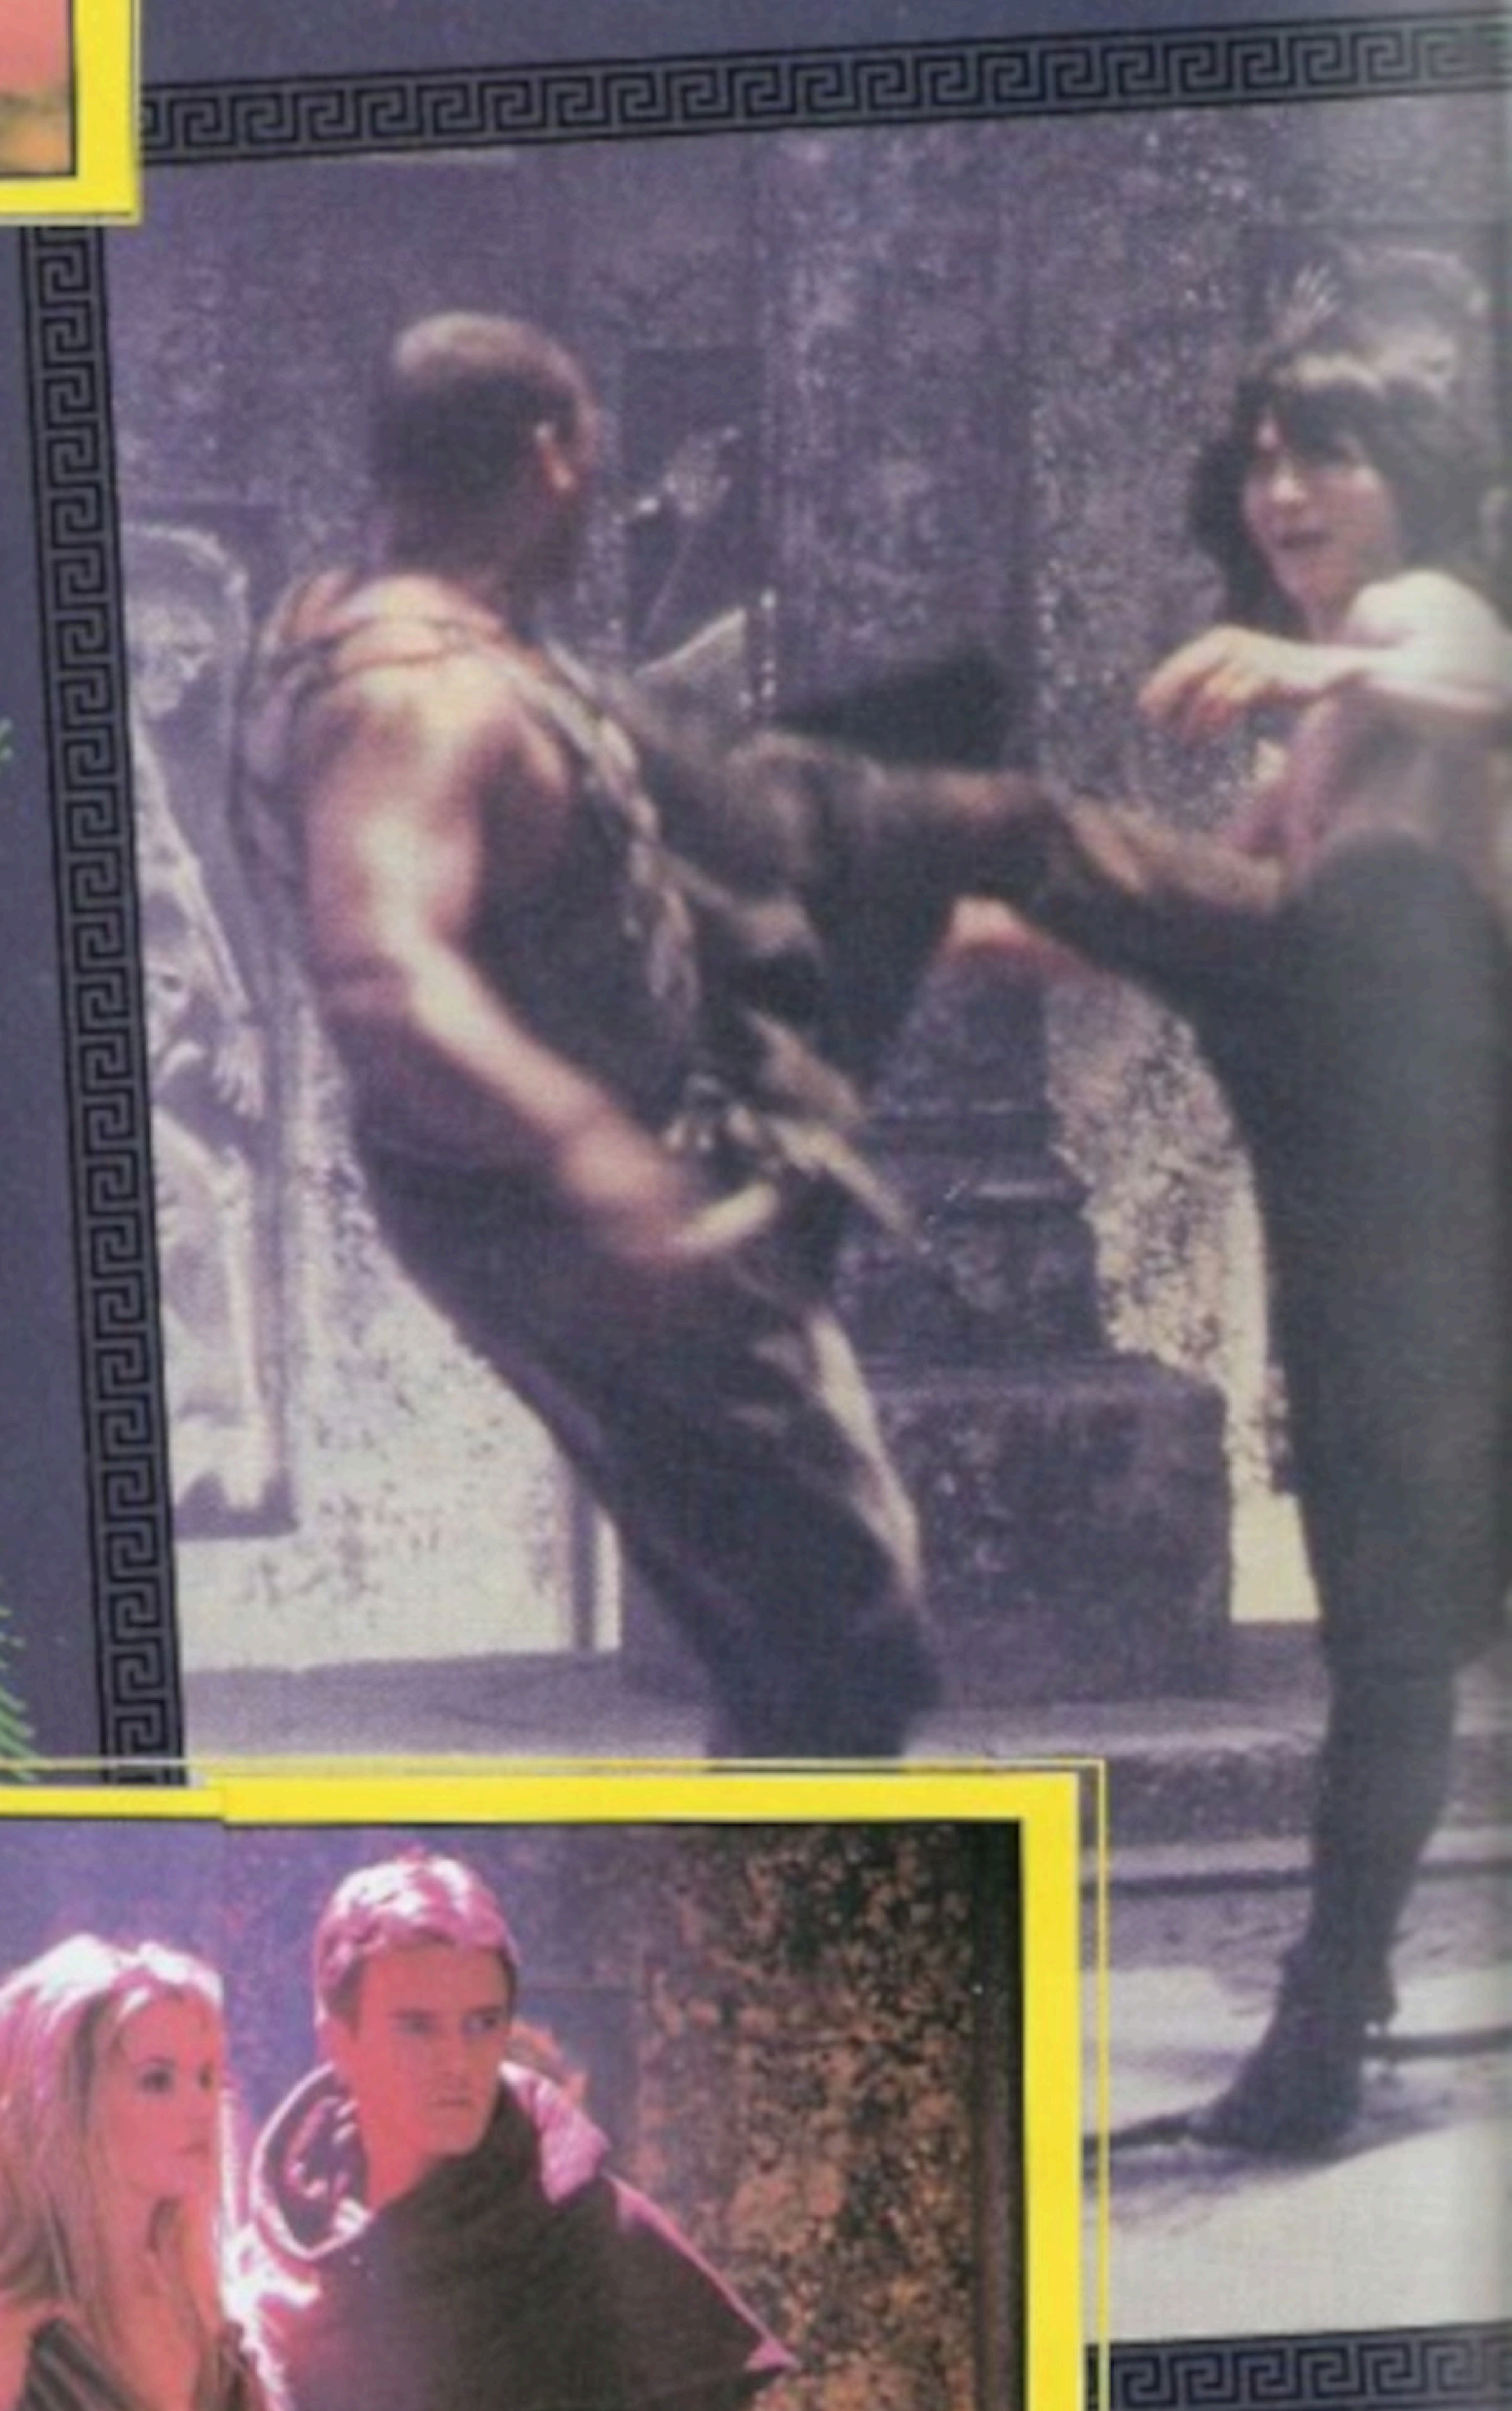

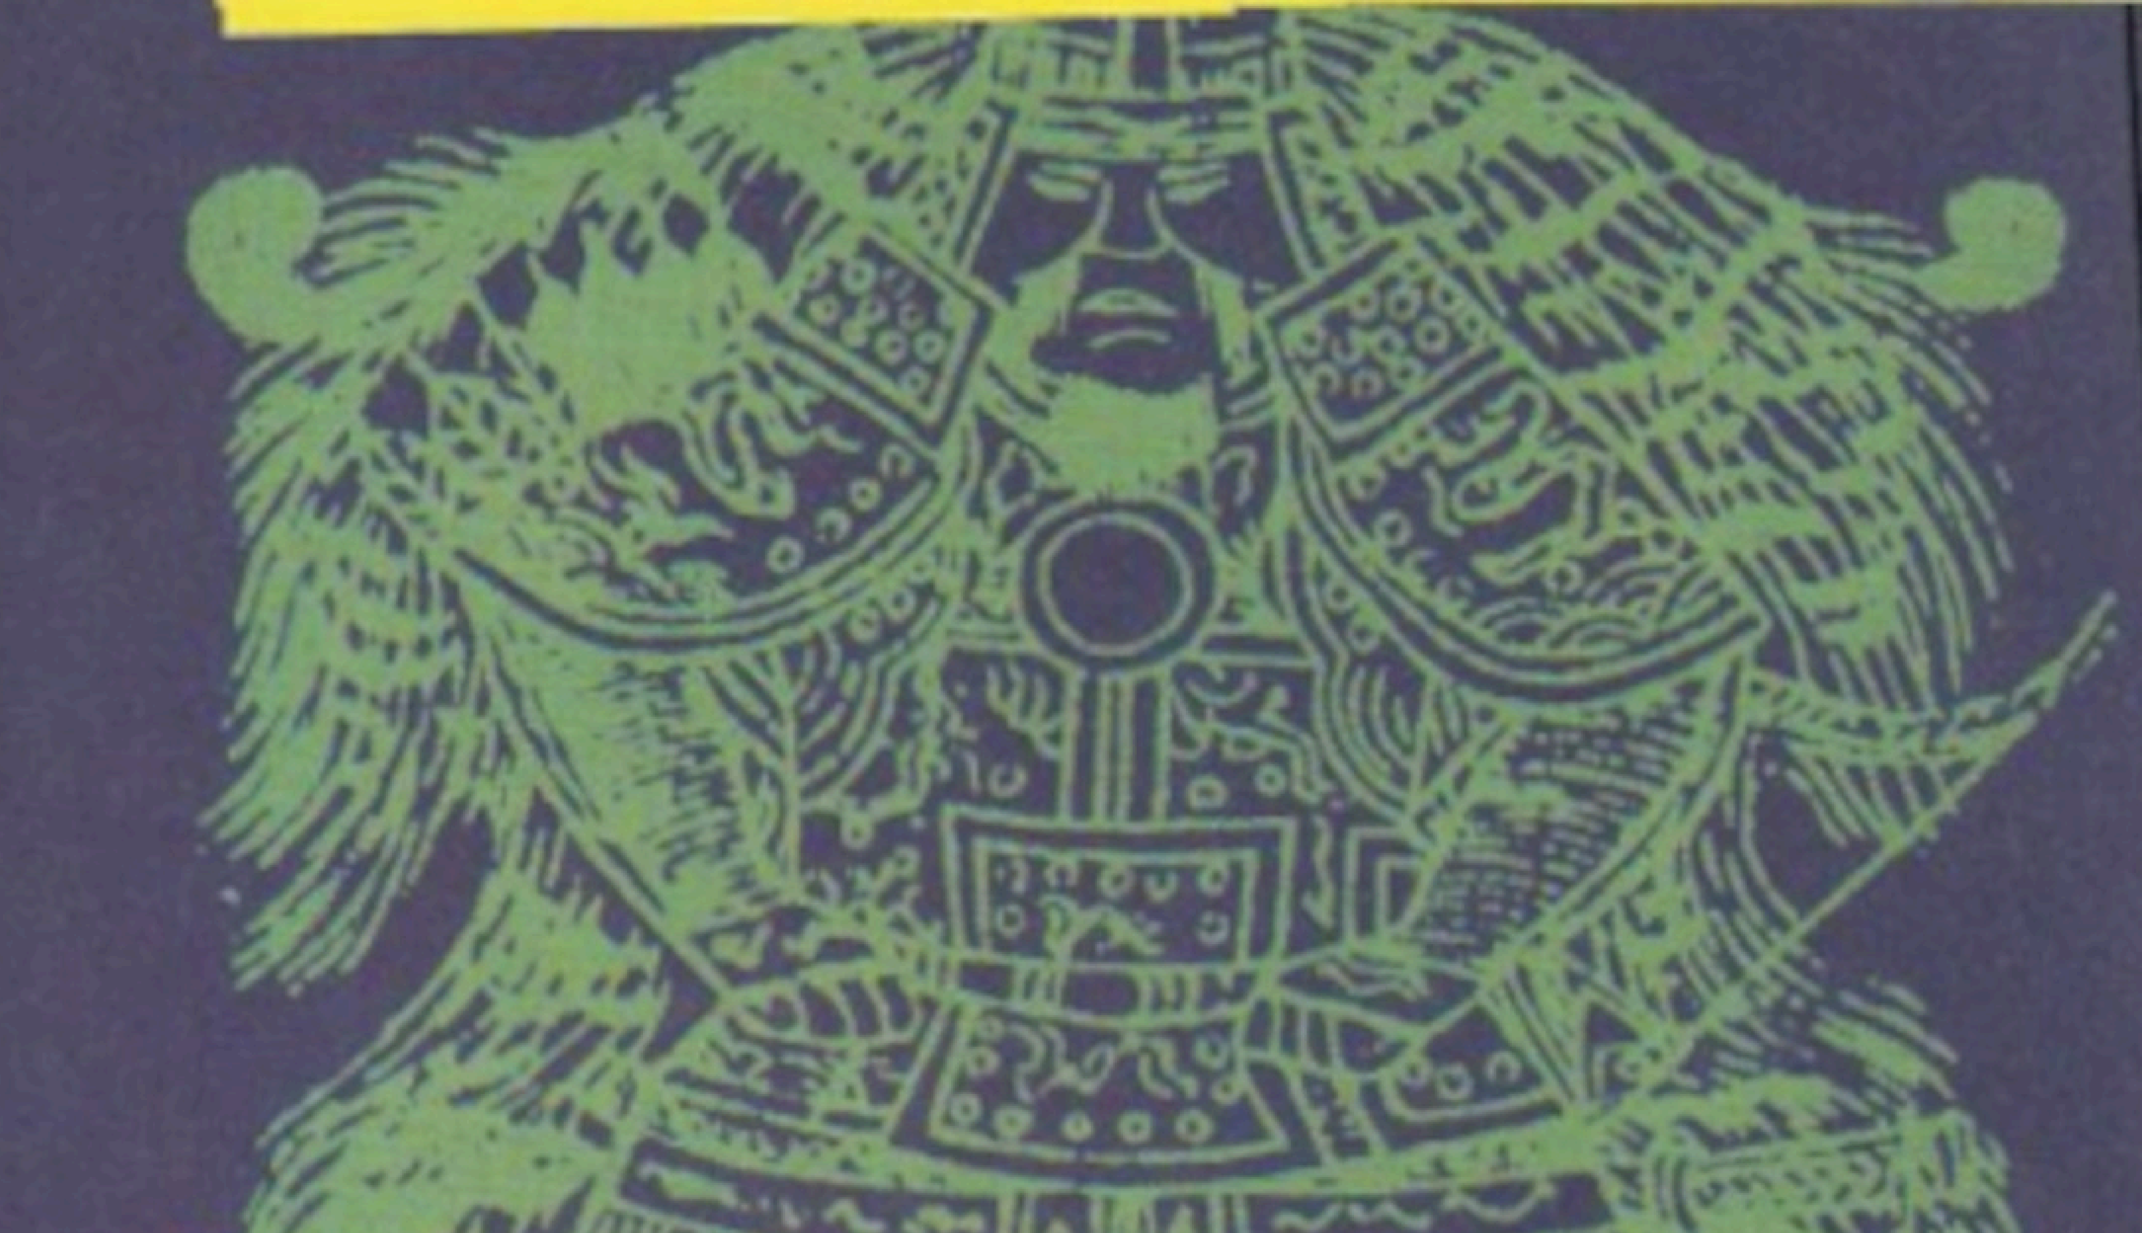

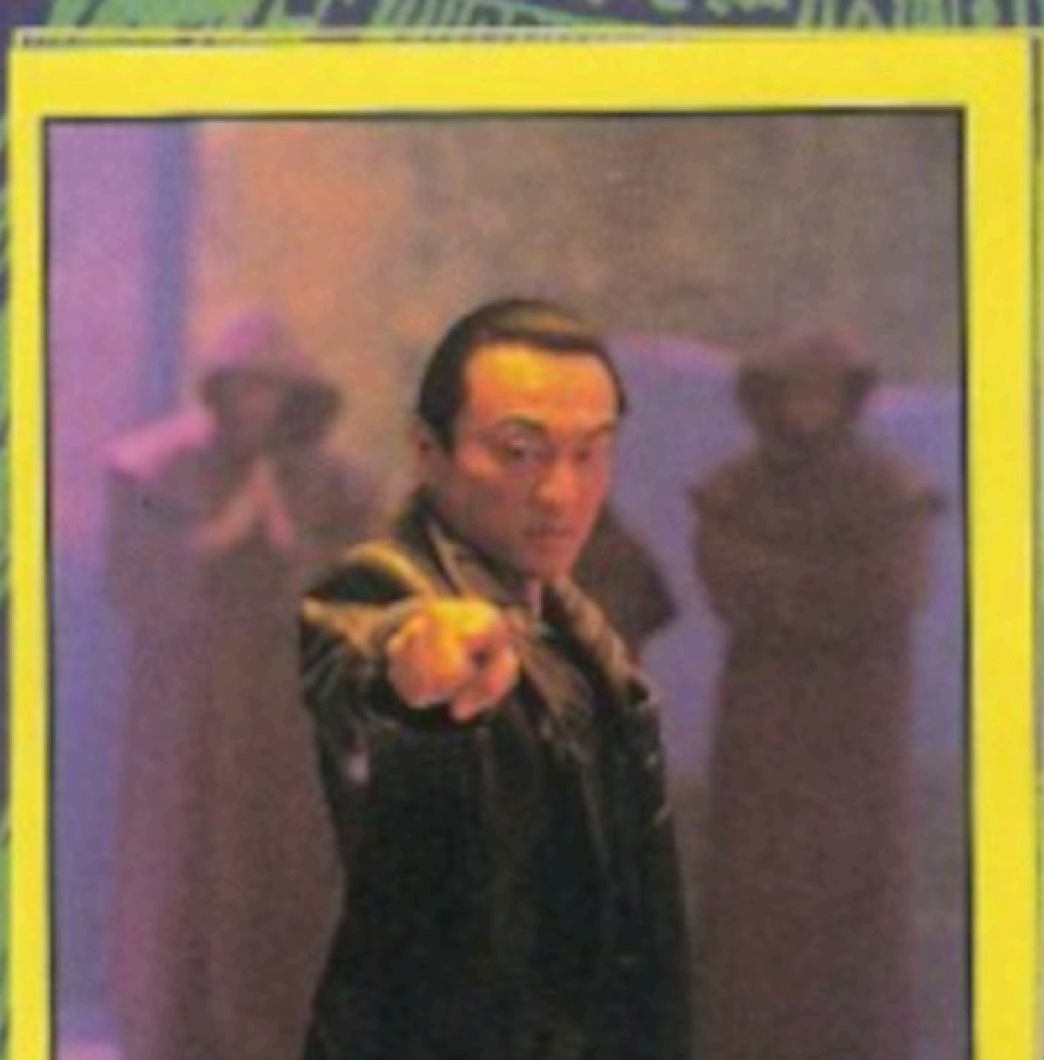

Shang again challenges Sonya but she refuses. A procession of cowled monks encircle the arena floor. One of the monks throws back his cowl. It is Johnny! Shang mocks him, "Are you challenging me now?" Then another monk reveals himself to be Liu and cries, "No, I am!" Enraged, Shang commands, "Seize them!"

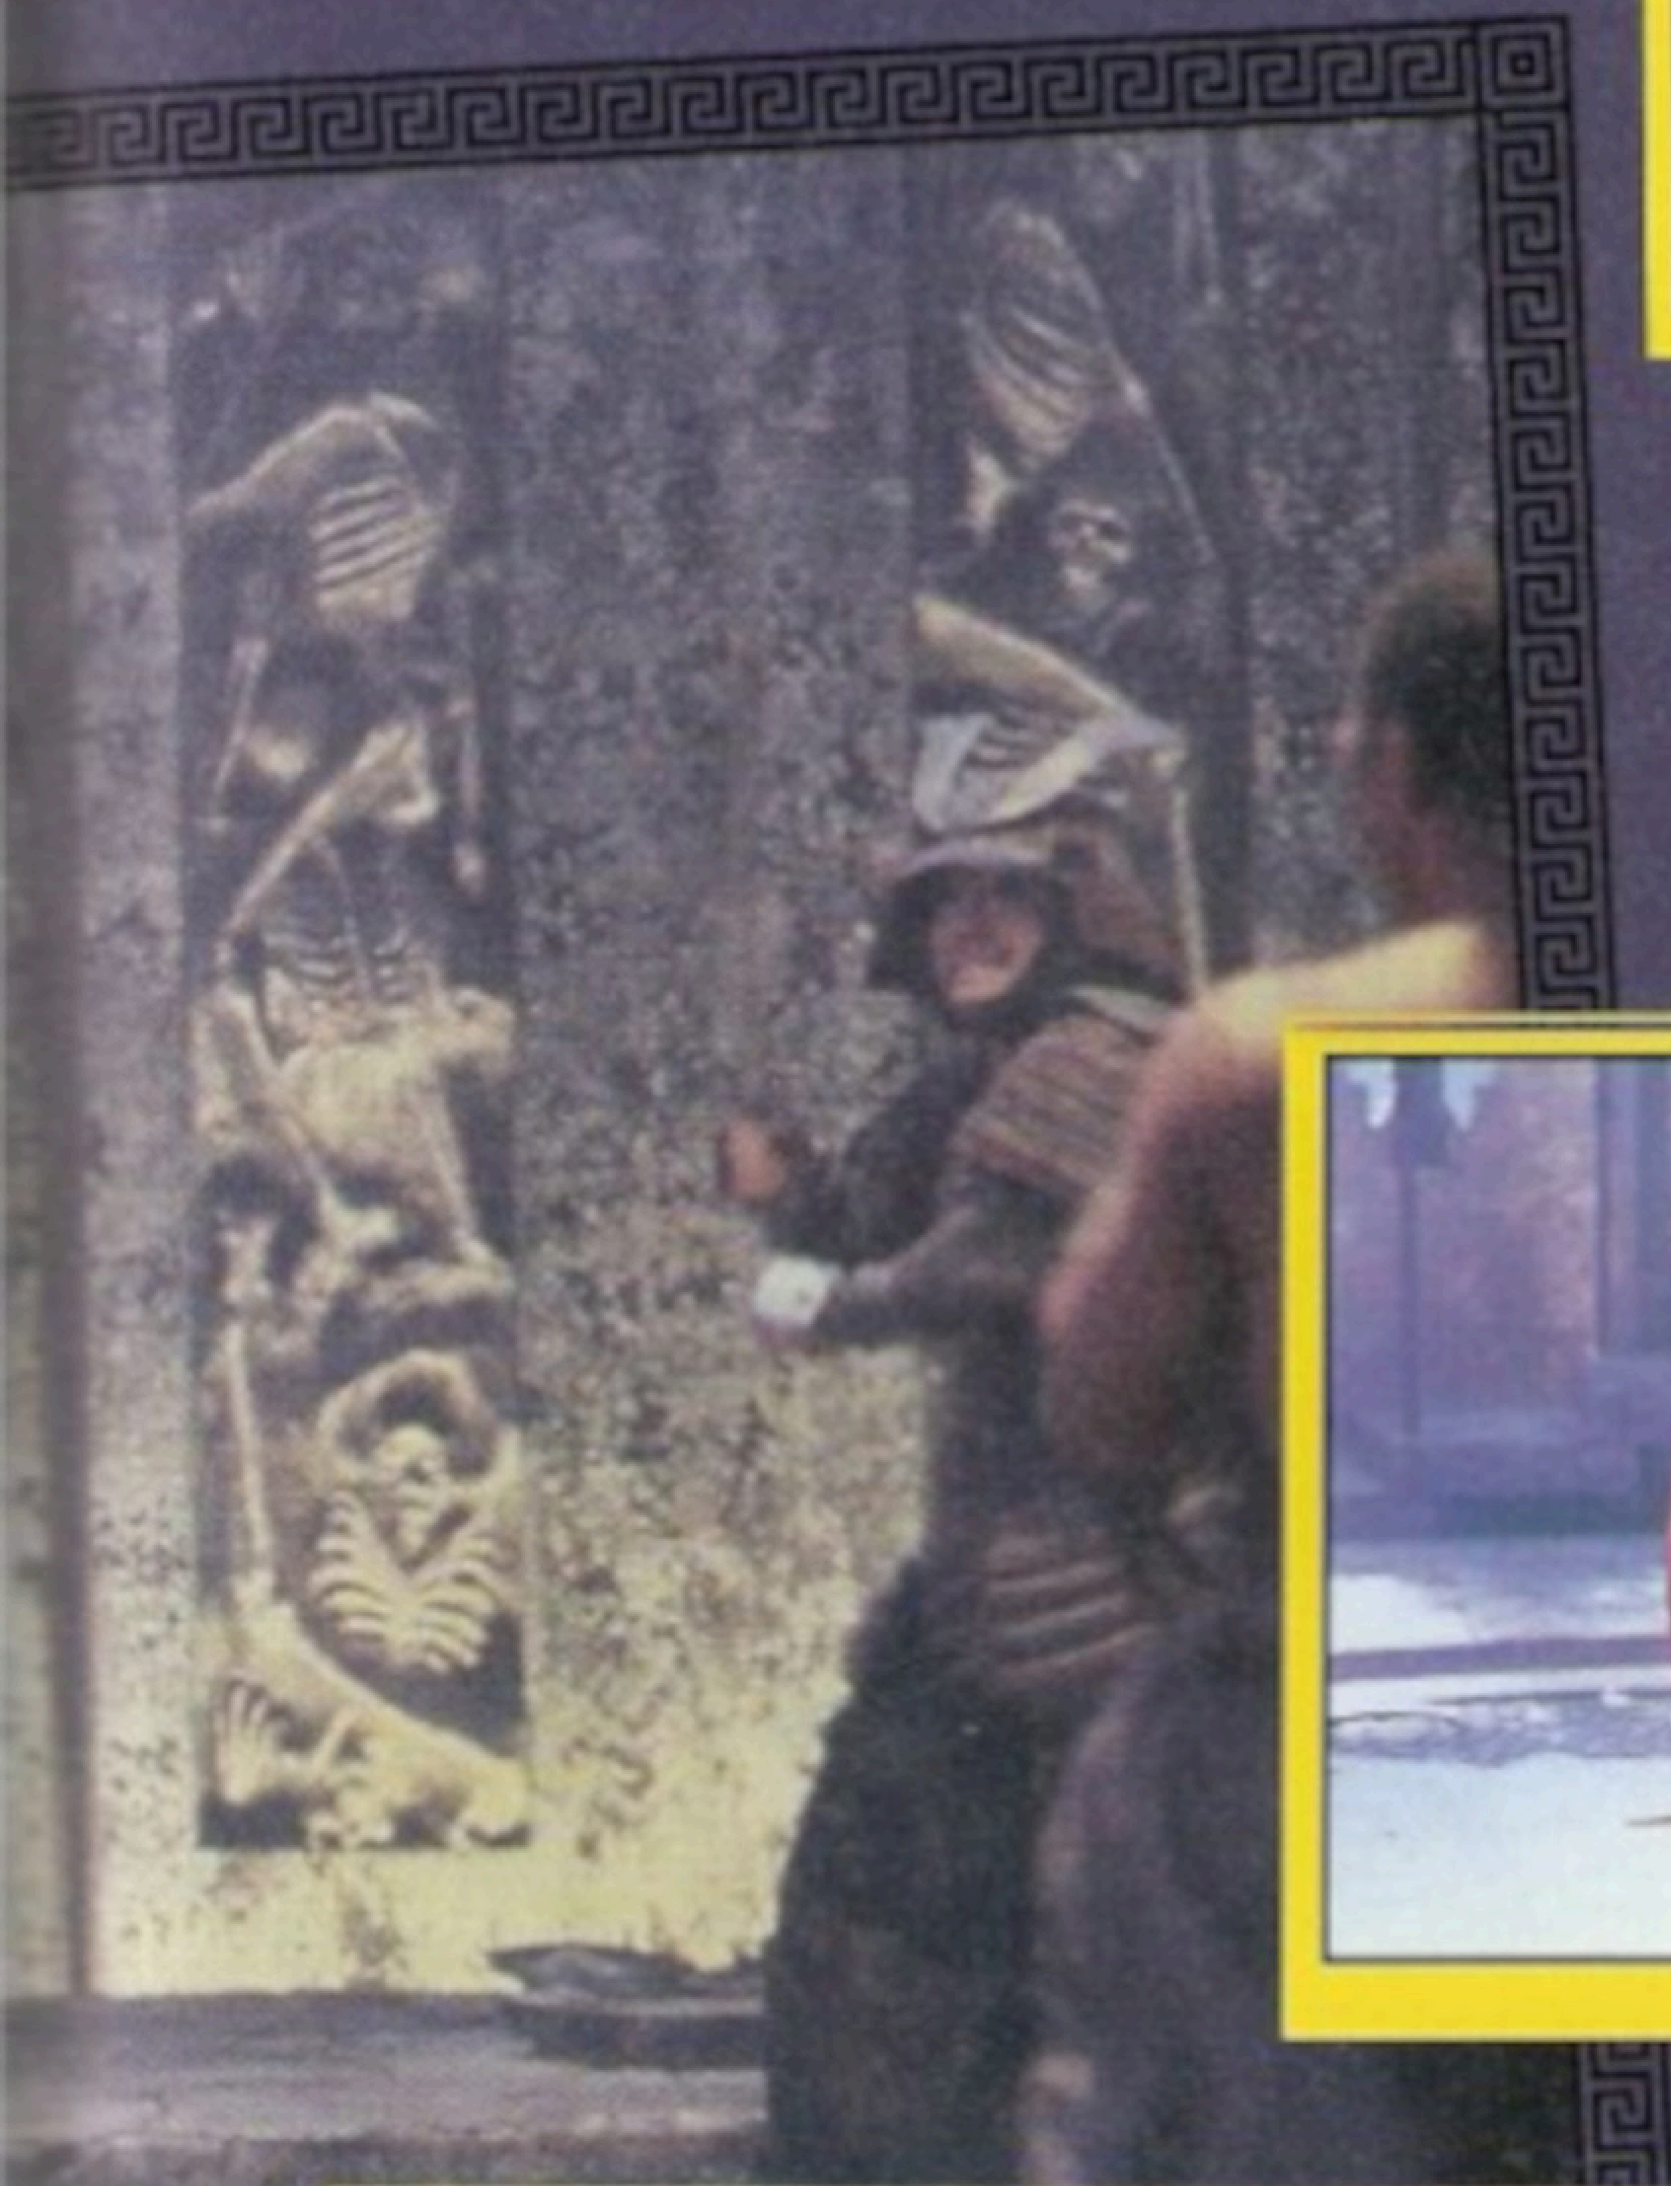

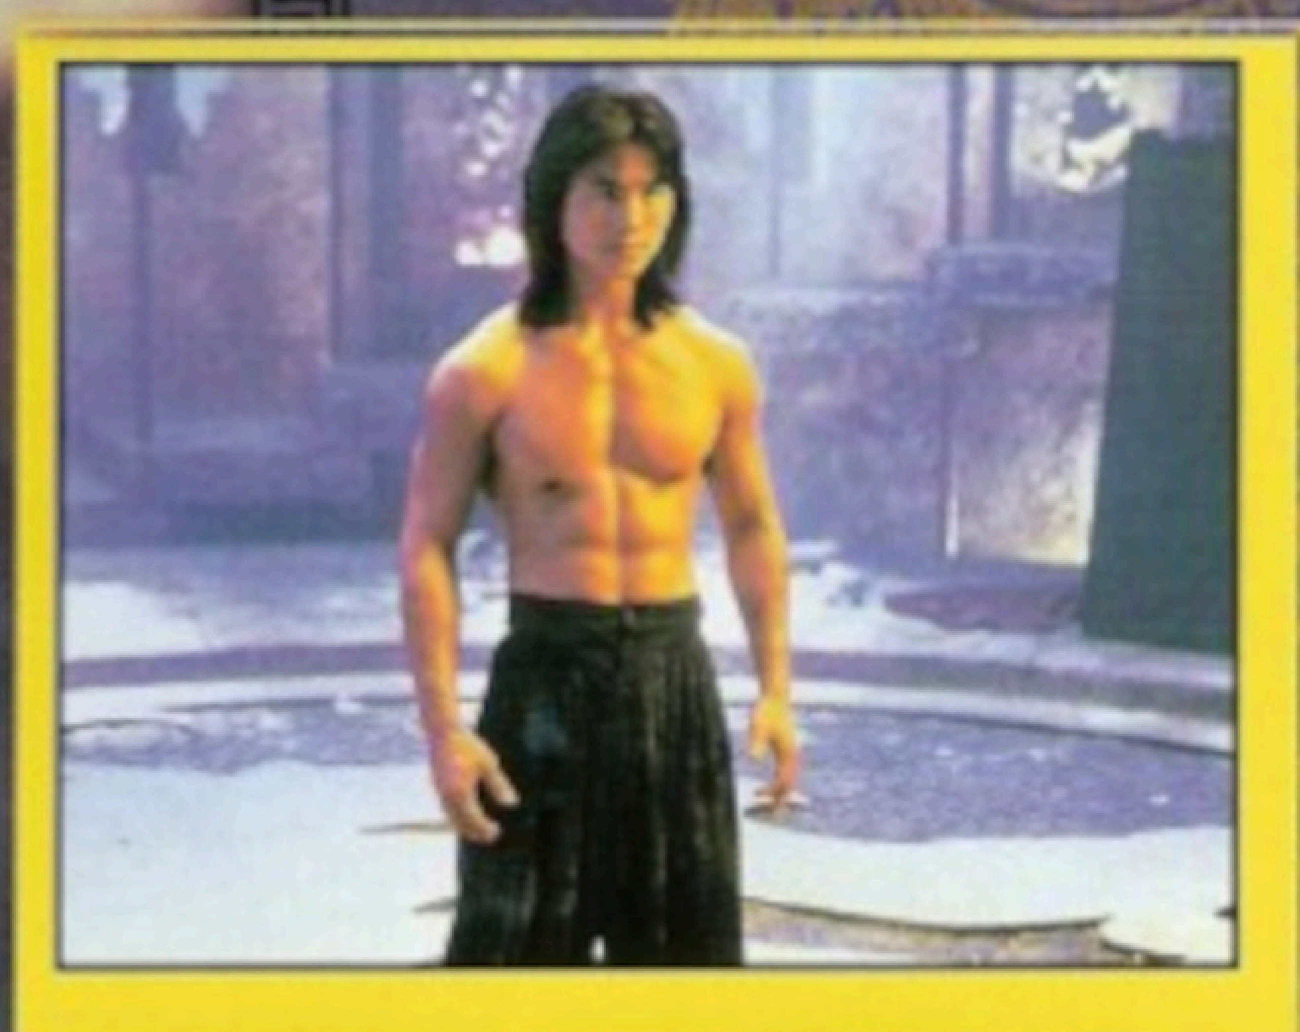

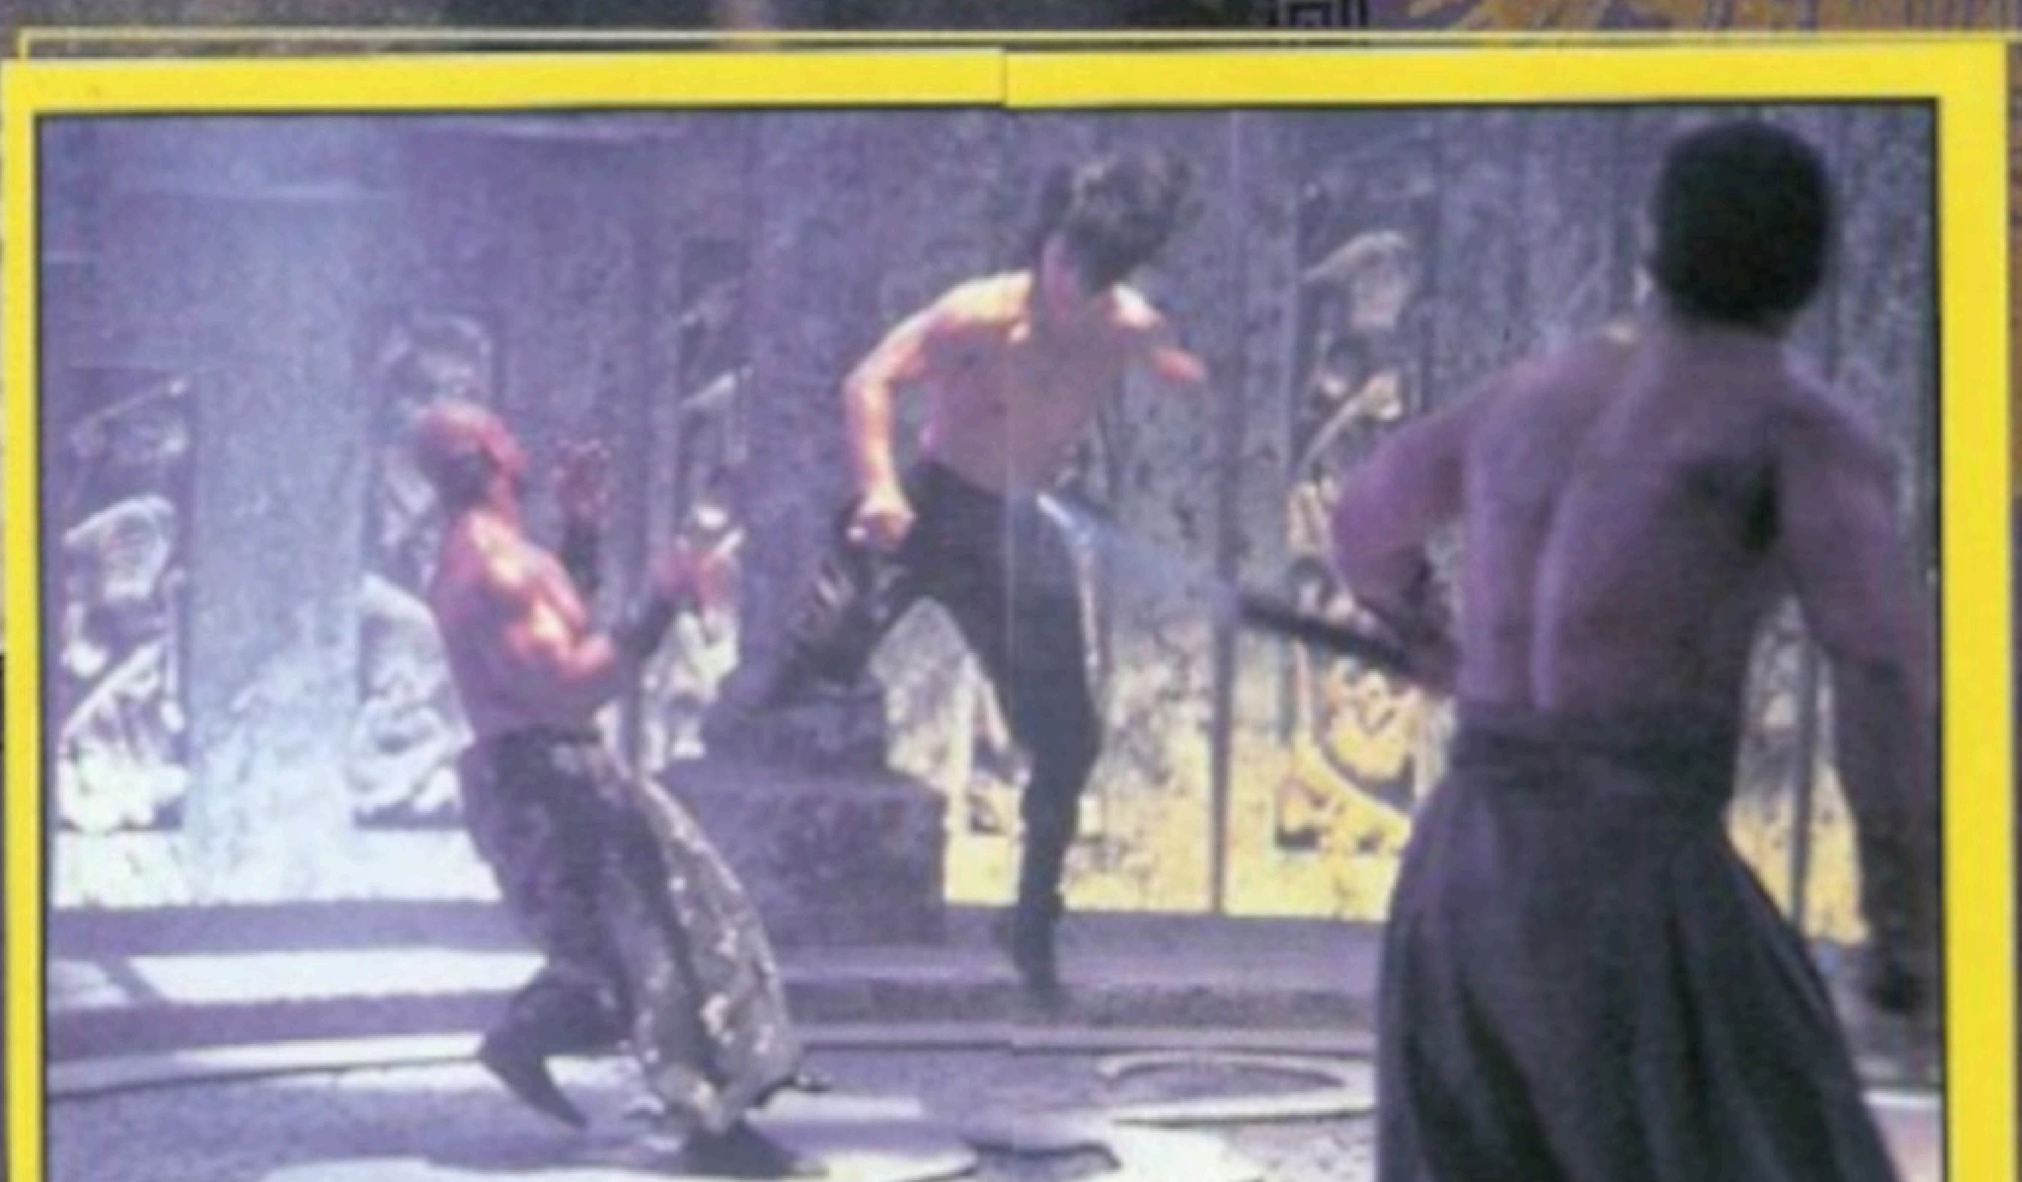

Suddenly, Kitana appears and warns that Mortal Kombat cannot be won by treachery. Shang then accepts Liu's challenge. Around Shang spring slave soul warriors, whom Liu defeats one by one. Each time Liu tries to reach Shang, another slave warrior blocks him.

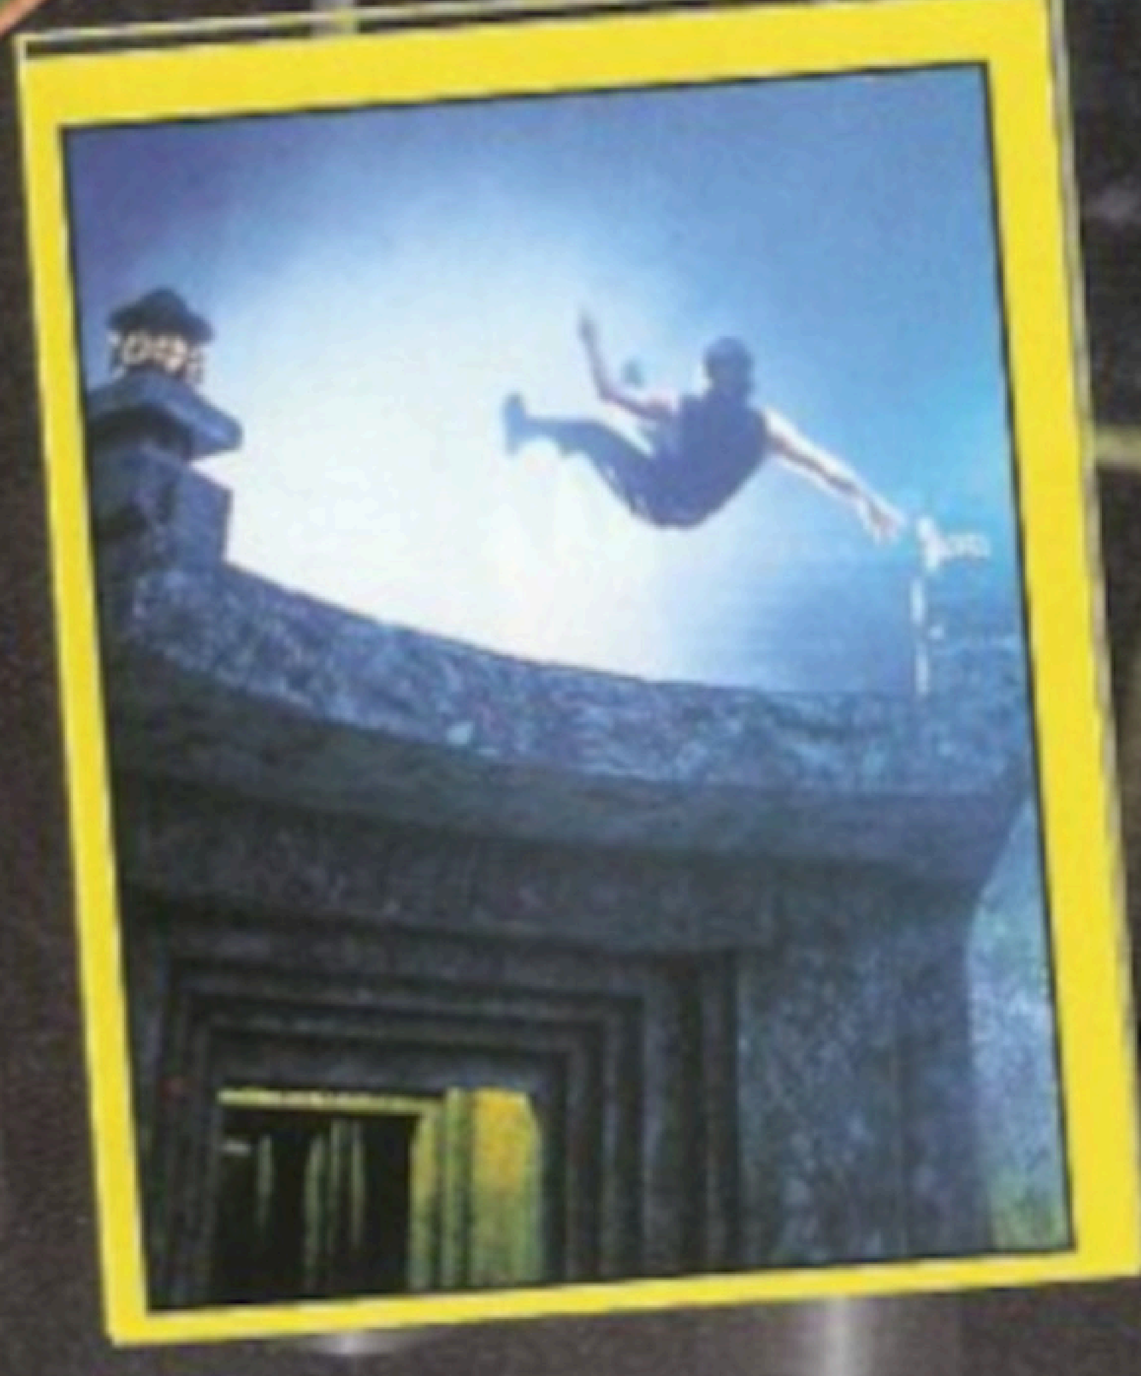

Huge spikes grow from the floor of the arena. Shang appears as Liu's brother, Chan, but Liu pierces the illusion. He shouts, "Shang Tsung killed my brother!" Liu's attack is brilliant, sending Shang over the edge of the platform down to the spikes below. Liu looks down over the edge. Then from the depths of the dungeon, an intense pillar of light bursts upwards through the roof. Dozens of imprisoned warriors' souls are liberated, including Chan's. Chan comforts Liu, "No force could have prevented my death, but you have given me back my soul. One day we will be reunited, but until then, my spirit is always with you." He becomes one with the light.

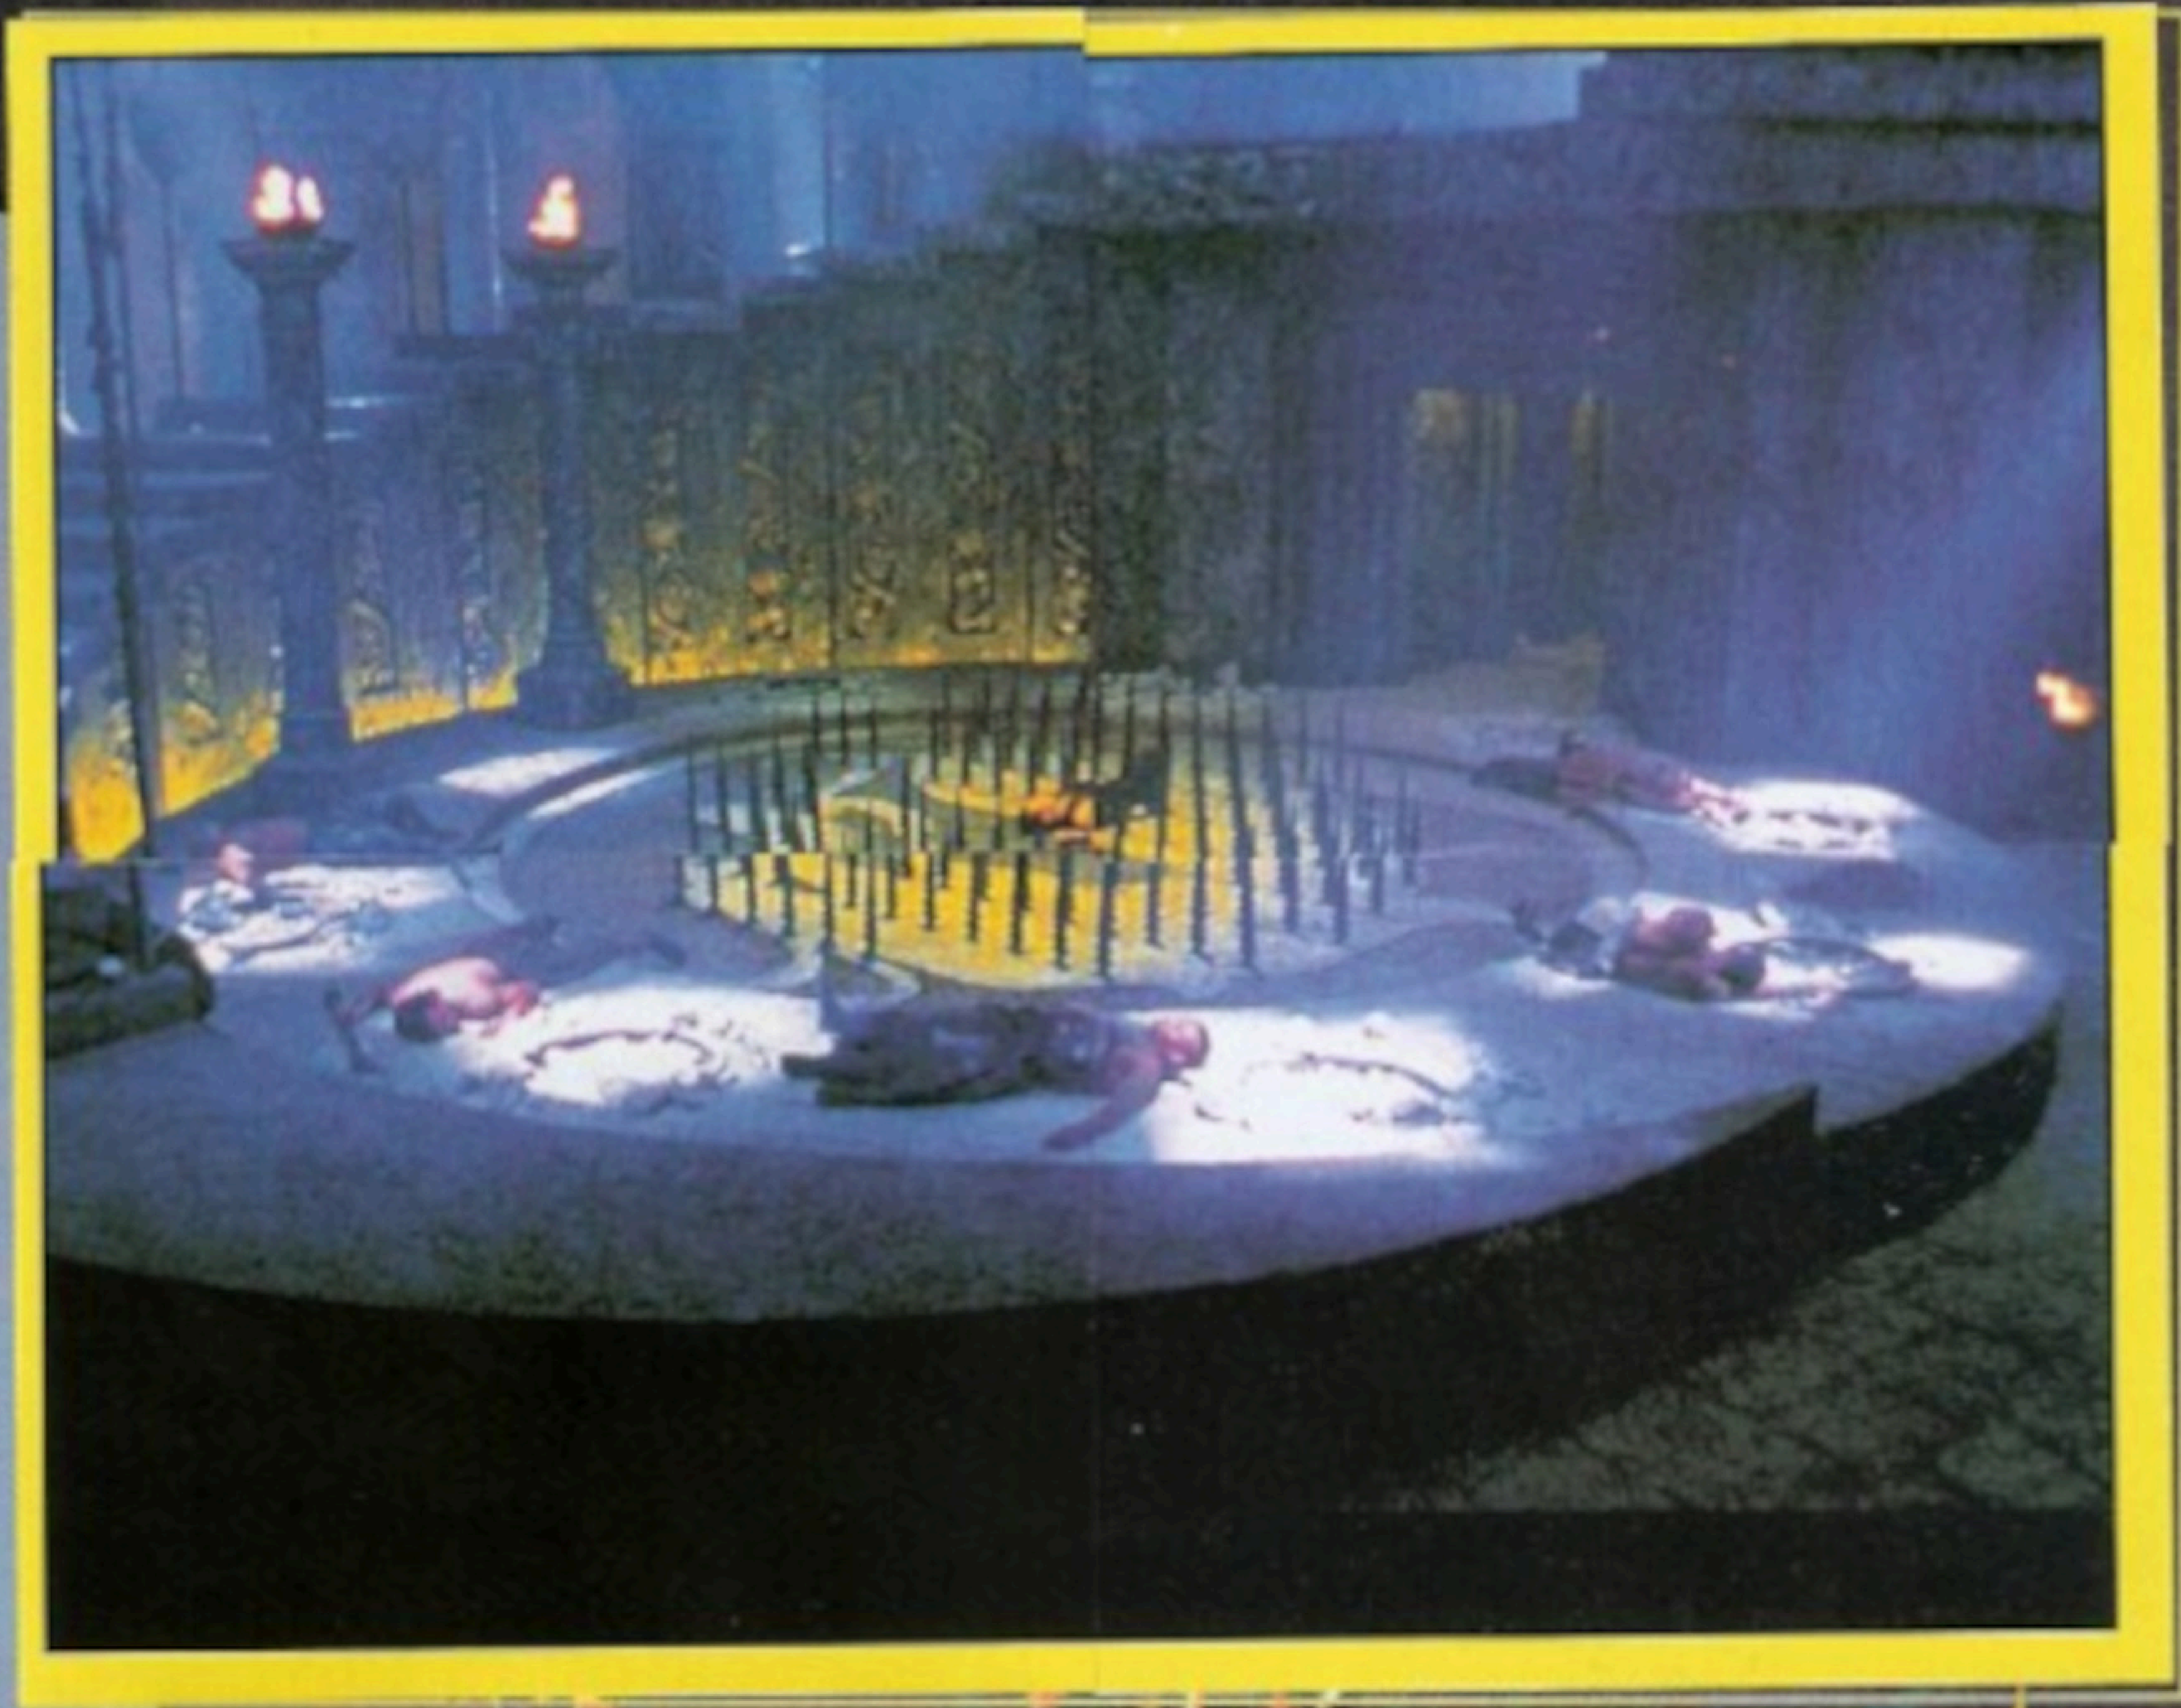

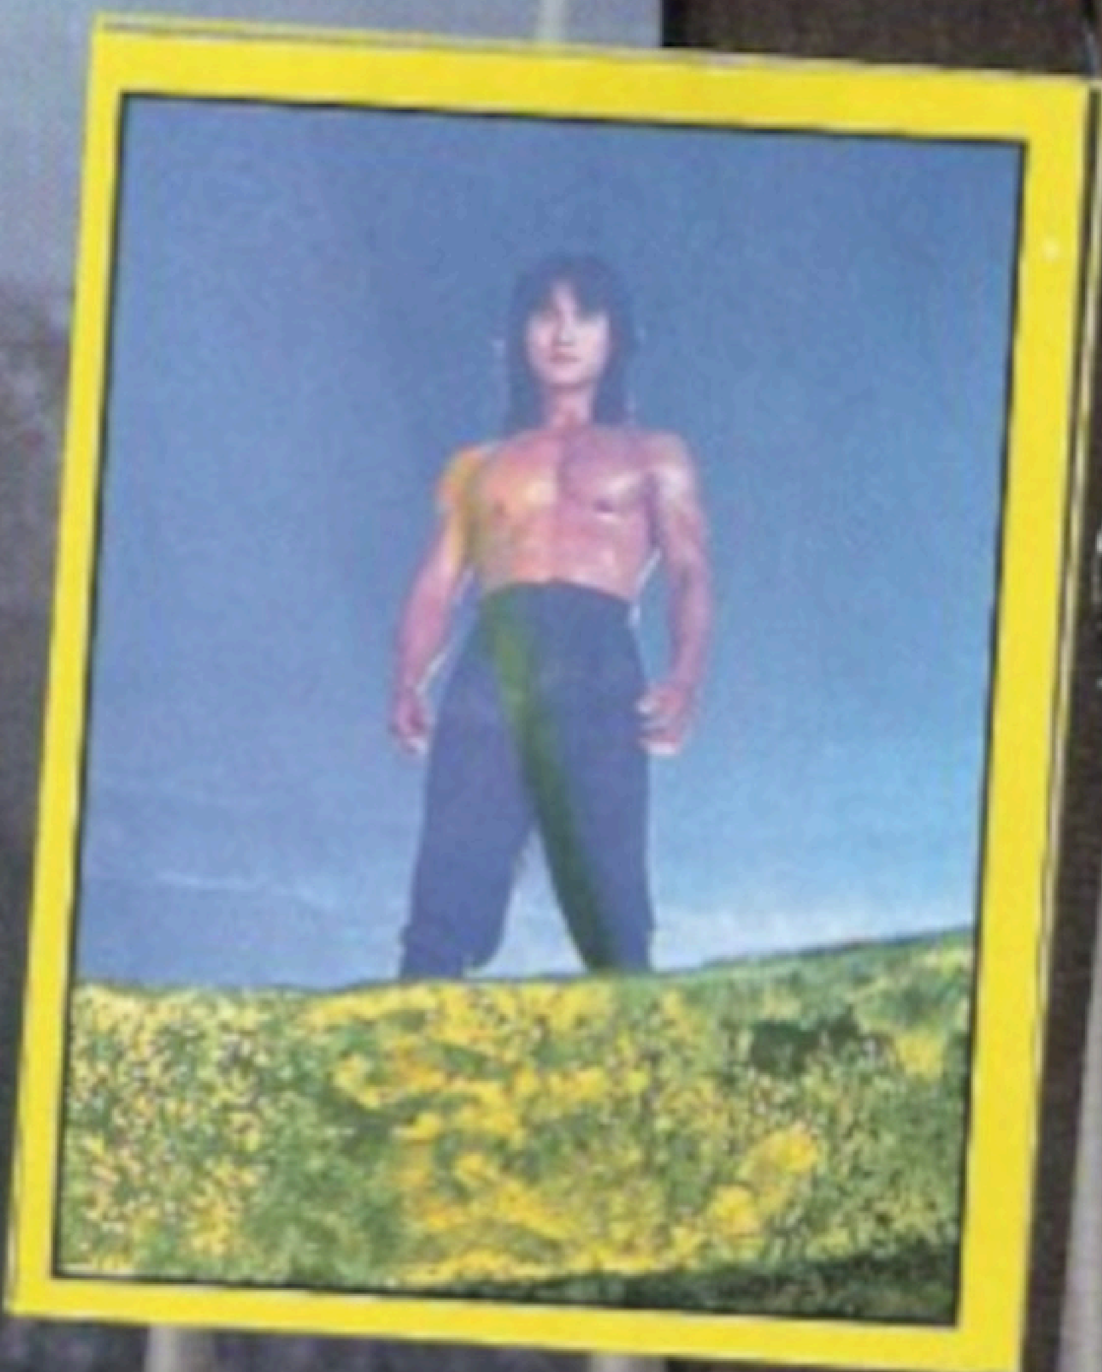

Back on Earth, Johnny, Sonya, Liu, and the Princess are greeted by Rayden. Suddenly the Emperor appears and voices an ominous threat.

BEHIND THE SCENES

You have seen the movie. Now enjoy some shots from behind the scenes! Many people's talents go into making a movie. John Tobias and Ed Boon are the creators of Mortal Kombat (and are chummy even with terrifying creations such as Goro). Other people are in charge of designing and making props. Actors are usually the best-known of all the people associated with a film. Robin Shou, who plays Liu, is a martial arts expert and performs all his fight scenes himself. Shooting just one scene can require a lot of people and equipment!
